DAVILA RESIGNS AS CHILE'S HEAD UNDER THREATS

GEN. BLANCHE HEADS TEMPORARY REGIME

Deposed Socialist Had Tried to Realign Government to Avert Revolt.

Santiago, Chile, Sept. 13 (A.P.).—A Chilean air force threat to bomb the presidential palace today overthrew President Carlos Davila. The movement was carried out without bloodshed.

Tonight a revolutionary group headed by the chief of the air force, Col. Arturo Merino Benitez, set up a temporary government with Gen. Bartolome Blanche, commander in chief of the army, as acting president.

(Both Col. Merino and Gen. Blanche in the past have been supporters of former President-Dictator Carlos Ibanez, who now is in exile in Argentina. Gen. Blanche was Ibanez's secretary of war at one time.)

Failed to Avert Crisis.

President Davila resigned in mid-afternoon a few hours after he had realigned his cabinet in an effort to avoid another of the several crises that have harassed his regime.

In that alignment Gen. Blanche had accepted the portfolio of the interior, one of the strategic positions in any Chilean government, and the president evidently had hoped to avoid further difficulties.

Group Demands Resignation.

But the situation remained uncertain up to noon, when a committee headed by Col. Arturo Merino Benitez, chief of the air service, called on the president and demanded his resignation. Davila declined to step aside, and the committee proceeded to the war ministry to discuss the possibility of a bloodless revolt.

Confronted with this situation and the previously uttered air force threat to use bombs or troops on the palace unless the president stepped aside, the leader of the Socialist junta announced his resignation.

Air Pilot and Student Killed in Plane Crash

Newark, N. J., Sept. 13 (A.P.).—Pilot Probst, 36, an instructor in an airport flying school, and William Fitze, 27, a student making his first air flight, were killed today when their open cockpit biplane crashed into the muckland of the Passaic meadows. The plane struck the ground with such force that only the shattered wings and the tail of the fuselage were visible.

The cause was not immediately determined. George Williamson, a student flier, who was up with Probst in the same ship yesterday, expressed the opinion, however, that Fitze had "frozen" to the controls, sending the ship into the fatal dive.

Barnett Has Slight Lead in Colorado

Heads Adams for Senate; Schuyler to Fore in G. O. P. Race.

Denver, Colo., Sept. 13 (A.P.).—John T. Barnett retained a slight lead over Alva B. Adams in the Democratic senatorial race tonight as returns in the record-breaking State primary were received slowly. Barnett had 5,474 and Adams, 4,583, with 108 out of 1,548 precincts in the State counted.

In the Republican race for the senatorial nomination, Karl C. Schuyler had 2,187 votes and Nate C. Warren, 1,283, with 55 out of 1,548 precincts in the State tabulated.

Early returns showed Edwin C. Johnson with a 2-to-1 lead over Judge E. V. Holland in the Democratic gubernatorial race, with 108 precincts in the State counted, Johnson had 3,058 votes, Holland, 1,425. James D. Parriott, Denver city attorney, was leading Warren F. Bleecker for the Republican nomination for governor. With 49 precincts reported, Parriott had 1,996 votes as against 931 for Bleecker.

Williams and Hillig to Hop Off on Monday

Liberty, N. Y., Sept. 13 (A.P.).—Roger Q. Williams and Otto Hillig, who had planned tentatively to hop off on a transatlantic flight today, will not start until Monday, September 19.

In the meantime they will go to Washington to obtain passports for the European countries they expect to visit.

American Nurse Meets Clear Weather, Ship Reports.

New York (Wednesday), Sept. 14 (A.P.).—The airplane American Nurse was headed east today in a nonstop flight which its three occupants hoped would end in Rome.

Dr. Leon M. Pisculli, of Yonkers, N. Y.; Miss Edna Newcomer, of Williamsport, Pa., and Pilot William Ulbrich, of Mineola, N. Y., took off from Floyd Bennett Field at 6:16 a. m., yesterday, Eastern standard time.

The S. S. Winnebago reported to London by wireless early today that at 10:50 p. m. Greenwich mean time (5:50 p. m. Eastern standard time), she had sighted an airplane flying east at latitude 41:54 north and longitude 52:54 west.

(If this plane was the American Nurse, she had covered approximately one-third of the distance between New York and Brest, France, as the spot is about 1,200 miles on an airline from New York, the point of take-off for the American Nurse. This would mean that the plane had traveled

HUTCHINSONS FOUND SAFE IN GREENLAND

Angmagsalik, Greenland, Sept. 12 (A.P.).—After a two-day search along the East Greenland coast by aviators and seamen, the Hutchinson "flying family" was found today on a beach less than 40 miles from here. They had cracked up their transatlantic plane in a treacherous reef-filled fiord.

The party of eight, including George R. Hutchinson, his wife and two little daughters, were picked up by the British trawler Lord Talbot, which had been scouting around a position given by the Hutchinsons in an S O S call since Sunday afternoon.

(Gov. Knud Oldendow, of Greenland, advised the Danish government at Copenhagen tonight that the Lord Talbot had arrived at Amgmagsalik late today with the Hutchinson party. He added Hutchinson said his plane was forced down by sleet and smashed on a reef by the waves.)

The British ship had reached the point given by Hutchinson in his last distress call within four hours. Later German and Danish aviators and American, British and Norwegian members of various scientific and other expeditions in this vicinity, who put out in boats, joined in the search.

The Talbot kept in constant contact with this village by radio and apparently was enlarging gradually the area of the search, after beginning at the position it had received

CROSBY TO MEET GLASSFORD TODAY

Status of Police Head May Be Decided; Rumors of Ouster Subside.

The status of Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, superintendent of police, may be decided today when one of his biweekly meetings with Commissioner Herbert B. Crosby is scheduled to take place.

This will be the first meeting between the police executive and Commissioner Crosby since the head of the Police Department took issue with Attorney General Mitchell and the District Commissioners over just who was responsible for calling out troops to evict the bonus marchers.

In a statement issued yesterday Gen. Glassford, in response to a letter written to the Attorney General's office by the District Commissioners, he took issue with the Commissioners' statement that the situation "was beyond the control of police." Gen. Glassford firmly believes that "no sit-

9 P. M. Closing Ordered For 2 California Ports

(United Press.)

The ports of Calexico and San Ysidro, Calif., on the Mexican border, were ordered closed promptly at 9 p. m., effective tomorrow, by the Treasury Department last night.

On July 9 the Treasury directed the reports to be kept open until midnight. The great congestion of traffic during the late hours made the burden of inspection too heavy to continue the later closing, the Department announced.

Fischer Retains Golf Lead, Wins U. S. Amateur Medal

Michigan University Star Adds 73 to Top Goodman's 144 Total by Two Strokes; Ouimet One Within Qualifying Limit.

By DAVE HERMAN
(Post Staff Correspondent).

Five Farms Club, Baltimore, Sept. 13.—Johnny Fischer, University of Michigan's intercollegiate champion, who lives in Ohio but plays his golf in Kentucky, crashed through with a 73 this afternoon to capture medal honors in the national amateur championship with a 36-hole total of 142 and thereby link his name with the all-time record jointly claimed by Bobby Jones, former American and British champion, and D. Clarke Corkran, erstwhile Baltimore Country Club player.

Finishing the two-day grind two strokes above par, young Fischer emulated the feats of Corkran at Merion in 1924 and Jones at both Minnekhada in 1927 and again in 1930 at Merion. His glistening par-breaking 69 of the opening round and today's brilliant score enabled him to beat off the challenge of Johnny Goodman, the little Omaha, Nebr., expert, the boy who startled the world by conquering King Bobby himself back in 1929 at Pebble Beach.

Stroking away steadily, Goodman marched home with a 72 for a 144 to become the runner-up by a one-stroke margin, topping Perry Hall, 37-year-old Philadelphia banker, and Wilfred Crossley, Boston youngster, who matriculates soon at Harvard.

The day's firing along the Five Farms front saw its upsets and disappointments. It also witnessed the surprising sweep into the select circle of 32 of at least a dozen golfers who heretofore had never qualified in the famous national tournament. It was a day of hectic golf in which the hopes of many faded along the fairways and hazards.

Struggling with courage born of desperation to erase the memory of his 78 of the first day, Francis Ouimet, the Boston broker in the role of defending champion, returned to old-time form to breeze in with

LEGION SESSION TO FACE BONUS DEMAND TODAY

HURLEY AGAIN MET BY BOOS AND CHEERS

Changes Plan to March in Huge Parade on Advice of Guards.

Portland, Oreg., Sept. 13 (A.P.).—National headquarters of the American Legion announced tonight that a resolution calling for immediate payment of the adjusted compensation certificates of World War Veterans would be introduced at the legion convention session tomorrow morning.

The announcement came after a day in which opponents of the cash bonus and supporters of a vigorously worded resolution of censure for President Hoover on the eviction of the bonus army both found themselves in the minority in subcommittees.

The minorities were still in a fighting mood, however, and floor battles on both questions were presaged. J. J. Deighan, member of the Pennsylvania delegation, which sponsored the censure resolution, and member of the subcommittee considering it, said it would be dealt with in a minority report.

To Take Fight to Floor.

Plans of the Nebraska delegation to carry antibonus banners in the annual parade today were abandoned when police and military authorities persuaded the Cornhusker contingent not to do so because disorder might result.

Members of the Nebraska and Missouri delegations who had been active against seeking immediate cash payments for veterans, said they would take their case to the floor in the hope of persuading their opponents to agree on some sort of compromise.

The legion parade was staged without the participation of Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley, who had planned to march as a member of the Oklahoma contingent.

Hurley Doesn't March.

Secret service men, legion and police officials said they persuaded Mr. Hurley to take the reviewing stand with other distinguished guests instead of marching. They said they did this to eliminate any possibility of any "untoward incident" in the line of march.

Boos mingled with cheers as Mr. Hurley mounted the reviewing stand in Multnomah Stadium, scene of the spectacle. He ignored this and gave the Oklahoma war whoop as the delegates from his home State passed. It was the second time a crowd had greeted him with mingled feelings. He was booed and cheered yesterday when he made a short speech of greeting at the convention.

Escorted by secret service men, an Army car and State and city police, Mr. Hurley was the object of all eyes as he left the thronged stadium to take a plane to Huron, S. Dak., where he will speak Thursday.

Brazil Refuses to Give U. S. Coffee in Advance

Rio de Janeiro, Sept. 13 (A.P.).—The Brazilian coffee council today announced it had declined to release coffee involved in the Brazilian-American coffee-grain trade in advance of the time set in the original agreement.

The council intimated that an advance release of 237,000 sacks would mean a difference in the price equation of $2 a sack to Brazil, or nearly $500,000. The United States Grain Stabilization Corporation representatives were reported yesterday as seeking an advance because the market had been depleted.

Boy in Alexandria Is Killed by Truck

5-Year-Old Child Darts in Path of Vehicle; Accident Is Verdict.

A 5-year-old Alexandria, Va., boy was instantly killed yesterday, when he ran into the path of a truck while crossing the street near his home at 412 South Pitt street.

The child, John Thomas Jacobs was pronounced dead upon arrival at Alexandria Hospital. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Jacobs. Police said the truck was driven by Harold H. Todd, of Paw Creek, N. C.

An inquest, conducted by Dr. W. E. Beattie, city coroner, returned a verdict of accidental death. Todd was not held.

The boy is said to have darted into the street directly in the path of the oncoming truck. He was picked up by a passing motorist and taken to the hospital.

G. O. P. CHIEFS SAY FIGHT HAS HARDLY BEGUN

Disappointed at Result in Maine, but Predict November Victory.

HOOVER SEES NEED OF RENEWED EFFORT

Says Task Is to Acquaint All Voters With Facts and Issues Facing U. S.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

The Maine barometer, an elaborate political tradition laboriously reared by loving Republican hands since Civil War days, was taken bodily into camp yesterday by an irreverent band of Democratic invaders, whose leaders promptly proclaimed their prize an omen of national victory in November.

Louis Jefferson Brann, five times Mayor of Lewiston, was elected governor by a margin of approximately 1,200 votes out of a total of 236,000 cast, and two Democratic running mates swept their Republican opponents out of their seats in the House of Representatives by approximately comparable pluralities. Carroll L. Beedy, militant defender of the eighteenth amendment, was the only Republican survivor in the three congressional contests. He won by 2,000 votes. Brann's election marks the first Democratic success in the Maine gubernatorial race since 1914.

Democrats Are Exulted.

Democratic managers hailed the returns with exultation and rejoicing and said in a score or more different ways, "As goes Maine in September, so goes the Nation in November."

The Republican high command, visibly jolted by an unexpected blow amidships, pulled up and squared off for a fight which, they asserted in a score or more different ways, has hardly begun.

To President Hoover, who received late returns from hour to hour throughout the day at his desk in the White House, the results in the Pine Tree State indicated, not defeat, but the "need for renewed and stronger effort."

Says Fight Is Hard One.

"We have known all along that, owing to the ravages of the world depression, our fight is a hard one," he said in a telegram to Everett Sanders, chairman of the Republican national committee, at Chicago, "but we have a strong case and a right cause. Our task is to acquaint every man and woman in the country with the facts and issues which confront the Nation."

Earlier in the day Chairman Sanders, in a telegram to the Chief Executive, had cited a Republican presidential victory in Maine in 1880

Gov. Hunt Trailing In Arizona Voting

Moeur, Making First Bid for Political Fame, Is 2,239 Ahead.

Phoenix, Ariz., Sept. 13 (A.P.).—B. B. Moeur, a Tempe, Ariz., doctor, making his first bid for political fame, jumped into an early lead tonight over Arizona's long-time governor, George W. P. Hunt, 73-year-old veteran, for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

In 70 precincts partially complete, out of 457, the count gave Moeur 5,473; Hunt, 3,234; K. Berry Peterson, Arizona attorney general, 2,731; Fred Sutter, 1,225, and Webster C. Reed, 345. The Democratic nomination for governor is expected to be tantamount to election with 113,000 of the State's 142,000 voters expressing a Democratic preference.

In the Republican gubernatorial contest J. C. Kinney held a slight lead, polling 660 votes in 35 precincts, with W. W. Midgley receiving 470 ballots and William Walton 141. Despite the lead of Moeur, Hunt supporters anticipated a switch later in the night when returns from Phoenix, a Hunt stronghold, are counted.

50,000,000 Bushels Of Wheat May Be Sold

Paris, Sept. 13 (A.P.).—A European grain cartel composed of French, English and American middlemen is ready to buy 50,000,000 bushels of wheat from the United States Farm Board for distribution in Europe, officials of the organization said today. They added that the Farm Board is dickering with them to purchase larger amounts.

The International Commodities Trading Corporation announced this afternoon the completion of arrangements by which the French government would exchange 1,000,000 bushels of Farm Board wheat for Indo-Chinese zinc.

SMITH BEATS BLEASE, MOSES RENOMINATED AS EIGHT STATES VOTE

Washington Gives Lead To Jones.

RUM QUESTION IS PROMINENT

Overton Is Ahead Of Broussard in Louisiana.

(Associated Press.)

Candidates for local, State and national offices were chosen in primaries in eight States yesterday with prohibition an issue in some of the contests.

In Michigan two supporters of the dry laws who were defeated in 1930 held slight leads on the basis of early returns. Vermont voters gave a three-to-one lead to Representative Ernest W. Gibson, Republican, who favored resubmission, against a repealist opponent.

Senator E. D. Smith, who ran on the Democratic platform including its prohibition repeal plank, defeated former Senator Cole L. Blease in South Carolina's run-off primary for the Democratic nomination.

Jones Has Narrow Lead.

The first scattered returns in Washington's Republican primary gave Senator Wesley L. Jones, who sponsored the Jones "five and ten" enforcement law, a narrow lead over Adam Beeler, repeal candidate, for his party's nomination to the Senate, but were too few to indicate the outcome.

Former Representative Grant M. Hudson led Louis C. Cramton, Republicans, who sought to regain the seats lost to Representatives Seymour H. Person and Jesse P. Wolcott, held slight leads in the Michigan contests. Hudson and Cramton were outstanding prohibition leaders during their previous House service.

Representative John Overton, running for the Democratic senatorial nomination in Louisiana, with the support of Senator Huey Long, early took a two-to-one lead over Senator Edwin S. Broussard.

Moses Is Renominated.

Senator George H. Moses, prominent in national Republican politics, was renominated in New Hampshire. Fred H. Brown, public service commissioner, apparently was to be his Democratic opponent on the face of early returns.

In Vermont Senator Porter Dale was unopposed for the Republican nomination. Gov. Stanley C. Wilson overcame a slight lead held by W. Arthur Simpson to go out in front in his race for renomination as that State's Republican candidate for governor. Across the State line in New Hampshire, Gov. John G. Winant was far in the lead for the Republican nomination.

Gov. Wilbur M. Brucker, seeking renomination on the Republican ticket in Michigan, held a commanding lead over four opponents. William A. Comstock led two opponents for the

DRASTIC REGROUPING PLANNED BY HOOVER

(Associated Press).

Acting under authority of the national economy bill, President Hoover announced yesterday that "for the first time in years of agitation" detailed plans for a wholesale reorganization of the Government would be placed before Congress next December.

The President told newspapermen he had just instructed J. C. Roop, director of the budget, to initiate a series of investigations looking toward the preparation of "executive orders for reorganization of the whole structure" of the Federal Government.

"These orders, covering the entire executive establishment," he said, "will be completed and presented to the Congress immediately upon its reconvening in December."

Since before the time of his acceptance speech in 1928, Mr. Hoover at various times has stressed the necessity for a rearrangement of the executive structure.

Under his administration several such steps have been accomplished. Among them were the recent reduction of the Shipping Board from a seven to a three-man directorate, consolidation of the Radio Commission

"Al" Smith Cancels Plan To Pen Campaign Article

Philadelphia, Sept. 13.—George Horace Lorimer, editor of the Saturday Evening Post, said today that Alfred E. Smith had notified him he would not write an article on the Democratic case in the national campaign, which had been announced by that publication. Mr. Smith was absent from New York City tonight at the time Mr. Lorimer spoke.

Mr. Lorimer said Mr. Smith had promised several weeks ago to write the article, which was to have appeared in October, and that he had given no reason for his action, nor had he been asked for a reason.

ROOSEVELT CHEERED BY ST. LOUIS CROWD

Crosses Mississippi in Tour of West; Chats Informally With Station Throngs.

Aboard Roosevelt Special, St. Louis, Sept. 13 (A.P.).—Franklin D. Roosevelt brought his presidential campaign across the Mississippi River tonight to begin a circle of the West with an enunciation of his agricultural views in the farming State of Kansas tomorrow.

He was accorded an enthusiastic welcome by approximately 1,500 Missouri Democrats upon his arrival at the Union Station.

"It's coming, have no fears," answered the presidential candidate. Loud cheers followed his remark.

Most of the crowd had trudged down the railroad tracks when the train first stopped for a few minutes about two blocks from the station. A shout went up when the governor was seen seated in his car. He went to the observation platform and greeted the crowd with a wave of his arm.

His progress today through the corn-laden fields of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois found crowds at many of the stations along the route. At half a dozen towns his special halted and the New York Governor stood on the back platform to wave and send back quick replies to the questions put to him.

Crossing the Mississippi into Missouri, Mr. Roosevelt sped to the State

Robber Locks 2 in Bank Vault and Takes $1,000

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 13 (A.P.).—A soft-spoken robber locked two employes in the vault and robbed the Echange Bank of $1,000 late today.

Robert D. Russell, the cashier, used a telephone inside the vault to summon aid and he and Miss Lillian Gribbon, a bookkeeper, were released within ten minutes.

Russian Dies on Guillotine For Assassinating Doumer

Crowds Rush Police Lines Near French Prison in Effort to See Execution of Gorgouloff, Mad Adventurer, Who Murdered President.

Paris (Wednesday), Sept. 14 (U.P.).—Paul Gorgouloff half-mad Russian adventurer, died on the guillotine at Sante Prison at dawn today for the assassination of President Paul Doumer of France.

The knife of the guillotine fell at dawn, 6:03 a. m.

Gorgouloff's head fell into the basket and his body thumped into a zinc-lined wicker casket—all so rapidly that the group of lawyers, officials and journalists permitted to witness the execution at close range scarcely saw it.

Many yards away from the guillotine, which was at the doorway of Sante Prison on the Boulevard d'Arago, stood thousands of the morbidly curious who had waited several hours throughout the night. They were not permitted nearer than the two ends of the boulevard.

The crowds tried unsuccessfully to rush the police cordons. A score of persons in evening clothes from the cabarets of Montmartre and Montparnasse were included in the crowds.

Immediately after the execution the police, using a hose, poured water over the blood-stained ground to prevent the people from dipping their handkerchiefs in the blood.

Miners' "Shock Troops" Seek to Close Workings

Gillespie, Ill., Sept. 13 (A.P.).—"Shock troops of the Progressive Miners of America, newly organized union protesting the recently enacted $5 basic wage scale, tonight moved in a second offensive against three Illinois counties in attempts to close operating mines.

Arthur Hughes, press representative for the new union, said the striking miners first would seek "peaceful cooperation" of city and county officials before attempting to enter counties where miners were working. The drive, he said, was against three counties—Franklin, Perry and St. Clair. Several mines are operating there under the wage agreement sponsored by the old union.

Record Vote Is Cast In Washington State

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 13 (A.P.).—The first three precincts to report in the Washington primaries tonight gave Senator Wesley L. Jones 17 votes for the Republican nomination to the United States Senate and 3 votes to his opponent, Adam Beeler.

Brilliant fall weather, combined with vigorous campaigning on the part of aspirants for office, served to bring out the electorate in unprecedented numbers.

G. O. P. MAINE LOSS IS FIRST IN 18 YEARS

Largest Democratic Poll in History of State Elects 3 of 4 Nominees.

Portland, Me., Sept. 13 (A.P.).—An aroused Democracy tonight had smashed a Republican machine—built up through an unbroken eighteen years of power in office-holding—into the discard and elected a governor and two of the three representatives in the rock-ribbed Republican stronghold of Maine.

Only 13 of the State's 632 voting precincts were unreported from yesterday's election—which preceded the canvass in the rest of the country by two months—and they held such small numbers of registered voters that they could not affect the results in the gubernatorial contest or those in the Second and Third Congressional Districts.

Louis J. Brann, mild-mannered Lewiston lawyer, who had his early training in politics under Daniel J. McGillicuddy, last Democratic representative from Maine and later national Democratic committeeman for the State had a lead of 1,265—somewhat slender but impregnable with the tabulations so near completion.

The vote from 619 precincts was:

Brann (D.), 118,958.

Martin (R.), 117,693.

Martin Loses Home City.

Burleigh Martin, who comes of a long line of political officeholders and was president of the State Senate two years ago, lost even his home city of Augusta—the State capital—in the slowly sapping piling-up of votes the Democratic chieftains engineered.

The congressional fights in the Second and Third districts—both won by the Democrats—saw the third failure for former Gov. Ralph O. Brewster in his efforts to reenter politics and the final arrival of Edward C. Moran, jr., young Democrat from Rockland, who lost to the Republican gubernatorial candidate in the 1928 and 1930 elections.

Brewster fell before the onslaught of John G. Utterback, former mayor of Bangor and now an automobile dealer.

With 12 of the 274 precincts missing Utterback held a lead of 1,144. The vote was Utterback, 34,334; Brewster, 33,190.

Moran pushed over Representative John E. Nelson—now in his fifth term in the House of Representatives. He was aided somewhat by the placing of several Democratic strongholds in the new Second District when the State was redistricted by the last Legislature to meet the drop in representatives from four to three.

Moran's personal tours during his two gubernatorial struggles against Gov. William Tudor Gardiner were seen as the basis for his power in downing Nelson, despite the latter's organization built up through a decade of patronage.

He had an edge of 2,195 votes over the veteran representative with but two of the 213 precincts missing.

The vote was Moran, 42,009; Nelson, 39,814.

Beedy's Majority, 2,081.

Representative Carroll L. Beedy, who alone was able to weather the attack, had a majority of 2,081 over Joseph E. F. Connolly, former superior court judge, as the First District count was completed.

The vote was, Beedy, 40,997; Connolly, 38,916.

The only near-issue in the campaign was that of prohibition. The four Democrats, out-and-out repealers, carried the attack to their Republican opponents on that question, only to find the three Republican congressional candidates maintaining that the electorate of the State had not expressed itself as favoring a change from the 75-year-old policy of State prohibition.

Martin did not commit himself.

Leaders of the opposing parties jumped forward to herald and to explain the shift in the vote—which was the largest Democratic poll ever recorded and was exceeded in total vote cast only by the 1924 record-breaking count of 253,000.

Brann termed the large vote of his supporters as an indication of "a renewed interest in government and public affairs," while Martin withheld comment until "complete returns are tabulated."

Democratic State Chairman John H. Dooley said the vote would assure "better government," and Daniel F. Field, chairman of the Republican State committee, termed it no indication of "the national sentiment of this State. It does not indicate the result of local conflicts and local rivalries, a careful analysis of which warrants the conclusion that the State would have gone for Hoover at this time."

Democrats Will Hold Georgia Primary Today

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 13 (A.P.).—Democratic voters of Georgia tomorrow will select nominees for the national Senate and House, a governor and other State officials. The ticket contains 53 names.

Chief interest centered in the outcome of the senatorial campaign between Representative Charles R. Crisp, veteran of twenty years' service at Washington from the Third Georgia District, and Gov. Richard B. Russell, jr., the State's 34-year-old bachelor executive, and champion of Georgia's pay-as-you-go plan of government.

Collmer Leading Mississippi Race

Representative Hall Trails in Early Returns of Primary Run-Off.

Jackson, Miss., Sept. 13 (U.P.).—Early returns in Mississippi's primary election run-off gave incumbent highway commissioners from the northern and southern districts of the State substantial leads over administration-supported opponents.

In the southern district, with 344 of the 571 precincts tabulated, Jim Thames was leading Arch McCormik by 4,100 votes. With 204 of the 590 precincts of the northern district reported, Abe Linker was 4,600 votes ahead of Marin Pearce.

In the only run-off contest for a seat in Congress, returns from 170 precincts of the 313 in the Sixth Congressional District gave Representative Bob Hall 9,636 votes against 10,505 for District Attorney W. M. Collmer.

Democrats All Over Nation Acclaim Victory in Maine

G. O. P. to Redouble Efforts, Says Hebert; "All for the Good," States Roosevelt; "Sweeping Victory for Antiprohibitionists," Shouse Declares.

New York, Sept. 13 (A.P.).—Democrats throughout the Nation tonight hailed their victory in Maine as a forerunner of success in November, while Republican campaign leaders said it would stimulate activity which would bring about President Hoover's election.

He grinned from the back platform of his train as crowds at stations asked him what he thought of Maine.

Speaker Garner, the Democrats' Vice Presidential nominee, on his way East to join his running mate, declared as his train stopped in Durant, Okla.:

"The people are not going to sustain an administration such as we have had for the last twelve years, the election in Maine clearly shows."

When a Republican was introduced to him he said:

"Maine's gone Democratic, why don't you make it unanimous?"

Senator Felix Hebert, Eastern Republican campaign manager, issued an 800-word statement from his office here in which he said:

"The Maine results define the task in ample time for marshaling the necessary effort to assure a Republican victory in November. * * *

"With the menace of loose and dangerous political and economic leadership reaching out for every will-of-the-wisp, the next few weeks will see such a rallying of the responsible elements in our national life as no previous campaign has ever witnessed."

James A. Farley, Democratic national chairman, wore a smile on his face throughout the day. In a statement he said in part:

"I repeat what I have said before—the Democrats do not concede a single State. According to the latest figures our Maine vote has increased 55 per cent in the State at large over the 1928 figures. * * *

"Assuming the total vote (in November) will approximate that of four years ago, about 35,000,000, the percentages would indicate Gov. Roosevelt's election by nearly 10,000,000 majority."

Senator David I. Walsh, of Massachusetts, at Democratic national headquarters issued a statement in which he said the Maine vote was due to "the Nation-wide revolt against President Hoover and the Republican leadership, coupled with a demand for prohibition repeal."

He predicted the other New England States "will follow the example of Maine in November." He also said he was sure a Democratic Senate and House would be elected. Alfred E. Smith had no comment on the Maine election. His office associates said he had no speaking engagements on his calendar.

Moses Stresses Need Of Better Organization

Concord, N. H., Sept. 13 (A.P.).—U. S. Senator George H. Moses, commenting on the Maine vote, said:

"No thoughtful Republican can overlook the implications of the election in Maine, nor can they be explained away by the customary form of political alibi.

"There were some local cross-currents in the Maine election which were readily discernible to those of us from the outside who were campaigning there. But this was not sufficient.

"The fact is that Republicans are confronted by opposition well organized and enthusiastic. The answer to this is that we should organize and develop enthusiasm.

"This is not the first time Maine has selected a Democratic Governor in a presidential year when a Republican was elected president. Therefore the policy for Republicans henceforth is to remember 1880 and repeat the job."

Watson Says Dry Issue Swayed Maine Voters

Indianapolis, Sept. 13 (A.P.).—United States Senator James E. Watson, of Indiana, commenting today on the Democratic victory in yesterday's election in Maine, declared that he does not believe the result "need terrify any one as to what will happen in the presidential election."

"According to my information, the campaign in Maine was waged very largely on the wet and dry issue," Senator Watson said. "Before the election I talked with a number of men who had been in Maine looking over the situation. They told me that the overwhelming issue was the liquor question and that the economic question was subordinate and secondary."

Senator Watson, one of President Hoover's closest political allies, is a candidate himself for reelection in the November election in Indiana.

REPUBLICANS, DISAPPOINTED, SAY FIGHT HAS HARDLY BEGUN

after Democratic triumphs in the September State elections.

"I have every confidence that history will repeat itself in November in Maine, and that throughout the country the verdict of the people on national issues will be overwhelmingly in your favor," Chairman Sanders said.

President's Telegram.

"The result of the election in Maine imposes need for renewed and stronger effor that the people may fully understand the issues at stake. We have known all along that, owing to the ravages of the world depression, our fight is a hard one; but we have a strong case and a right cause. Our task is to acquaint every man and woman in the country with the facts and issues which confront the Nation.

"In periods of emergency and stress, steadfast adherence to sound principles of government is indispensable to national security and a prerequisite to recovery in business, agriculture and employment. Adherence to these principles has saved the country during the last twelve months from all manner of destructive panaceas. This adherence and the measures and policies we have adopted have preserved these principles and laid the foundation for recovery.

"My chief concern now is that the work of reconstruction shall go forward steadily and that the forces we have mobilized to that end, and which are beginning to prove effective, shall continue. This transcends all personal and partisan considerations."

Message From Sanders.

Mr. Sanders' telegram stressed the narrow margin of the Democratic victory and acknowledged the result as disappointing but not disturbing.

The complete text of his telegram follows:

"The narrow margin of Democratic success in the Maine gubernatorial contest is plainly insufficient to assure that State to the Democratic presidential candidate eight weeks hence, and I firmly expect you to carry that State. I was, of course, disappointed in the vote but not greatly disturbed.

"Since 1880, Maine has five times in presidential years elected a governor, State ticket and congressional delegation in September of opposite political faith to the President elected 60 days later. After the defeat of the Republican candidate for governor in Maine in September, 1880 the country rallied to the importance of national issues and returned President Garfield triumphantly in November, the State of Maine reversing its September position.

I have every confidence that history will repeat itself in November in Maine and that throughout the country the verdict of the people on national issues will be overwhelmingly in your favor."

Violent Stock Reaction.

Despite a violent stock market reaction to the generally surprising Maine results, Democratic hopes bounded upward in all parts of the country as dribbling late returns from the remote precincts cinched the party's victory in the Republican's most northerly stronghold.

"The Democratic victory in Maine," said Senator Clause A. Swanson, of Virginia, chairman of the Democratic senatorial campaign committee, "is most significant and indicates a determined and widespread dissatisfaction with the present Republican administration."

Democratic Reaction.

His statement, which epitomizes Democratic reaction everywhere continued:

"If the same percentage of gain made in Maine appears in election returns from other States, the Electoral College will be overwhelmingly for Roosevelt and Garner and there will be a substantial Democratic majority in the House and Senate.

"All the information I have is that the dissatisfaction in other States is greater than in Maine and that the percentage of Democratic gain will be much larger. Maine is normally a rock-ribbed Republican State and is it safe to surmise the Republicans were able to hold down the percentage of Democratic gain better there than they can in other States in the November election."

Original Plan Intact.

Rejecting the excited first-blush reaction of Washington's political gallery, Republican managers declined to be swerved from their original campaign plan. They look upon the Maine result as a mere incident of the developing contest and are firm in their belief that it calls for no extraordinary measures. Their intensive campaign for economic restoration, they assert, has registered far wider appeal than could be offset by even a dicisive result in Maine.

Suggestion that President Hoover regard the Maine turnover as an indication of shoals ahead and launch upon an extended speaking tour were summarily dismissed by members of the Republican high command.

Vice President Curtis presumably disclosed the consensus of the regular Tuesday Cabinet meeting when he said:

"We are greatly disappointed, but it will only make us work the harder. We will carry the State in November."

Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills and Postmaster General Walter Brown, two of the President's closest political advisers, were at the White House yesterday at 9:30 a. m. Save for the interval of the Cabinet meeting they conferred with the President constantly until after 1 o'clock. Mr. Brown remained for luncheon, and Secretary Mills returned in the afternoon for another brief conference.

Mills Silent on Vote.

Mr. Mills offered no comment for publication, but indicated he was neither startled nor alarmed by the Maine results.

Mr. Brown said the result "would stimulate activity among Republican workers throughout the country, many of whom have been incredulous that the Nation might choose Roosevelt and Garner."

At Democratic headquarters a statement from former Gov. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, one of Roosevelt's opponents at Chicago, said:

"Despite every effort to hold them in line, thousands of Republicans in Maine turned their backs on the Republican nominees and voted the Democratic ticket. This means that they, like the people in other States, are heartily tired of existing conditions and are demanding a new deal.

"I anticipate that Maine will give an even larger majority to Gov. Roosevelt and Speaker Garner in November."

Jouett Shouse, president of the Association Against the Eighteenth Amendment, said the Maine election was "the most sweeping, pronounced and significant victory for antiprohibition forces that has been recorded since the question of repeal of the eighteenth amendment became a national issue."

Presumably Dry State.

The Maine voters, he said, elected nominees of a party decidedly in the minority "in one of the presumably driest States of the Nation because those nominees stood for the unqualified elimination of a police law mistakenly placed in the Constitution."

Representative Ross A. Collins (Democrat), Mississippi, said:

"The result in Maine is plainly indicative of a drift but it says more plainly than anything else that the Hoover administration is drifting right into oblivion."

Representative Prall (Democrat), New York, said the result is "indicative of a decisive sweep for Democratic candidates in the fall elections."

GOV. WILSON LEADS IN VERMONT VOTING

Montpelier, Vt., Sept. 13 (A.P.).—W. Arthur Simpson, of Lydonville, ran well behind Gov. Stanley C. Wilson in today's Republican primary contest for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, as returns trickled in from more than half of the State's 248 cities and towns.

In the State's other major contest, Representative Ernest W. Gibson was forging steadily ahead of Loren R. Pierce, of Woodstock, for the Republican nomination for member of Congress at large, and had piled up a commanding lead.

Returns from 191 cities and towns gave Simpson 24,591; Wilson, 31,025, and 186 cities and towns gave Gibson 29,811, and Pierce, 12,361.

Gibson, with 10 years of service in Congress behind him, added steadily to his lead over Pierce, former speaker of the State House of Representatives, who made prohibition the chief issue of his campaign. Pierce advocated repeal while Gibson favored resubmission of the question.

As the polls did not close until 8 p. m., Eastern standard time, indications were that the outcome of the gubernatorial fight would not be known until late.

There were no major Democratic contests, but one other Republican battle, that for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governorship, had narrowed down to two candidates as a third of the State reported. Charles M. Smith, of Rutland was leading William H. Wills, of Bennington, with Martin S. Vilas, of Burlington, running a poor third. Smith's lead, however, was due largely to the large vote he polled in his home county of Rutland.

Gov. Sterling Files Contest of Primary

Lubbock, Tex., Sept. 13 (A.P.).—The Texas Democratic convention late today declared Mrs. Miriam A. (Ma) Ferguson the party's nominee for governor and soon afterward her defeated opponent, Gov. R. S. Sterling, filed suit contesting her nomination on the ground of election fraud.

After adopting a report of the party executive committee that canvassed returns of the August run-off primary, showing Mrs. Ferguson had received 3,798 more votes than Gov. Sterling, the convention early tonight formally nominated her for governor of the Lone Star State. Adjournment followed.

Meanwhile, Gov. Sterling filed suit in Travis County District Court contesting the election. He contended that "many thousands" of illegal votes were cast for Mrs. Ferguson, who previously served a term as governor, and that "many thousands" of persons not qualified to vote had been allowed to participate in the deciding primary.

Lovette, Defeated, Vows He Still Runs for House

Greeneville, Tenn., Sept. 13 (A.P.).—Representative O. B. Lovette, of the First Tennessee District, defeated by former Representative B. Carroll Reece for the Republican nomination for Congress in the August 4 primaries, announced today he was the "party's nominee" and would be a "candidate until the polls close" November 8.

Lovette charged that "the greatest frauds known to elections were practiced by my opponents in every county in the district where they had control of the primary boards, and in several counties where they did not have." Reece defeated Lovette in the primary by more than 1,600 votes.

G. O. P. Starts Mail Poll Of Those in Who's Who

Chicago, Sept. 13 (A.P.).—Republican national campaign headquarters has started a mail poll of all persons whose names appear in Who's Who, asking them to signify for which presidential candidate they intend voting.

Henry Allen, director of publicity for the campaign, said the poll was intended to "sound out the political sentiments of the country's best minds and of business leaders." Persons listed in Who's Who are being mailed postcards on which is printed a ballot bearing the names of Herbert Hoover and Franklin D. Roosevelt and a blank line on which may be written the name of any other candidate.

Still Al Smith's Friend, Gov. Roosevelt Writes

New York, Sept. 13 (A.P.).—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt said in a letter to George Murphy, political editor of the Hastings (N. Y.) Press, made public by Murphy today that his feeling of friendship for former Gov. Alfred E. Smith was unchanged.

"You may be sure," the letter read, "that nothing that has happened has in any way altered my feeling of friendship for Mr. Smith or my confidence in his splendid ability as a statesman and leader. I feel sure that all good Democrats will rally to the support of our strong platform during the campaign and help carry our banner forward to victory this year."

Portland, Me., Sept. 13 (A.P.).—Here is the way the Democratic and Republican parties have divided the support of the electorate in presidential year State elections in Maine from 1912 to yesterday:

Year	Repub.	Dem.	Majity
1932	117,402	118,789	1,387
1928	148,635	65,573	82,482
1924	145,281	108,626	36,655
1920	135,393	70,047	65,346
1916	81,760	67,930	13,830
1914	58,887	62,076	3,189
1912	70,931	67,702	3,229

GOV. BRUCKER LEADS IN MICHIGAN VOTING

Two Former House Members in Close Races to Get Nomination.

Detroit, Sept. 13 (A.P.).—Gov. Wilber M. Brucker, Republican, took a lead of more than 12,000 votes over the nearest of four opponents in his race for renomination in returns tonight from 285 out-State precincts in the State-wide primary.

The governor received 33,820 votes, while George W. Welsh, of Grand Rapids, followed with 21,408. Mayor William H. McKeighan, of Flint, had 7,991. Two others trailed far behind. The returns were from less than one-tenth of the State's voting districts, which total 3,517.

For the Democratic gubernatorial nomination William A. Comstock, whom Brucker defeated two years ago, had a substantial lead over two opponents. Returns from 50 precincts gave Comstock, 1,207; Claude S. Carney, 256, and Patrick H. O'Brien, 265.

Returns from congressional contests indicated that two former representatives—Louis C. Cramton and Grant M. Hudson—were making close races with the incumbents, who defeated them in primaries two years ago.

Cramton was ahead of Representative Jesse P. Wolcott in returns from 16 precincts in the Seventh District, the vote being: Cramton, 2,186; Wolcott, 1,705. Representative Seymour H. Person was ahead in nine precincts of the Sixth District, with 1,172 votes, while Hudson had 868.

In the Eighth District, where Representative Michael J. Hart, Michigan's lone Democrat, is unopposed for renomination, William M. Smith was far in front of Joseph D. Frost for the Republican nomination on returns from five precincts.

Capitol at Jefferson City to receive the welcome of the State Democratic platform convention during an hour's stop.

In a day filled with back platform appearances, talks with political leaders in Ohio and Indiana and two press conferences at which he expressed pleasure at the result of the Maine election, the candidate found time to complete the speech on farm relief that he will make tomorrow at Topeka.

Telling a crowd in Ohio of his pleasure at the outcome of the Maine election, Mr. Roosevelt added a prediction that Ohio, too, would be found in the Democratic column on election day. Late today when the Maine result seemed assured, he sent a congratulatory telegram to Louis J. Brann, the successful Democratic gubernatorial candidate.

For his appearance at Topeka tomorrow the governor will be joined by Speaker John N. Garner, his running mate for the Vice Presidency. The two will appear together on the steps of the Kansas State Capitol, where a few weeks ago Charles Curtis accepted the Republican renomination for the Vice Presidency.

Probably the largest crowd that saw the governor today was that at Mattoon, Ill., where his train stopped for a few minutes to take on water. Overalled men and gingham-clad women predominated in the gathering that pressed tightly against the rail of his private car.

As in most of his other stops, at Larue, and Bellefontaine, Ohio, and Indianapolis and Terre Haute, Ind., the governor did no speaking. He introduced his family and chatted informally with the crowds, but when urged to make a speech reminded that he was to do that tomorrow.

In addition to his telegram to Brann, Gov. Roosevelt sent congratulatory messages to E. Carl Moran, jr., and John Utterback, newly elected members of the House of Representatives from the Rockland and Bangor Districts, and to J. E. F. Connoly, of Portland, expressing regret at his defeat in his race for the same post in that district.

His telegram to Brann follows:

"I can not tell you how pleased I am to get the reports today of your marvelous victory in Maine. Considering the forecast by the Republicans, it must be a source of great satisfaction to you and your loyal supporters of all parties to have achieved this victory. The tide in this country has definitely turned from the Republican leadership and your election yesterday is a forerunner of the faith of the country in the Democratic party and its representatives. With best wishes to you for a successful administration."

BROUSSARD TRAILS LONG'S CANDIDATE

Overton Ahead for Senate on Wet-and-Soak-Rich Campaign Platform.

New Orleans, Sept. 13 (A.P.).—Representative John H. Overton led Senator Edwin S. Broussard in the senatorial race in today's Democratic primary by more than 36,000 votes on unofficial returns from 907 of the State's 1,452 precincts. The vote stood: Overton, 112,931; Broussard, 86,244.

New Orleans, Sept. 13 (U.P.).—Voters of Louisiana apparently were giving their hearty approval of the "soak-the-rich" doctrine espoused by Representative John H. Overton, of Alexandria, in his race for the Senate seat now held by Edwin S. Broussard, aristocratic descendant of one of Louisiana's oldest families.

Overton, whose support by Louisiana's junior senator, Huey P. Long, earned him the title of "The King-fish's protege was far ahead of Broussard, a veteran of 12 years' service in the Senate, returns from today's Democratic primary election showed tonight.

Election officials reported that more than 400 of the city and county precincts out of the 1,452 in the State gave Overton 123,099 votes against 82,471 for the incumbent.

Overton and Louisiana's political boss, Senator Long, campaigned the State on a platform favoring repeal of the eighteenth amendment and laws to limit the amount of wealth that an individual may accumulate.

Broussard charged that many election irregularities had occurred, and indicated that if he is defeated he will contest Overton's election before the United States Senate. A few election disturbances were reported in New Orleans, and three persons arrested for disturbing the peace at the polls.

Hoover's Economy Move Is Assailed by McKellar

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 13 (A.P.).—Senator K. D. McKellar (Democrat), Tennessee, a member of the Senate appropriations committee, in a statement today criticized President Hoover for his recent request to department heads that estimates for next year's appropriations be reduced $500,000,000.

Following a review of what he said was the record of the Hoover administration, Senator McKellar said that "neither Mr. Hoover nor his cabinet members are in favor of economy."

Speaker Garner Coming To Capital This Week

(Associated Press.)

Speaker John N. Garner plans to come direct to Washington the last of this week after he meets Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt today in Topeka, Kans.

The Democratic vice presidential candidate advised his office here yesterday that he had left his home at Uvalde, Tex., and was en route to Topeka.

5 Foreign Aviators Call Upon Hoover

Team That Performed at Cleveland Also Sees Sights of Capital.

Five famous foreign pilots returning to their homes from the National Air Races in Cleveland stopped off in Washington yesterday to call on the President and to visit points of interest in the Capital.

The fliers, Lieut. Jean Assolant, of France, pilot of the Yellow Bird on a transatlantic flight; Col. George Kowsowsky, of Poland; Lieut. Placido d'Abreu, of Portugal; Herr Emil Kropf, of Germany, and Lieut. Andrea Zotti, of Italy, together with Commander R. L. R. Atcherley, of England, formed a foreign flying team which performed daily at the National Air Races which closed September 5. Commander Atcherley has sailed for England.

The visitors were received by Col. Clarence M. Young, Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Aeronautics, and later were guests at the Italian Embassy at a luncheon. They flew here as guests of the Ludington Air Lines.

MOSES IS RENAMED IN G. O. P. PRIMARY

Fred H. Brown Leading in Democratic Senate Race in New Hampshire.

Concord, N. H., Sept. 13 (A.P.).—United States Senator George H. Moses, president pro tem of the Senate, was renominated by the Republican voters of New Hampshire in today's primaries.

Moses was virtually unopposed, although Joseph L. Richards, whose name did not appear on the ballot, had asked voters to write in his name. With more than half of the election districts tabulated, Moses had 13,364 votes against a scattering few for Richards.

Fred H. Brown, former mayor, governor and United States district attorney and present public service commissioner, was leading in the Democratic fight for the right to oppose Moses in the November elections.

Brown Far in Lead.

In 150 of the 294 districts, Brown had 4,083 votes; Joseph A. Coutremarah, 874, and Timothy F. O'Connor, 1,000.

Gov. John G. Winant was far ahead in his race for the Republican renomination. With the same districts reported he had 14,212 votes against 2,288 for his opponent, George I. Haselton, Manchester attorney.

Henri T. Ledoux, former Nashua postmaster, was leading in the Democratic contest for the gubernatorial nomination. He had 3,490, as compared with 2,799 for his opponent, George H. Duncan.

The Republican contests in the congressional districts were close. In the First District, with 62 of the 120 election districts reported, William Parker Straw had 3,703 votes, against 3,193 for his opponent, Mayor William Fernando Hartford, of Portsmouth.

Second District Race.

In the Second District, with 119 of the 165 election districts reported, Harold K. Davison, former president of the State Senate and speaker of the House, had 6,570 votes and former Gov. Charles W. Tobey had 8,543 votes less.

William N. Rogers, incumbent, was far in the lead in his fight for Democratic renomination in the First District. He had 2,197 votes, with 62 of 129 districts reported. John S. Hurley had 290 and William G. McCarthy had 225 votes in this contest.

Jeremiah J. Doyle had 3,964 votes in his fight for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the Second District with 119 of the 165 districts reported. John G. Landers, his opponent, had 1,857. Both are former mayors.

Mitchell Report Rapped By D. A. V. Official

Los Angeles, Sept. 13 (A.P.).—Volney P. Mooney, jr., national judge advocate of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, said in a statement today "it is a sad state of affairs when the Attorney General of this Nation has no more to do than to write a political pamphlet for the President."

He referred to Attorney General Mitchell's report describing some of the recent bonus expeditionary force in Washington as law breakers.

Orndorff Admitted Killing Wife, Deputy Tells Court

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., Sept. 13.—Placing witnesses on the stand to testify that the defendant admitted to a deputy sheriff that he killed his wife and that the slaying followed a long series of domestic quarrels, the State began its case late this afternoon in circuit court on a first-degree murder indictment against Kermit Orndorff, Frederick County mountaineer farmer, by which it hopes to send him to the electric chair for the murder of his wife of a few months, Mrs. Frances Nicholas Orndorff, last December 29.

After the morning and part of the afternoon had been taken up with the selection of a jury, Commonwealth's Attorney Burr P. Harrison put Deputy Sheriff Robert Dehaven on the stand as the State's opening witness.

Dehaven declared Orndorff told him in July at the local jail, about a week after Mrs. Orndorff's body was found that he (Orndorff) killed his wife during a domestic dispute. Dehaven added that Orndorff said he struck his wife with the butt of a shotgun after she had picked up the weapon and threatened to shoot Orndorff when the latter demanded his wife hold a lantern for him to work by at night. She died soon after the blow was delivered, Dehaven said Orndorff told him.

Sheriff Luther Pannett, who conducted an investigation in four States in search of the woman, was the State's second witness. He told of a "statement regarding his wife's death" which Orndorff made to him and Prosecutor Harrison several weeks ago. In the "statement," Pannett said, Orndorff admitted killing his wife by hitting her with the butt of a shotgun. State Senator Aubrey G. Weaver, of Front Royal, demanded of Judge Philip Williams that the State produce the "statement" as evidence.

Harrison objected on the ground that it was made just prior to the trial.

Efforts of the husband to prevent Mrs. Orndorff from becoming a mother and his apparent disgust that she was to give birth to a child were aired on the witness stand by Loring Himelricht, a neighbor, and Harry Nicholas, brother of Mrs. Orndorff.

Twenty-eight of a venire of 40 called for jury duty were examined before a jury was obtained.

The jury is composed of ten "dirt" farmers and two carpenters. The personnel of the jury includes C. O. Watson, H. A. Cougill, Elijah Puffinberger, F. Estes Kline, E. L. Lafollette, J. Vanmeter Hack, Noah L. McIntyre, I. W. Scothern, J. O. Chamberlin, C. M. Sencindiver, H. L. Braithwaite and H. P. Boyce.

Harrison is being assisted by Attorney Harry R. Kern, jr., of Winchester, while Frank H. Brumback, of Woodstock, and Floyd M. Brill, of Winchester, are assisting Weaver with the defense.

Contrary to general expectation, the State did not introduce the dismembered body of Mrs. Orndorff, found in a mountain-side grave six months after she disappeared, as evidence in the case.

When court opened this morning, Orndorff with face pale, hesitatingly pleaded "not guilty."

CROSBY TO MEET GLASSFORD TODAY; STATUS MAY BE FIXED

uation would have arisen beyond the control of police."

Rumors that the District Commissioners were about to ask the resignation of the police head abated somewhat yesterday. Although there has been no communication between Commissioner Crosby and Gen. Glassford in the last several weeks, it is reported reliably that on Monday, when Gen. Glassford unleashed his contradiction of the Attorney General's report, that the Commissioners were considering a proposal to ask for his resignation.

Meanwhile, Gen. Glassford called for reports from Inspectors E. W. Brown, T. R. Bean and L. I. H. Edwards, as to any statements they may have made to the District Commissioners on the necessity for calling troops. These reports are expected to be on Gen. Glassford's desk within a few days.

This order followed the publication of a letter to the Attorney General, signed by Dr. Luther H. Reichelderfer, in which the inspectors were quoted as expressing their belief "that had the arrival of troops been delayed, further bloodshed and disorder could not have been averted."

A report is still pending from Inspector O. T. Davis on a statement attributed to him that he had received orders to keep his men from the encampments of the bonus army. This, the Attorney General said, hampered the successful prosecution of those responsible for the bonus riots.

Says Most Veterans Loyal.

It is possible that Inspector Davis may tell Gen. Glassford that the statement attributed to him was made before the grand jury, and as such, he may not comment upon his testimony.

The outbreaks at the bonus camps were of brief duration, Gen. Glassford said yesterday. Most of the veterans were loyal and were willing to cooperate with police, he said.

The brick battle, which was the first violence, he was able to stop within five minutes, while the second disorder in which two veterans were killed, was stopped almost instantly, he said.

Glassford's Statement.

Gen. Glassford's statement follows:

"I certainly do not intend to engage in any controversy with officials of the District or Federal governments. However, published comments by the District Commissioners and the Department of Justice upon my statement raised points which may not have been fully considered by those involved. For example:

"1. I was never apprised by the Commissioners that troops had been called.

"2. Although it has been stated that the police were threatened with a mass attack, the actual encounter was confined to a narrow point on one side of the roped-off area which had been repossessed.

"3. I was able to stop the fighting in less than five minutes.

"4. The second assault, occurring nearly two hours later, in which two veterans were shot, was halted almost instantly. This was a spontaneous affair, involving less than two dozen participants on both sides.

"5. For three hours thereafter—until the troops arrived—there was no disorder.

"With the great majority of the unemployed veterans willing to cooperate with the police and with no orders to extend the repossessed area, I am firmly of the belief that no situation would have arisen beyond the control of the police."

Glassford Lauds B. E. F. In Baltimore Address

Baltimore, Sept. 13 (A.P.).—Speaking briefly before the Army and Navy Legion of Valour, in annual convention here, Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, superintendent of Washington police, tonight praised the conduct of members of the bonus expeditionary force while in Washington.

"There were as many as 20,000 of them there at one time," he said. "During the entire period and up to the last day I don't think any regular army division could have been better behaved."

Col. Jennings C. Wise, special assistant to Attorney Genera Mitchell, who spoke before Glassford, said "when we speak today about what is due and what is not due to veterans, let us remember we have had the privilege of serving and ask nothing more."

Police Will Form Emergency Squad

Personnel of New Unit Is Listed in Order From Glassford.

Plans for an emergency squad outlined by Brig. Gen. Glassford several weeks ago were embodied in a general police order issued yesterday to members of the headquarters staff, precinct and bureau commanders.

The purpose of the squad, which will be equipped with gas masks, steel helmets, machine guns and gas bombs is stated as a unit to quell serious rioting, capture barricaded criminals and meet similar emergencies. The squad will consist of 1 lieutenant, 3 sergeants and 24 privates.

In the case of a sudden emergency, where there is not sufficient time to organize the squad, any officer above the rank of sergeant is authorized to direct the use of special equipment necessary to quell the disturbance.

Safe Battered by Crackmen.

Yeggmen battered their way into a large strong box in the office of the Capitol Bedding Co., 2122 Twenty-fourth place northeast, early yesterday, using sledge hammers and deadening the sound with mattresses. They escaped with about $100 in cash and checks totaling $500.

AL SMITH AGAINST PAYMENT OF BONUS

Asserts Return of Prosperity Would Be Delayed; Puts Blame on Politicians.

Philadelphia, Sept. 13 (U.P.).—Declaring that the return of prosperity would be delayed by payment of a soldier bonus, Alfred E. Smith, former Governor of New York, discusses the question of veterans' relief bonus measures in the current issue of the Saturday Evening Post.

Smith sees bonus legislation and the march of the B. E. F. to Washington as fostered by politicians for selfish ends, and declares that "the real fact of the matter is that those in a position to know have made an unchallenged statement that 75 per cent of the country's veterans are not members of the American Legion and they may or may not agree with its views."

Deserving Veterans Lose.

"I desire to place myself clearly and fairly on the record," Smith states. "I believe that unfair, unjust and inequitable payments to veterans who are not deserving tends to operate against the deserving veterans. It is impossible for any group to receive veterans' benefits unjustly and unfairly without interfering with that group which is justly entitled to every single thing that this country can do for them."

"If left to the veterans themselves and to the officials of the Government who have to deal with it, there is no doubt but that a just and equitable system of reward could be arrived at, but the unfortunate thing about it all is that it is bedeviled by politics," the former governor writes.

"It certainly can not be disputed that the recent gathering in Washington of veterans demanding the immediate payment of the bonus was encouraged by the attitude of members of Congress. Public opinion is absolutely right when it lays some of the blame for what happened in Washington upon the statesmen in the lower house.

Peril in Organized Groups.

Smith declared that, unless public opinion acted, "organized groups will, from time to time, fasten new obligations upon the people which will result in mounting costs, additional taxation and all the hardships growing from these."

Statisticians, he said, have figured out that by 1945 "the Government will have spent $23,500,000,000, even under existing relief commitments." He said this sum was practically equivalent to the cost of this country's participation in the World War.

"I earnestly hope that a time will never come when the people of the United States will be lacking in expression of their gratitude to the men who offered themselves to the country in her time of trouble," he writes in conclusion. "But we must, of necessity, realize that this organized effort on the part of representatives of an organized group must cease when they go beyond the limits of justice, fair dealing and fair play to the rank and file of the American people who must foot the bills."

SMITH VICTORIOUS OVER COLE BLEASE

Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

John T. Barnett jumped ahead of Alva B. Adams in first returns for the Democratic senatorial nomination in Colorado. Karl Schuyler likewise held a lead over Nate C. Warren in the Republican contest.

In Arizona, Gov. George W. P. Hunt was trailing B. B. Moeur in early ballots in the Democratic gubernatorial race.

Columbia, S. C., Sept. 13 (A.P.).—Ellison D. Smith, veteran South Carolina senator, won a decisive victory over Cole L. Blease, former senator, in today's run-off Democratic primary for the United States Senate nomination on the face of nearly complete unofficial returns tabulated tonight.

Reports from 1,393 of the State's 1,444 precincts gave Smith 146,907 votes against 112,382 for Blease, a majority of more than 34,000.

The unreported precincts were widely scattered. Many of them were small, rural boxes in more or less isolated regions, which accounted for the failure to hear from them.

The unofficial returns showed Blease, twice governor and for six years a colleague of Smith in the Senate, to be trailing his opponent by the largest margin of his political career. He had never been beaten by more than a few thousand votes in his previous races, although he has been either an office holder or a candidate in every election year for 44 years.

Since nomination in this State is equivalent to election, Senator Smith will, on the basis of the returns, return to Washington for his fifth six-year term. He has already served longer than any South Carolinian in the Senate.

No outstanding issues were developed. Smith, declaring himself a personal and political dry, pledged himself to abide by the Democratic national platform, including the plank for repeal of the eighteenth amendment and modification of the Volstead act.

Blease asserted he would continue to support the prohibition laws until the "white Democrats" of the State should show their desire to be for a change.

from the Hutchinsons, when it found the smashed plane.

Hutchinson, a former Philadelphia aviator, said a leaking gasoline tank forced him to bring his plane down Sunday while attempting to fly from Julianehaab, at the southern tip of Greenland, to Angmagsalik.

His children and others in the party were able to wade ashore and reached the tiny Eskimo settlement of Eker, whose few inhabitants were preparing to abandon the place for the winter. In a few more weeks they would have been on their way to Angmagsalik.

Capital Men Help In Portland Crusade

Five Legion Headquarters Raided So Far by U. S. Prohibition Head.

Portland, Oreg., Sept. 13 (A.P.).—His forces augmented by a number of operatives sent here from Washington, D. C., W. K. Newell, Federal prohibition commissioner for Oregon, said today he would continue his crusade to make Portland dry for visiting legionnaires.

So far, five legion organization headquarters have been raided and Newell said he would raid every establishment where intoxicating drinks are sold openly. Ten persons have been arrested for sale or possession of liquor and large quantities of liquor, described by Newell as intoxicating, have been seized.

In addition there have been several raids in hotels and one in a private dwelling.

EASTERN RAIL LINES NEAR MERGER PACT

Four-System Plan Is Ironed Out in Meeting; I. C. C. Decision Is Aid.

New York, Sept. 13 (A.P.).—For the first time since the Interstate Commerce Commission handed down its recent decision on consolidating Eastern roads into four major systems, the presidents of the Eastern trunk line systems appeared today to be nearing an agreement.

A final agreement, they said informally, would probably be reached at their next meeting, scheduled for September 23.

Executives of the four principal Eastern systems, who for about ten years have fought one another in their efforts to preserve their own systems against possible encroachments from their competitors, met again today to decide what answer they should make to the commission's proposal.

This proposal approved, with qualifications, the grouping of the principal Eastern lines, except the New England roads, into four main systems.

Present at today's meeting, which was called by W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad Co., and was held in the Pennsylvania terminal here, were representatives of that system, and of the New York Central, the Van Sweringen-controlled Chesapeake & Ohio and the Baltimore & Ohio, of which Daniel Willard is the guiding genius.

"The executives of the four systems met for further discussion of the Eastern district consolidation plan, and adjourned to meet at an early date. Considerable progress was made in the disposition of the open question," their formal statement read.

But informally the executives said that virtually all of the underbrush which had been clogging the progress of the railroad consolidation plan had today been cleared.

Washington Woman Gets War Nurses' Post

Portland, Oreg., Sept. 13 (A.P.).—Miss Mary A. MacDonald, of Cambridge, Mass., has been elected commander of the national organization of the American World War Nurses, it was announced today. She will appoint a national secretary and national treasurer. Vice commanders elected were Harriet Kuemin, West Roxbury, Mass.; Margaret Carlson, Baltimore, Md.; Mrs. Harry A. Hickey, Washington, D. C.; Mary Suehs, Chicago; Augusta Mueller, Omaha; Mary Kennedy, Houston, and Ida Wenck, Hollywood.

Among resolutions considered by the organization was one to adopt the name "American Legion Nurses Corps." The resolution will be presented to the legion convention.

Percy Fletcher Is Dead; Wrote 'Chu Chin Chow'

London, Sept. 13 (A.P.).—Percy Fletcher, composer of the score of the operetta "Chu Chin Chow," which ran for five years more than a decade ago, died today at his home in Farnborough, Hampshire.

He was 53 years old.

Oil Tank Wagon Venders Barred

Ordinance Is Adopted in Montgomery; Alban Is Approved for Post.

An ordinance prohibiting gasoline tank wagon venders from operating in Montgomery County was adopted yesterday by the Montgomery County Commissioners. The ordinance prohibits sale of gasoline in trucks except in cases of emergency.

Willard J. Alban, of Glen Echo, was approved for appointment as a deputy forest warden. Sheriff Richard H. Lansdale reported he had collected $206.37 in fees in civil cases in August and $45 in fines.

Frank I. Davis, clerk of the County Police Court, reported dog taxes collected amounted to $1,012; fees and costs in civil cases of $52; fines and costs in criminal cases of $999.50; $710 in motor vehicle law violation fines and $35 fines for violations of fish and game laws were collected in August.

HINDENBURG SCORES REICHSTAG'S LEADER

Opposition Apparently Drops Plan to Take Dissolution Row to Court.

Berlin, Sept. 13 (A.P.).—President von Hindenburg tonight reproved the Nazi president of the Reichstag, Wilhelm Goering, for "overriding a presidential decree of dissolution."

The aged chief executive apparently was referring to Herr Goering's refusal to dissolve the lawmakers yesterday when the Junker chancellor, Franz von Papen, placed a decree signed by the president before him.

The president's note of reproof was in reply to Herr Goering's protest to the president over the nonappearance of cabinet members before Reichstag standing committees.

In official quarters it was stated that Herr Goering's note omitted the customary courtesy of phraseology used in addressing the president and charged the cabinet members with a breach of the constitution.

Denies Accusations.

The president replied emphatically with a refusal to admit such accusations and charged that the Reichstag president had failed to recognize the new legal status created by his decree of dissolution. The president added that as soon as this recognition was accorded the cabinet members will be able to attend committees. The president's note also was shorn of the usual features of polite correspondence.

In a second letter, this time said to have been couched in polite terms, Herr Goering gave the president his version of yesterday's happenings at great length. The Reichstag leader virtually challenged the president's interpretation of constitutional law, and contended he could not dismiss the Reichstag twice for the same reason, namely, nonconfidence in the Von Papen government.

Herr Goering added that the Reichstag expected an immediate recision of the emergency decree and resignation of the Von Papen govrnment on the ground that 95 per cent of the German people had refused to place confidence in that government.

"Reactionary Clique."

Meanwhile, Adolf Hitler, at a meeting of the Nazi leaders here, indicated a reiteration of the policy to fight to the finish "with and for the people against a reactionary clique."

The exchange of letters came after Chancellor Von Papen and his cabinet had snubbed the Reichstag by declining to attend meetings of two standing committees.

Apparently the opposition had abandoned its intention of appealing to the supreme court on the theory that dissolution was promulgated after the cabinet had been defeated and before the Reichstag still was legally in session, as it could not be dissolved by repudiated ministers.

Ministerial Secret.

Government spokesmen said the administration now would proceed with a twelve-month political and economic program which would include the drafting of a new constitution. The date for new Reichstag elections, which by law must occur within 60 days of dissolution, remained a ministerial secret.

For some time there has been agitation for remodeling of the constitution. Chancellor von Papen himself has called for a change in the election laws which would make members of the Reichstag responsible to specific constituencies and has urged the creation of an upper chamber similar to the United States Senate.

A leading Bavarian statesmen predicted last month that a new constitution, omitting all mention of the word republic, would result if the government encountered difficulties with the Reichstag.

Roosevelt Pledges Action In Fee-Splitting Practice

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 13 (A.P.).—Gov. Roosevelt, in a letter made public today, assured the city affairs committee of New York that "prompt and aggressive action" to "clarify existing abuses" in connection with alleged fee-splitting practices by New York City physicians in compensation cases would be taken by him immediately upon receipt of a report by a special committee.

The governor's announcement was contained in a letter to Paul Blanshard, executive director of the city affairs committee, in reply to a suggestion by Blanshard that the governor authorize a State inquiry into the alleged fee-splitting practices.

Fishermen on Strike Seize Storage Shrimp

Biloxi, Miss., Sept. 13 (A.P.).—Striking fishermen invaded a cold-storage plant today and seized 220 gallons of shrimp shipped to a Biloxi packing house from West Wego, La. The strikers picketed packing factories, railroad terminals and all highways and railways leading into the city in efforts to prevent the plants from receiving shrimp shipments from other States.

Leaders of the fishermen said the seized shipments will be held 48 hours, pending settlement of the strike. In case settlement fails, they said, the shrimp will be distributed to needy families.

Bern's Malady Entirely Mental, Physician Says

San Pedro, Calif., Sept. 13 (A.P.).—Dr. Edward P. Jones, personal physician to Paul Bern, self-slain film producer and writer, who cabled from Honolulu he "understood the motive" for Bern's suicide, arrived from the islands today.

'Bern's suicide was due to an acute melancholia and nervous strain which developed into a mania," Dr. Jones said. "His case was entirely mental. He was in good physical condition when I left for Honolulu." Dr. Jones said he would not issue a statement until he had conferred with Louis B. Mayer, film executive, and others.

INSULL PROBE FINDS $226,510,977 LOSS

Auditor Discloses Combine Had Only $9,721 Cash When It Collapsed.

Chicago, Sept. 13 (A.P.).—An auditor's report blazoned in red figures today the staggering deficit of $226,510,977 on the balance sheet of Insull Utility Investments, Inc., an investment trust.

One of the leading suits in the house of cards Samuel Insull built above his vast empire of public utility operating companies that cross the American continent, Insull Utility Investments, Inc., had only $9,721 cash in the bank when it collapsed in receivership last April. Other holding and operating utilities companies headed by Insull also went into receivership last spring and he retired to Paris. Its liabilities totaled $258,003,526, overbalancing only $31,492,849 of assets.

Thus had the paper profits of its thousands of stockholders turned into overwhelming losses.

Responsibility for the debacle was not fixed by the accountants. There was only the hint of the auditors that inconsistencies in the bookkeeping system prevented a showing of losses on the accounts from the beginning of its organization in January, 1929.

United States District Judge Walter C. Lindley was in Danville, Ill., today and the report of the auditors, Arthur Anderson & Co., was filed in his absence by the receivers, George A. Cooke and Calvin Fentress.

Something of the story, dramatic and tragic for the stockholders, of Samuel Insull's effort to prop his falling investment structure with frantic purchases was told in the receiver's report. In his struggle to retain control of his gas, electricity and transportation systems he came to grips with Cyrus Eaton, Cleveland financier. He bought at inflated prices, and the report showed Insull paid Eaton $28,000,000 for securities worth only $25,027,425 at the open market price.

In Federal district court today there was filed a petition for leave to intervene in the receivership proceedings. The petitioner alleged that favored friends and associates of the Insull organization profited by $78,900,598 from stock transactions, presumably by purchase at favorable prices and sale on the open market.

State's Attorney John A. Swanson stated that he would wait "until the reports are filed, digest them thoroughly and assign men to examine the accounts." Federal agents also are keeping close track of the Insull situation, United States District Attorney Dwight H. Green declared.

into the Department of Commerce, elimination of various activities within the Veterans Bureau and the shift of the Prohibition Bureau from the Treasury to the Justice Department.

Under the terms of the economy law, the President must place executive orders before Congress for what he described yesterday as "regrouping, consolidating and reducing the number of bureaus and commissions, eliminating overlap and duplication of effort." If these executive orders do not meet with congressional objection within 60 days they become effective automatically.

The President did not discuss details yesterday of any of his intended reorganization. Within the last six months, however, he has suggested that a major part of the consolidation might be grouped under eight separate heads.

He has proposed the establishment of a public works administrator, who would supervise virtually all Government construction; a personnel administrator, who would handle all such work for all departments; an assistant secretary for public health, an assistant secretary of education, an assistant secretary for merchant marine, an assistant secretary for conservation, and assistant secretaries for agricultural research and agricultural economics.

Under these offices the President would combine similar activities now spread through various Government departments or conducted separately by each department.

President's Statement.

In his statement yesterday the President said:

"Upon my recommendation the Congress at its session gave to the President authority to reorganize the executive branches of the Government by regrouping, consolidating and reducing the number of bureaus and commissions, eliminating overlap and duplication of effort in order to bring about large economies.

"Under the provisions of the law, the President is to issue executive orders covering such changes, and these orders are to be transmitted to Congress, to become effective after 60 calendar days, should Congress not disapprove of them.

"The law creating the Bureau of the Budget provides that that bureau, on direction of the President, shall make detailed studies for purposes of determining changes in the executive organization.

"I have today directed that the director of the budget shall set up the staff to make the necessary detailed investigations and prepare executive orders for reorganization of the whole structure of the Federal Government."

The Business Upturn

More Plants Call Men Back to Work as Orders Increase; Definite Recovery Signs Are Reported at Convention of Commerce Leaders.

(Associated Press.)

Business developments yesterday included:

New York—The Kleinert Rubber Co. has called 800 former employes back to work on a resumed five-day-a-week schedule because of increased business.

Nashwauk, Minn.—Three hundred former employes of the iron ore mine of Butler Brothers have resumed work after a layoff over the summer. Both a day and night shift is to be operated for a month or six weeks. Mine officials said the increased operations have been undertaken as a relief measure and not because of increased business.

Halifax, N. S.—American, Canadian, and British representatives at the opening of the seventh annual convention of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce agreed that the upturn in business has been reached and that there are definite signs for increased activities.

Youngstown, Ohio—The construction of the $1,000,000 proposed 13-mile railroad link between this steel district and the Ohio River will start as soon as legal difficulties have been surmounted by the Montour Railroad, the Youngstown Vindicator said. The railroad would give Youngstown steel mills advantage of river rates, now enjoyed by mills in the Pittsburgh district.

Centralia, Ill.—A survey of this southern Illinois area showed a rapid upturn in general business since resumption of coal mining under a new wage scale a month ago. Merchants reported their stores of merchandise at the lowest point in months. Centralia business leaders estimated 1,000 persons here have been added to pay rolls of mines, factories, shops and smaller industries.

St. Paul, Minn.—Addition of 100 employes was announced by Griggs, Cooper & Co., food producers and wholesalers. Increased business was responsible.

Richmond, Va.—Robert S. Christian, jr., secretary and general manager of the Virginia Baking Co., said that his concern has increased its capacity 30 per cent and is operating with the largest force in the past three or four years. Twenty-five new employes were taken on last week, he said, bringing the pay roll to 150 men.

POWER UNIT'S BOOKS ALTERED, IS CHARGE

Federal Examiner Testifies to Changes to Conform to Directors' Acts.

(Associated Press.)

Charles Nodder, commission examiner, yesterday tetsified before the Federal Trade Commission that the Associated Properies, Inc., until last March owned by the Associated Gas & Electric Co., had changed the minutes of directors' meetings so they "would agree with the actual corporate action."

The Trade Commission, in resuming its study of public utilities ordered by the Senate four years ago, was told by Nodder that he had discovered some discrepancies in the minutes involving actual records of dividends paid.

When he noticed these differences, he testified, he again compared his extracts from minutes with the originals, finding indications "that in a large number of cases the minutes had been changed or rewritten."

Even as revised, Nodder added, there still remained discrepancies. He said he was emphasizing that point because minutes usually are considered "true records of official corporate actions," but that in this case changes were made to "agree with the actual corporate action as evidenced by the books of account."

Nodder presented an analysis of assets and liabilities of the Associated Gas & Electric Co., which has direct or indirect control of operating utilities in 26 States, Canada and the Philippines, and also discussed write-ups on the books of the Associated Electric Co., which, until March, 1932, was owned by Associated Properties, Inc.

Oscar Haws Dies; 1898 War Veteran

Owner of Express Business Was Member of Several Fraternal Orders.

Oscar E. Haws, 57 years old, a resident of Washington for 30 years and proprietor of a local express business, died yesterday at the residence, 16 Sixth street southeast.

Mr. Haws was a member of the Maccabees, the Eagles, the Masonic order, the Spanish War Veterans, the Junior O. U. A. M. and the Southeast Business Men's Association. He is survived by the widow, Mrs. Carrie Haws.

R.F.C. GIVES WATER LOAN IN CALIFORNIA

Award of $40,000,000 Will Enable Work to Start on Piping Project.

(Associated Press.)

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation yesterday opened its campaign for creating employment through self-liquidating loans by agreeing to lend $40,000,000 to the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California.

The loan, to be advanced $20,000,000 a year for the next two years, will enable thirteen southern California cities, united in the district, to start work on the giant project of piping water from the Colorado River over mountains and desert a distance of 239 miles. The corporation will buy $40,000,000 of 5 per cent bonds of the district.

The cities which will obtain water from the system are Los Angeles, Long Beach, Pasadena, Beverly Hills, Anaheim, Burbank, Compton, Glendale, San Marino, Santa Ana, Santa Monica, Torrance and Fullerton. The work is expected to take at least six years.

The scheme, one of the most ambitious water supply plans ever attempted, calls for a diversion dam in the Colorado River near Parker, Ariz., and construction of 85 miles of tunnels 16 feet in diameter through the mountain; 75 miles of concrete-lined open aqueduct; 55 miles of buried concrete piping and 24 miles of syphon to carry water across valleys. Five pumping stations to be operated by power from the Hoover Dam will be constructed to carry the water over the mountains. The project eventually will cost $283,586,000.

The first two years will be spent in building 196 miles of permanent gravel road and 102 miles of secondary highways, 180 miles of temporary water system and 323 miles of high-tension electric transmission lines. Tunnel work will be started in 30 places and 20 camps built for workmen.

The corporation announcement, made by Harvey C. Couch, a director, said that 1,000 men probably will be employed by the end of this year and 4,500 by July 1, 1933.

LAWRENCE J. O'DEA RITES.

Former Policeman Will be Buried in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

Funeral services for Lawrence J. O'Dea, 67, for more than 35 years a member of the Metropolitan Police Department, who died Monday at his residence, 714 Fifth street northeast, after a long illness, will be held at his home tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock followed by interment in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

Mr. O'Dea was a native of Washington, received his schooling here and was appointed to the police force in August, 1892. He retired in June, 1928.

Besides his wife, Mrs. Ellen T. O'Dea, he is survived by five daughters and three sons, all of this city. Mr. O'Dea was a cousin of Detective Sergeant Larry O'Dea, chief of the hold-up and robbery squad.

Modern...
WITHIN the past few years, remarkable advances have been made in the field of transportation. So, too, has progress been made in the modernization of the Electric Range. Today, Electric Cookery is as fast as any other cooking method. In addition, it is much cooler, much cleaner and more economical.
When you cook Electrically you cook without flame, therefore without soot, smoke, odor and fumes. All of the heat is used in the cooking process and none of it is forced around the outside of your cooking utensils and into your kitchen. All of the superior advantages of Modern Electric Cookery are available to the average family at an operating cost of less than $3 per month. Your neighborhood electrical dealer will gladly tell you how you can make your kitchen a Modern Electric Kitchen. Ask him today.

MONTGOMERY HORSE SHOW DRAWS 2,000

Fox Hunters' Association Exhibition Has Auspicious Start at Rockville.

More than 2,000 spectators turned out for the first annual horse show of the Montgomery County Fox Hunters Association yesterday at the Rockville, Md., Fair Grounds. The show got off to a picturesque start with a cavalcade of the participants, led by gayly caparisoned fox hunters.

In a day replete with exhibitions of riding ability, the only spill was that of Miss Margaret Cotter, of Bethesda, whose wrist was broken when her horse stumbled. She was riding Smilin' Thru in tthe green hunters' class.

The equestrian ability of 13-year-old Fred Hughes, jr., son of Fred Hughes, of Poolesville, was one of the outstanding features of the show. The heavy draft class included some of the finest teams in the county and the pony class for children was one of the most interesting events.

Winners in the various classes were:

Six-horse team—Harry Fraley, Derwood, first, and A. F. Thompson, Gaithersburg, second. Four-horse team—F. J. Buchanan, Silver Spring, first, and Thomas Hyde, Sandy Spring, second. Two-horse-team—Joe Hutton, Brookville, first.

Brood mare with suckling foal—A. F. Thompson, first and second. Heavy draft, colt foaled—A. F. Thompson, first. Driving contest—A. F. Thompson, first, and Harry Fraley, second. Colts foaled in 1930 suitable to become hunters—Rain King, Mrs. Thomas F. Mott, Bethesda, first; Silver Moon, Harry Fraley, second, and Silver Lady, Mrs. John Banks Berry, Rockville, third.

Ponies, 11 bands—Reds, Jimmie Briggs, 1013 Twenty-ninth street northwest, first; Tuck, White Front Saddle and Hunt, Falls Church, Va., second, and Nellie, Fred Hughes, Poolesville, third. Ponies under 12.2 hands—Nancy, Tom Hyde 4th, Olney, first; Jerry, Tommy Ladson, Olney, second, and Indian Chief, William Barr, Washington, third.

Children's jumping class — Dictator, Howard R. Norton, Washington, first; Tuck, White Front Saddle and Hunt, second, and Delicious, Thomas T. Mott 2d, Bethesda, third. Jumps not to exceed 32 inches—Smiling Thru, Miss Margaret Cotter, Bethesda, first; Impulse, Miss Cotter, second, and Concise, Louise Herron, Bethesda, third. Pony harness class—Reds, Jimmie Briggs, Washington, first; Jerry, Tommy Ladson, Olney, second, and Tuck, White Front Saddle and Hunt, third.

Handy horse around farm—Dexter, John Lambert, Rockville, first; The Clown, Boyd Keys, Silver Spring, second; Sister White, Front Saddle and Hunt, third. Local saddle horse, walk, trot and canter—Question, Margaret Hill, Bethesda, first; Dan, O. W. Anderson, Rockville, second, and Concise, Louise Herron, Bethesda, third. Open saddle class, Park type—Buckeye, Howard R. Norton, Washington, first; Rascal, W. J. Aitcheson, Laurel, second, and Winnie Winkle, Mrs. John Banks Berry, Rockville, third.

Handy hunters—Papoose, Louise Herron, Bethesda, first; Tunderbolt, Ralph Counselman, Bethesda, second, and Question Mark, Mrs. W. G. Hill, Bethesda, third. Green hunters—Lucky Find, Fred W. Hughes, Poolesville, first; Goldfoil, F. M. Leopold, Washington, second, and Snippy, Charles Carrico, Bethesda, third.

Road hack class—Howard R. Norton, first; Mrs. W. G. Hill, second, and Mrs. Charles Carrico, third. Ladies' riding class—Claire Eleanor Diamond, Gaithersburg, first; Concise, Miss Louise Herron, Bethesda, second, and Pollyanna, Miss Margaret Hill, Bethesda, third. Southern Maryland Rum Raids Net Six Alleged Liquor Cargo and Two Autos Also Taken by Federal Agents.

Six Washingtonians, four of them colored, were arrested yesterday in southern Maryland by Federal dry agents who also seized 36 gallons of whisky and two automobiles. Two brothers, Albert Swann, 25, and Earl Swann, 17, both of 105 E street northeast, were arrested near Oxon Hill, and charged with transportation and possession of one case of alleged liquor which was found in their car.

Another auto stopped near Piscataway was found to contain two colored men, two colored girls, and 30 gallons of reputed whisky. The prisoners gave their names as Johnny Walker, 25, of 219 C street southwest; Ardie Payne, 38, of 314 Four-and-a-half street southwest; Annola Davis, 20, of 723 Third street southwest, and Elsie Brown, of 812 Third street southwest. All were charged with transportation and possession.

The six prisoners were brought before U. S. Commissioner J. Frank Parran in Marlboro, who committed them to jail. Commissioner Parran also held Joseph Gray, of Charles County, for Federal Court in Baltimore on a charge of possessing 8 cases of whisky. Gray's bond was set at $500.

DAVIS SURRENDERS ON FUNDS CHARGES

Former Takoma Park Official Bailed in Alleged Embezzlement.

Bryan Davis, former town clerk and treasurer of Takoma Park, Md., yesterday surrendered to State's Attorney Stedman Prescott, of Montgomery County, and was arrested on charges of embezzlement of town funds.

The former clerk, whose accounts are alleged to show shortages of $12,809 in an audit report presented to the mayor and council of Takoma Park, Md., Monday night by the auditing firm of D. N. Burnham, of Washington, appeared unimpressed by the charge, although he submitted quietly to the formalities.

Young Davis appeared at the courthouse with his father, former Mayor Ben G. Davis of Takoma and his counsel, J. Bond Smith, former corporation counsel. They went to the office of State's Attorney Prescott and stated that the younger Davis was ready to submit to arrest.

The audit report had been presented to the State's attorney Monday by the newly appointed corporation council of Takoma, E. Barrett Prettyman, of Chevy Chase, Md. Mr. Prescott made it plain that he was ordering the warrant on the basis of the audit report as presented to him by the town official.

The warrant was sworn out by Chief of Police Alvie A. Moxley and served on Davis. The party then went to the office of Frank Davis, clerk of the County Police Court, who accepted real estate bond of $2,500 pending action by the grand jury. The bond was posted by the father and son together.

Dr. L. P. Tayloe's Funeral Is Today

Vienna, Va., Physician to Be Buried in Arlington Cemetery.

Funeral services for Dr. Lomax Plater Tayloe, 57, will be held at 1 p. m., today from the late residence in Vienna, Va., the Rev. Herbert A. Donovan, rector of the Holy Comforter Church of Vienna, officiating. Burial will be at 2:30 in the Arlington National Cemetery. Pallbearers will be Dr. John D. Thomas, of Washington; E. H. Russell, Phillip Stern, and Amos Chilicott, of Vienna, and B. S. Gillispie and R. M. Loughborough, of Fairfax.

Dr. Tayloe was born in Orange County, Va. He was graduated from the Medical College of Virginia in Richmond in 1912 and began practice in Fairfax County, in 1914. During the World War he enlisted in the Army Medical Corps. He again took up private practice in Vienna following his discharge and continued until a few years ago when ill health caused him to retire.

Ritchie Heads Guests Today At Sligo Bridge Dedication

Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland heads the group of Maryland and District officials who will attend dedication exercises at 4 p. m. today at the new bridge over Sligo Creek on Carroll avenue, Takoma Park, Md.

Attired in colonial costume, two Takoma Park girls will meet the guests at the center of the span and then sever the ribbons barring the bridge so that the party may pass over.

The assembly will be called to order by Gordon W. Bonnette, president of the Takoma Park Chamber of Commerce, with invocation by the Rev. R. Paul Schearrer, pastor of Takoma Park Presbyterian Church. Mr. Bonnette will give the welcome and then introduce the chairman, Dr. H. H. Votaw.

Speakers will be Gov. Ritchie, Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d, of the National Capital Park and Planning Commission; Maj. E. Brooke Lee, of the Maryland State Roads Commission; J. Enos Ray, of Chillum, chairman of the Maryland Democratic State central committee; Capt. H. C. Whitehurst, director of District highways; Lacy Shaw, president of the Montgomery County Commissioners, and Dr. Frederick L. Lewton, mayor of Takoma Park.

The officials will be guests of the Takoma Park Sanitarium and Hospital at dinner after the exercises.

Arlington Gets Red Cross Funds

Chapter Treasury Empty, but Advance Given; Flour Received.

The Arlington County Chapter, American Red Cross, has exhausted its funds for the current year, but has obtained an advance from the national organization to continue its work in caring for former service men, according to Mrs. Bertha Kelly, chairman.

Demands upon the local chapter have been unusually heavy this year because of the unemployment situation.

The funds borrowed from the national organization must be returned from the membership enrollment in November. Many activities in addition to the home service work have been carried on by the chapter during the year, but some of these may have to be discontinued unless an increased membership is obtained in this year's roll call. Plans are under way, Mrs. Kelly states, to organize groups throughout the county to make into clothing the cloth obtained by the Red Cross from the cotton allotted it by the Federal Farm Board. The local chapter, she says, has obtained a shipment of Red Cross flour for distribution to needy families.

ARLINGTON JUNIOR COLLEGE IS SOUGHT

BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

A petition bearing the names of 20 graduates of the Washington-Lee High School was filed yesterday with the principal, S. P. Vanderslice, requesting the establishment of a junior college at the school.

The petition set forth that it would give the students opportunity to remain at home while completing the first and second year of college work at a greatly reduced cost.

Mr. Vanderslice stated the school officials are favorable to the establishment of a junior college providing a sufficient enrollment can be obtained to assure that no part of the cost will have to be met from present school funds, as at this time there are no funds available to carry on such a project.

In order to assure success it was pointed out by Mr. Vanderslice that at least an enrollment of 30 students will be required during the first year and increased to 50 when both the first and second years of the course are completed.

Courses would be given during the first year in English, mathematics, social science, science, psychology, French and Spanish.

If the enrollment can be obtained which he felt confident would be, it is planned to immediately obtain the approval of the State Board of Education and to open the college before September 20.

Hours for classes will be determined when other details are completed, according to Mr. Vanderslice.

SCHOOL BUS SERVICE EXTENSION REFUSED

Lack of Funds Causes Decision by Prince Georges Education Board.

Four requests for extensions of school bus lines were presented to the Prince Georges County school board at its monthly meeting yesterday, but all were refused for lack of funds.

A large delegation from Silver Hill was headed by Henry Witt, Walter Latimer and Lester Bailey. This group asked for a bus line from the community to the Surrattsville High School, for the benefit of about 25 high school students. Formerly these children went to school on a public bus line, which was discontinued this summer, leaving them without transportation. The delegation promised that the Parent-Teacher Association of the school would provide $250 of the necessary $1,000.

Extension of one Marlboro line to Meadows, and of another to Hills Bridge were also requested. The fourth request was for a line to carry nine pupils of Glenn Dale colored school to some other institution. The school was closed for lack of attendance, but there is no provision in the Maryland school law for a bus to carry less than twelve pupils.

The board also announced that a night scholarship to the Maryland Institute of Art, in Baltimore, had been awarded to Theodore R. Beland, of Riverdale.

Outside Counsel to Help Prosecute Ball Favored

Indorsement of the addition of outside counsel to aid Commonwealth's Attorney Lawrence Douglas of Arlington County at the trial of Wade E. Ball, county official, on charges of misappropriation of public funds, was given last night by the Rosslyn Precinct Civic League in a resolution adopted by the group.

The league also went on record in opposition to the recent application for a permit to erect a refuse plant at the intersection of Jefferson Davis highway and Columbia pike. The league passed a resolution urging semiannual collection of taxes in Arlington County.

Arlington Democrats Hold Reception Tonight

The Arlington County Democratic headquarters, in the Reese Building, was put in shape through the cooperation of the Arlington County Woman's Democratic Club yesterday for the reception and entertainment which mark its opening tonight.

The spacious room has been completely furnished and tables have been provided upon which will be found information for both the new and old voter. Robert A. Cooper, former Governor of South Carolina, and Mrs. Lydia M. Francis, who is in charge of the woman's activities of the national Democratic committee, will be the guests of honor.

BUYING WAVE SWEEPS NATION ON NEW OIL BURNER

Savings of millions of dollars in heating costs settles the question of oil heat for homeowners everywhere

Famous giant Petro now reduced in size for homes of 5 to 15 rooms. Provides hot water summer and winter. Special introductory price. Built by the originators of automatic oil heat.

For years, giant Petros have been heating some of the world's largest buildings . . . and saving them hundreds of thousands of dollars. Costing as much as $55,000, these perfectly engineered installations were not made to save some one shoveling coal. They were bought to save money!

Lowest Prices in History

It is this same burner in junior size that you can now have in your home to give you the same degree of economy. It has every operating principle . . . every important detail of design . . . the same precision in manufacture and the same reliability. Yet the price is the lowest ever placed on any Petro or Nokol listed by the Underwriters' Laboratories to burn No. 3 oil.

All that we have learned from our 29 years of experience in this industry and from providing automatic oil heat to more than 550,000 persons from coast to coast is now embodied in this one, simple new burner built especially to cut heating costs in homes of 5 to 15 rooms.

National Public Service Plan

Under this special purchase plan your small monthly payments automatically provide complete service, all new parts, repairs and labor for as long as five years. Nothing else to pay for but oil, which is at the lowest prices in history.

Plenty of Hot Water Summer and Winter

This same burner in your present heating plant with a special Petro & Nokol heating unit, gives you all the hot water you need for kitchen and bath . . . summer and winter . . . at a lower cost than any other automatic system. Your local Petro & Nokol dealer has it on display.

"Mary, your days of furnace worries are over." "And think, John, how much it will save us."

Giant Reduced to Home Size

Note the contrast—yet the similarity of these two oil burners. One, the giant Petro installed in a 300 h. p. boiler used in some of the world's largest buildings, such as the Ritz-Carlton Hotel, where it saved $25,490 in 6 months. The other in the engineer's hands—the new Petro & Nokol "home size" oil burner, also shown above installed in a typical domestic heating plant. How simple it is!

THE MAINE PORTENT.

The Democratic victory in Maine is a staggering blow to the Republican party. It reveals that two powerful currents are sweeping voters into opposition to the Hoover administration. One of these is deep dissatisfaction and a determination to make a change. The other is the wet movement.

The Republican candidates in Maine were too dry to suit the voters. Republicans there could not convince the majority that the Republican plan for handling the liquor problem is better than the straight-out demand of the Democrats for repeal. To the extent that the liquor question entered into the contest, the Democrats had the better of it.

Probably the chief cause of Republican losses, however, is public discontent and a desire for a change. The Democratic candidate for Governor might not have been elected merely because he was wet. Economic disaffection undoubtedly contributed to his victory.

The hopes of the Republican party this year are based upon the argument that the depression was not of Republican making, but that recovery from the depression is a herculean labor which only President Hoover can perform; that he has perfected plans for recovery and is putting them into effect, with visible results already; that the opposition has no recovery plans, and if placed in power would delay if not defeat recovery; that returning good times will rapidly wipe out public disaffection and restore confidence in President Hoover.

Against this postulate it may be urged that millions of unemployed are bitterly discontented and that there is not sufficient time between now and the election to change this sentiment; that business generally has not improved, in spite of the President's reconstruction efforts; that the Republican party is "shot to pieces" in Congress and can not be expected to function effectively at the next session; that the revolt against the eighteenth amendment is taking the form of a determination to repeal it outright, and that the Republican position on this question is not satisfactory to the great majority.

The slowness of the Republican national committee in prosecuting this campaign is another handicap to the Hoover candidacy. Mr. Hoover has had to do all the campaigning himself. No great political leader has appeared on the Republican side. The party has been on the defensive for a long time, during which Democratic strategy has capitalized discontent. The Republican national committee seems to wait for Mr. Hoover to make every move, instead of striking out in his behalf. It should have presented his side of the case involving the eviction of bonus rioters from Washington, but it did not. Consequently, millions of ill-informed voters have been taught to believe that the President ruthlessly and needlessly employed armed troops against defenseless men, women and children.

If the ominous Maine results serve to arouse the fighting spirit of the Republican party the campaign may take on a different complexion. September usually frightens the Republican party into action. It is not a bad thing for the Republican party or for the country to face the prospect of a complete turnover in November. The parties and candidates will fight with redoubled vigor, and issues will be more sharply defined. Millions of voters need information, and they have not been receiving it from either party organization.

REORGANIZATION PLANS.

President Hoover intends to go ahead with a sweeping reorganization of the Government departments and bureaus in spite of the limited powers granted him by the last Congress. The entire structure of the Government will be scrutinized with a view to consolidating related agencies, avoiding duplication and cutting down expenditures. The President does not have authority to put these changes into effect immediately. Congress must be allowed 60 days to wrangle over them and make such changes in his plan as it considers necessary. But at least Mr. Hoover's efforts will bring the issue to a showdown.

For many years feeble attempts have been made to reorganize the Government agencies. President Harding appointed a commission that made a comprehensive study of the problem. But Congress was opposed to any changes that might reduce the number of jobs open to constituents. Nothing was done about the report of this commission, and it is now safely pigeonholed.

President Hoover has a better chance to effect economies in this direction, because indifference or disagreement on the part of Congress will not hinder the consolidations he proposes. Unless Congress can actually defeat his plans they will become effective. In this era of high taxes and hard times public opinion will doubtless rally to the support of the President, and Congress will be cautious about defeating obvious economies. Prospects for a satisfactory reorganization of the Government service appear brighter than at any time in recent years.

A FOOLISH ADVENTURE.

Fate has been extremely kind to George R. Hutchinson, who risked the lives of his wife and two daughters in a silly attempt to make a family tour by airplane across the Atlantic. Hope of saving any member of the so-called "flying family" was virtually abandoned when news came that they had been found in a small Eskimo settlement on the coast of Greenland. Only good fortune saved them from a grave in the icy Arctic waters.

Under any circumstances navigation by air of the northern route from America to Europe is a perilous journey. At present it is especially hazardous because the severe Arctic winter has set in. The last boat of the season has left Angmagsalik. Treacherous weather may be expected. The Hutchinson family will be fortunate indeed if it is not compelled to spend the winter in the frozen north.

It is difficult to speak in restrained terms of a man who subjects his wife and children to these dangers for the empty distinction of piloting the first plane to carry a family across the Atlantic by air. The man who risks his own life in a useless exploit of this kind is seriously lacking in discretion. It is something worse than lack of discretion when a careless adventurer tempts death with the lives of his children, who are too young to sense danger.

Fate has been kind to the Hutchinsons in another way. The airplane in which they were making this foolhardy trip was completely wrecked. By reason of that good luck Hutchinson is prevented from continuing the flight.

It is to be hoped that no one will ever again seek the "distinction" of being first to navigate the Atlantic sky with his family.

CHINA'S THREAT TO FIGHT.

Recognition by Tokyo of the state of Manchukuo, formed under the protecting wing of the Japanese army, may precipitate a new era in troubled Manchuria. Chairman Lin Sen of the Chinese government announces that if the recognition is carried out tomorrow as planned it will be a signal for the opening of a Chinese punitive campaign against the puppet government of Pu-Yi and his Japanese supporters. Without divulging plans or details Mr. Lin intimates that military preparations have been made for this movement.

During all the months since the Japanese conquest of Manchuria began there has never been any formal opposition offered by regular Chinese troops. The two efforts of the ill-fated General Mah to combat the Japanese advance in the far north doubtless received indirect assistance from China, but no effective reinforcements. If, now, the new spirit of resistance that animates China and the enthusiasm seething in the cities mean that the Chinese are at last roused to the point of sending an army in an attempt to recover the lost provinces, Manchuria is destined to be the scene of much more severe fighting than any it has yet experienced.

If China is determined upon this policy her intentions are undoubtedly known in Tokyo, and may explain the feverish activity with which Japan has been importing war supplies and pushing production of combat material in all her factories night and day. This intensive production has recently seemed justified by the alarming spread of banditry and irregular opposition that Japanese forces were encountering throughout Manchuria, but if to the widespread guerrilla fighting is to be added an attack by a regular Chinese army, the invasion will prove a still heavier burden upon Japan.

BULGAR LABOR ARMY.

The treaty of 1919 limited Bulgaria's military army to 20,000, all of whom must be volunteers. A compulsory labor army, however, was organized in 1920 which has 200,000 members. Neighboring nations regard this army as a potential military force, organized actually as a reserve and, therefore, in violation of the peace treaty. This organization has been brought to the attention of the League of Nations on various occasions. The discussion of this body caused Lady Muir, the former Nadejda Stancoiff, daughter of the Bulgarian minister to London, to write an article for the London Spectator on this subject.

Every young man in Bulgaria, according to Lady Muir, is at the age of 18 made liable to serve eight months in a labor company. After this he, like all other adults, may be called upon to serve yearly for a period not exceeding 21 days. Children, too, are required to do a number of days' work each year for the common cause. More than 45,000 youths reach service age yearly, which means that about 750,000 adults are permanently subject to the service.

When a young man is called upon he is given a week's drill and instruction to accustom him to the idea of discipline. He is then equipped with a gray cap and uniform bearing the motto: "Work for Bulgaria," and is set to work. He receives no salary, but is supplied with clothing and food. The workers sleep in tents or barracks and are under strict discipline. They have bands and songs and swear allegiance to their king and country before going to work. Groups of 100 to 150 under a leader have their own kitchens and gardens, and supply almost all their own needs within the unit. Some groups make shoes and clothing for the rest, while others are taught canning, agriculture, forestry and trades.

The labor army has built new railroad lines, roads and buildings. Thousands of acres of swamp lands have been reclaimed, and light and water systems installed in villages. The state made a clear profit of about $2,000,000 from this army during 1930, with figures for last year even higher. King Boris urges the army on, telling them their work will bring prosperity of the old days and that every stroke of pick or ax contributes to the recovery of Bulgaria.

DEMAGOGUES AT PORTLAND.

Demagogy has never before come to blossom at an American Legion convention as it did when the veterans opened their annual session at Portland. The Legion is undergoing one of the most severe tests it has ever met. Quackery and partisanship are challenging the patriotism to which the Legion is bound by its constitution.

It is contrary to the spirit of the Legion, as well as to the letter of its charter, to indulge in politics or to disseminate partisan dogma. Speakers who appeared before the Legion were well aware of that tradition. Yet Mayor Curley, of Boston, indulged in one of the most vicious soap-box orations that has been heard in the present campaign. Josephus Daniels, wartime Secretary of the Navy, insulted the veterans by suggesting a pledge that they would never again defend their country in a time of emergency because Congress has not paid them the bonus that will become due in 1945.

Mayor Curley became hysterical in his zeal to swing the Legion over to the Democratic party and forgot to stick to the facts. His statement that veterans "were shot down like dogs in the Capital of the Nation" because "they pleaded for that to which they are entitled" is so weighted down with false implications and political animus as to earn for him the contempt of every sober-minded veteran. If the American Legion were to take seriously this sort of drivel, its usefulness would end before another year.

Mr. Daniels was no less intemperate in his own way. He pictured the veterans as the unjust victims of a harsh and cruel policy. "Under these circumstances," he said, "seeing that many veterans are without work or food or shelter, we here and now swear we will never again respond to the call of arms." This pitiful display of patriotism in reverse was accompanied by an impassioned plea to the Legion to "go into politics."

These assaults upon the integrity of the Legion endanger its continued existence as a body devoted to the welfare of the Nation. Fortunately the Legion contains many men who understand the perils into which that organization is invited by demagogues. Indications are that the Legion will not be drawn into the vortex of the political fight by this type of destroyers. A subcommittee on resolutions has defeated a motion to censure President Hoover for ordering out the troops to put down the bonus riot. The leaders have not lost their heads. It remains to be seen whether the rank and file of the Legion can be stampeded into rash and silly action by the sophistry of politicians who have an ax to grind.

THE IDEAL OF LIBERTY

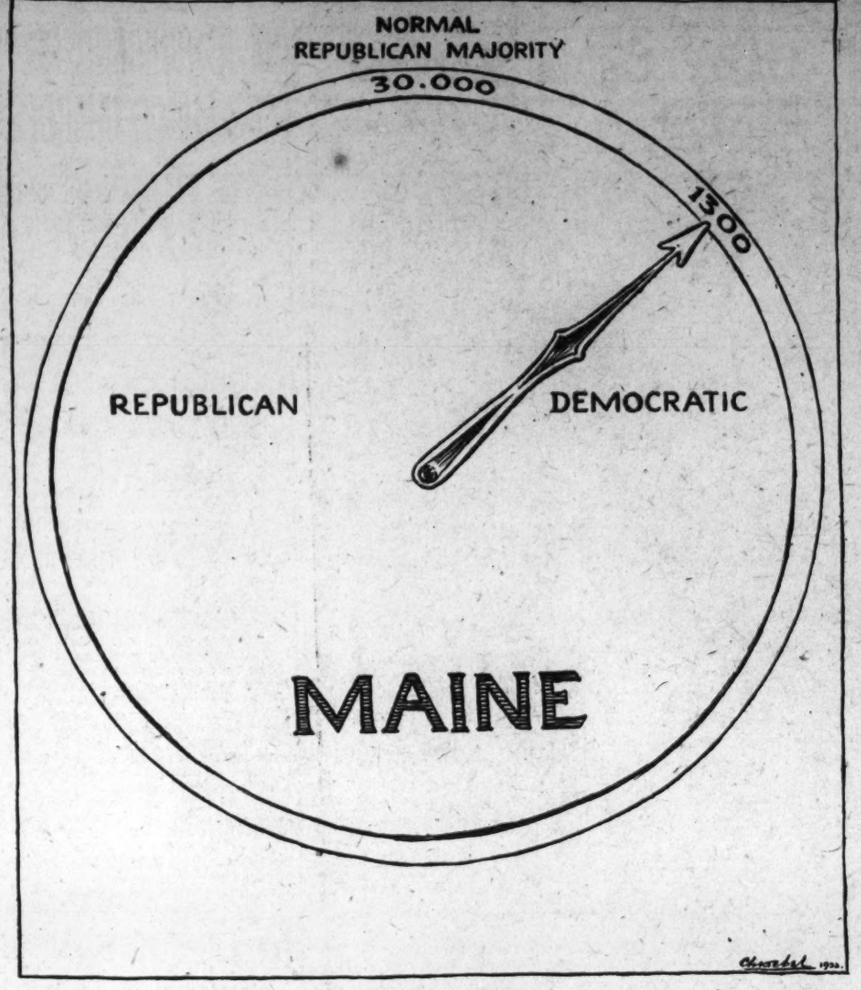
From the Cincinnati Enquirer.

The past week marked the 175th anniversary of the birth of Lafayette. Though an aristocrat of the ancient regime, he had envisioned the ideal of human liberty. When he heard of the experiment of independence upon which the colonies were entering he joined those young European volunteers who came overseas from Germany and Poland, placing his sword and services under the command of Washington. Nothing prevented him. He overcame many serious and dangerous difficulties in the way of his desire.

More than Von Steuben, more than Kosciusko or Pulaski, he stirred and caught the imagination of America—still is remembered and revered as one of the outstanding heroes of the Revolution. The friendship between himself and Washington became deep and lasting. He was young and Washington had attained mature years, yet they worked together as superior champions in the cause of freedom.

Nobleman and courtier as he was, Lafayette was no carpet soldier. He willingly shared the privations and hardships of the struggling revolutionists. He was a brilliant commander. He had a passion for justice. He aided greatly in paving the way for our present national progress and importance among the nations of the world.

Lafayette's subsequent return and triumphant tour of America constitutes one of the most attractive incidents in our history. A new generation received him with veneration and loud acclaim. He still lives in our memory as a gallant youth dashing through the hurtle of battle in the days when liberty was trying her infant wings—the boy soldier who won and held the regard and affection of America's great first President and of the devoted and ragged armies, and then carried the matured ideal of freedom back to his own homeland.



The Deadly Indicator.

POST HASTE.

Maine's dilatory returns suggest the advisability of importing a few Germans to give lessons in vote counting before the November elections.

Democratic objections to moratoriums do not apply to the '28 campaign deficit, which remains static at $449,639, interfering with current radio funds.

The threat of Gandhi, the forgotten man, to starve if the "depressed classes" are allotted votes doesn't sound very democratic to this country.

Germany tries mixing a disintegrated ministry and a dissolved Reichstag, but it has not resulted in a solution.

Well, for goodness sakes, who would think Washington suburbs would get worked up over a wet issue that refers merely to water?

Two points seem reasonably clear in the bonus army dispute; one that District officials differ on facts and the other that Gen. Glassford will soon be a retired police as well as Army officer.

On September 15 Japan will sign a treaty with Manchukuo that is described as basic. China agrees to the first syllable.

If the average volume of export trade were restored today the gain would only equal a tenth of what is to be recovered at home, so why fuss about it?

Editor Smith says he has never read books. Al must frequently join Alice in wonderment as to what his scholarly gubernatorial-candidatorial successor is alluding at.

It's rather reassuring to see that the market can take a fairly stiff sock on the chin and not go groggy.

After hearing Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen's radio address it is not hard to understand how she talked herself out of Congress with 300 speeches in Florida.

As frank and statesmanlike an expression as Al Smith's on bonus demands and the dangerous influence of organized minority groups would be a welcome emanation from the campaign train speeding West.

"Tammany leaders to advise Walker not to run." James will probably be smart enough to make such action unnecessary.

Mr. Coolidge's speech, to be delivered when he donates to the campaign fund the pay for his Saturday Post article, will attract much interest, particularly in how much he got.

Now the Hutchinson family is safe it can be said that the flight was a fool idea from the start and they should come home and quit worrying the world. PAUL HUDSON.

JUST FOLKS

THREE FEARS.

Nothing to fear save bitterness
And envy and crimson shame,
And whether the purse hold more or less
These terrors stay the same.

For loss may be a friend disguised
Like rains which drench the soil,
And though the luxuries are prized
The best joys come from toil.

And so let's face the coming year
And bravely play the game,
We've only these three things to fear:
Bitterness, envy, shame!

We'll play the game with heads erect,
Come, failure or success,
No shame in us shall men detect,

Men Traveling to Gold Fields Don't Fight for Land Along the Way.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

THE Japanese measure a child's age from the time of conception. They recognize birth as nothing more than the beginning of a second form of life.

If the unborn child could reason, it would say to itself: "This form of life can not be the whole of my destiny. I am developing lungs and delicate senses for which I have no present use. Evidently I am being prepared for another existence in a mysterious world of which I have no knowledge."

Is life on earth the last of man's existence? Within twenty years of his birth he has attained physical maturity. He is equipped to fend for himself and wrest a living from the earth. The coming years add no essential to his equipment.

Yet he develops more and more. He learns patience, wisdom, temperance, tolerance, compassion. As he nears the end of this second existence he loses the qualities needed to overcome opposition and win temporal rewards. But he develops qualities that fit him for a better kind of life.

Nature's plan wastes nothing. Does man, then, develop these higher attributes for no purpose? Is his hard-won wisdom no more than a preparation for the grave? Would Nature prepare him for a third and higher form of life if his destiny ended here?

The race of man seems to possess an instinctive belief in a future life. The belief has been shared by every race in every land in every age.

You believe or you disbelieve. You may pretend this or that, but in your heart you know. You believe there is a future life or you believe the grave is the end.

If the grave is the end, you need have no other concern than the enjoyment of earth's pleasures. Take what you can get, by such means as may be necessary, without regard for anything except your own safety. Gratify your senses, for life can have no higher purpose.

But if there is another life, this one is a preparation for it. All experience, bitter or pleasant, is training for the higher existence. The hurts you feel now matter little if they serve as lessons. Apparent failures may be triumphs if they prepare you for a better life.

If there is another life, it is childish folly to lust for gain in this one. The prince in training for the throne feels no urge to accumulate town lots or win petty offices.

Press Comment Upon Acts and Actors in the Great American Show, "Politics."

Boston Transcript.

Several million eyes gave heed as Calvin Coolidge took his stand shoulder to shoulder with President Hoover. No man knows better than he the work of the White House, and none commands more of the American people's faith that when he speaks of that work he speaks truth. Through six years Calvin Coolidge bore the responsibilities of this Nation's Chief Executive. He knows what are the stresses and strains of the President's duties, and how vast is the fund of information and counsel which the President must build up in order to guide well the affairs of the Nation even in time of prosperity.

A Certainty in Politics.
Kansas City Star.

How the two major political parties can be equally if not surpassingly confident of success in November is not the least incongruous or puzzling. If prospects are bright for one party, they must be so, or more so, for the other. Neither can allow itself outdone in faith and assurance. In a year of uncertainty and recession, political confidence is unshaken. It always is, especially as the election date approaches. Any sign of faltering hope would be fatal. Politics in this respect is strictly normal. It can be said on the most reliable authority that the condition will prevail, absolutely, for the next 60 days.

Perquisite.
Los Angeles Times.

Anatomical.
Dayton News.

Norman Thomas says the two older parties are spineless, but politics is not conducted on the backbone, but rather on the campaign chest.

In a Glass House.
Montevideo (Minn.) News.

In making his appeal for general participation by Democrats in meeting campaign costs, Mr. Roosevelt was on solid ground. When he used the occasion for a sideswipe at his wicked opponents for taking big money from rich people, he stumbled a bit. Not that his charge was without foundation, but because he called attention to an embarrassing situation in his own party. One rich man holds the note of the Democratic party. Mr. Raskob financed the party to the tune of several hundred thousand dollars.

Analyze the Situation.
Nebraska State Journal.

Will the voters risk a change now? The question for every voter to ask himself, to ask his doubtful friends, is what can Roosevelt do that Hoover has not done and will not do as occasion for doing it arises. What can Democracy do to bring back prosperity? When, in its long history as a party, has it ever restored prosperous conditions? What faith have the Garner House Democrats and those in the Senate inspired in an expectant nation? Analyze the situation for yourself. It is your welfare that is at stake.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

"Federal Citizen" Discusses Beautification of Washington—Inadequate Settings and Approaches to New Buildings.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: As regards Washington, the most important gathering here this fall will be the Bicentennial Conference on Planning, Parks and Government, September 18 to 25. Among other things, it will be attended by groups interested in parks, roadside beauty and architecture.

From year to year I have followed with special interest the architectural improvement of the National Capital, and I think it might be a good thing if the conference would devote one of its sessions to a round-table discussion of Government buildings, with reference to their grouping and settings.

My idea is that for a notable display in the beautification of a large city, buildings of monumental importance should stand apart or be erected in distinctive groups. The setting of a noble piece of architecture is as requisite as its structural outlines in order to enhance its esthetic worth.

I think these points have not, up to this time, been kept sufficiently in view by the city's planners.

When the building project in the Federal triangle south of Pennsylvania avenue is completed it will form an impressive group of magnificent structures. But in its full extent it will be necessary to view it in sections, so that the effect will be disordered and to some extent monotonous.

If the old Postoffice Department building, which is to be torn down, had been retained in the triangle planning, its towering medieval mass would have a splendid effect in breaking up the monotony. I feel sure that, at least any interested layman in viewing it from the north side of Pennsylvania avenue, notwithstanding the present torn-up state of the Triangle development, will agree that this is so.

Were the Triangle buildings divided into, say three groups, the effect might be more pleasing. A central group in the same general style, if you please, but designed so as by contrast to enhance the beauty of all, would be more stimulating and more to the liking of the public at large than the adopted arrangement as I visualize it.

As to their setting the Federal Triangle buildings are not altogether satisfactory. Structures of their classic design are misplaced in close proximity to each other and for the perfect enjoyment of their special charm should stand on an elevation, according to the original Grecian and Roman idea.

Let me add that this is not written in a spirit of hypercritical dissatisfaction. No one can be better pleased than I am with the free-handed manner in which the city's beautification has been commenced. No one will more fully enjoy the grandeur and the glory of Washington when the present great work of the planners is completed.

But at the same time I will never cease to feel somewhat fretful whenever I see the beauty of a fine Government building impaired and wasted for want of room in a suitable setting. And while I will continue to rejoice as the beauty of the National Capital grows from year to year, I cannot help hoping that some day the predilection for architectural sameness will be succeeded by an ambition to set a good example to other cities in the matter of a well-ordered architectural diversity.

FEDERAL CITIZEN.

Foster Tells One Thing to Russians and Another to Americans.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Any one unfamiliar with the United States at the present time, who has read William Z. Foster's recent book on communism here, would be led to believe that only in name is this country independent of Stalin's rule. Though Mr. Foster admits that there are only 15,000 members of the party in the United States and 5,000 members of the Young Communist League, he would have his reader think that every unemployment demonstration, strike or hungry march showed a solid front of Soviet sympathizers.

Those familiar with the labor movement and strikes conducted by Communists in mining, textile and garment trades, know that their outcome has left a bitter feeling of disillusionment in the minds of the workers, and it is a matter of record that workers who have once submitted to Communist leadership in a strike have not permitted themselves to be deceived twice by this group. Mr. Foster ignores this result, and attributes great revolutionary significance to the fact that the Communists have at times led the strikers in various industries. It becomes evident that the section on America is written for the Russians, and the part on Russia for American readers.

Trotsky, whom Mr. Foster once adored and extolled in the highest terms, is now denounced, and Stalin is the shrine to which Mr. Foster has transferred his adoration. As Stalin's prophet, he praises the Soviet system in the usual way of propaganda, without contributing a new idea.

Archbishop Curley Tells Of Erin's Loss by Tariff

Boston, Sept. 13 (A.P.).—Ireland's farmers are suffering heavy losses as a result of England's new tariff laws, Archbishop Michael J. Curley, of Baltimore, said today upon his arrival from Ireland.

When the White Star liner Adriatic docked early today after a battle with heavy seas, the archbishop had completed his twenty-ninth crossing of the Atlantic. He went to Ireland to attend the Eucharistic Congress and also to visit his mother, with whom he had spent the last eleven summers. He was accompanied on the return trip by Mgr. O'Dwyer, of Catholic University, Washington, D. C.

World Typographical Union Begins Sessions

Long Beach, Calif., Sept. 13 (A.P.).—With 73 propositions before the convention, half of them concerned with relief for unemployment and extension of the five-day week, the International Typographical Union at its seventy-seventh annual meeting began committee deliberations today.

Some definite policy relating to the five-day week is scheduled to be adopted, and means will be found for limiting the old age pension outlay, which last year was $1,466,897, President Charles Howard said. The fund had been depleted to $2,480,466.

5,000 Clothing Makers Start Baltimore Strike

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 13 (A. P.).—Acting on a vote taken yesterday, workers in the clothing factories and contracting shops in Baltimore today walked out in a general strike.

Half an hour after the walkout order became effective, officials of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, sponsors of the strike, said more than 5,000 workers had joined the strike for higher wages. Picketing will begin tomorrow, it was announced.

Robbers of Capital Tourists Sentenced

Niagara Falls, Ont., Sept. 13 (A.P.).—Three youths who held up and robbed a party of Washington, D. C., tourists here September 4 were sentenced today to three years each at hard labor in Portsmouth Penitentiary.

The young men, Albert O'Neil, 21; Arthur Brooks, 21, and Douglas Roberts, 18, were captured when one was found in possession of an oddly twisted tube of tooth paste owned by one of the tourists.

LARGER ALEXANDRIA COUNCIL KEPT BUSY

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

The Alexandria City Council, in its first meeting with the increased membership, last night handled one of the largest dockets in recent years.

The financial report of the city for August showed a cash balance on hand August 1 of $23,853.88; budget receipts of $12,019.84; other receipts not estimated in the budget of $153.-120.34, or total receipts of $188,994.06. The budget disbursements were $41,-008.30; other disbursements not estimated in the budget, $108,975.22, or total disbursements of $149,975.22, leaving a cash balance September 1 of $39,010.54.

Francis H. Fannon, representing a committee of the Chamber of Commerce, presented an exhaustive report of a traffic survey for the consideration of the council.

A resolution providing $1,200 for a timber culvert over Hooffs Run at Simms street was held over and the city manager instructed to obtain an estimate for a concrete structure. A resolution appropriating $14,296.59 for payment to the United States Department of Agriculture for the city's proportion of the cost of reconstructing Washington street, in connection with the Mount Vernon Memorial highway, was adopted.

Gasoline Station Rejected.

An application of John Lochran, through Attorney Frank R. Long, for a permit to erect a gasoline filling station on what is known as the "Spark Plug" property, at Pendleton and Washington streets, was denied.

A petition from residents of the 300 block South Patrick street for permission for E. L. White to hold religious meetings in this block, on recommendation of the city manager, was granted in amended form. Another petition to hold religious meetings in a tent in the square bounded by Alexandria avenue, Washington avenue and Mount Vernon avenue, was granted for two weeks, with certain restrictions.

A communication was received from E. A. Sweeley, asking the council when it is going to begin to "deflate," and citing numerous tax sales. Judge L. C. Barley, member from the second ward, stated that the standing committee has taken this matter up with the hope of reducing the budget.

City Worker Tells of Poverty.

A petition of the James W. Jackson Lodge, Junior Order of United American Mechanics, for a donation of $500 to assist in entertaining delegates to the convention in Alexandria in October, was denied.

A letter was received by the council from R. W. Culp, stating he is employed by the city for six days each month; that he has a wife and four children and has been compelled to beg food for them; that he has applied to the United Charities but only receives from that source an order for one dollar's worth of groceries a week. The letter appeals for more work and states that unless this can be given he might as well be given a "ticket to the poorhouse."

CHEER UP.

THE slump is what the doctor, well you may not realize it, but the depression has been a great thing for your health. According to a speaker at the American Congress of Physical Therapy, it takes a good big slump to keep the people of the country physically fit.

There is nothing like a depression to take the fat from a nation's waistline and eliminate those pouches under the eyes. Nothing, said the doctor, beats a slump when it comes to getting a country off rich food.

Believe it or not, if we didn't have hard times every seven years or so we would be a Nation of invalids.

We were in terrible shape, but we didn't know it. What we needed, it seems, was a wolf at the door to make us realize our physical weaknesses.

When a country gets in the condition it was in at the height of the bull market, there is nothing to do but apply a cold pack of depression to its head, stick its feet into a tub of hot worries, massage it with red ink three times a day and wrap it up each night in a bale of stock quotations so it can have a nice sweat.

We were so goofy a few years ago that we were dissatisfied with a pulse that didn't double overnight and disappointed if our blood pressure didn't go to 200 if we held the long pull.

THEN came Old Dr. Babson, who put us to bed with that pessimistic market statement. We thought we were having a terrible time, but it now develops that it was all for our own good.

The panic was bitter medicine and hard to take, but it made a new man of you and you and you. Even if you felt better the old way, you're better off now.

The best thing in the world for a nation's health is a spell of unemployment, the doctor argued. When the people are out of work they can't eat enough to get sick.

They have to let those picnic allhots alone, keep away from those Elks clambakes, cut out those six-course shore dinners and eat no more than is good for them.

It's all story simple to the doctor, but give us back the good old anti-depression days. If we were sick we enjoyed it.

THE CATCH IN IT.

Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL.

THE commercial policy of the Columbia Broadcasting System is to be considerably altered, effective tomorrow. These changes in the presentation of sponsored broadcasts were announced by William S. Paley, president of Columbia, in a statement to advertisers and advertising agencies.

Briefly, they include the lifting of the restriction which heretofore has prevented advertisers from mentioning on the network the prices to be paid for their products, the limiting of the length of time to be devoted to sales talk, and the adoption of a policy requiring that sales talks of adjacent programs be separated by other material regarded as purely entertaining for listeners.

The following schedule has been drawn up:

Not more than two price mentions on a 15-minute program provided that the total length of all "sales talk" shall not exceed one and a half minutes.

Not more than three price mentions on a 30-minute program; total length of sales talk, three minutes.

Not more than five price mentions on a 60-minute program; total length of sales talk, six minutes.

Mr. Paley emphasized that prices mentioned must be of the article or articles advertised and must be in no sense competitive or comparative.

THE network asks the cooperation of its advertisers in avoiding the conflict of successive commercial continuities. In other words, every effort will be made to prevent a sales talk at the end of one program and another at the beginning of the following one. Under the present system, the listener is often exposed to a two-minute talk on bath soap, immediately followed by perhaps a two-minute talk on coffee.

"The permanence of this policy," Mr. Paley declared, "must rest with the response which it meets among program builders and radio listeners. The Columbia Broadcasting System reserves the right to revoke this policy without prior notice if, in its judgment, it fails to meet with satisfactory response on the part of either the former or the latter or fails in its purpose to elevate the standards of radio broadcasting."

A group of songs from the new Arthur Schwartz-Howard Dietz revue, "Flying Colors," which opened in New York Tuesday night, will be featured by Countess Olga Albani, the Revelers and Victor Young's orchestra (WRC, 8 o'clock) tonight. Countess Albani will sing "Alone Together," the Revelers will harmonize "A Shine on Your Shoes," while the orchestra plays "Louisiana Hayride."

HOWARD BARLOW, conductor of the 10 o'clock symphonic broadcast heard nightly over WMAL, will present three short descriptive pieces for the first half of the concert tonight. Grieg's "Wedding Day in Troldhaugen," Debussy's "En Bateau" and Delibes' "March and Procession of Bacchus" are the selections.

The second half of the concert will be devoted to the third movement, Allegro, from Beethoven's Sixth Symphony.

An established favorite among the songs of other days, "When You Come to the End of the Day," will be among Singin' Sam's offerings (WMAL, 7:15 o'clock) tonight.

Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt's first radio speech since the start of his Nation-wide tour will be broadcast locally at 1:30 o'clock today from Topeka, Kans., via WMAL.

On Saturday, September 17, Gov. Roosevelt will broadcast another campaign speech from the Mormon Temple in Salt Lake City, Utah, at 9:30 o'clock over the same network.

SLOW TAX PAYMENT DELAYS FIRE FUNDS

Prince Georges County Aid to Volunteers to Be Paid in 3 Installments.

Because of the slow collections of taxes in Prince Georges County, the county aid to volunteer fire departments will be made in three installments instead of two, the county commissioners decided yesterday in authorizing immediate payment of the first installment.

In previous years half of the $5,000 total aid has been paid in September and the rest in December. This year the aid was raised to $15,000, but $5,000 will be sent to the treasurer of the County Firemen's Association at once. No date was set for the future payments.

Yesterday's authorization was made after Earle Wyvill had appeared before the board to ask when the funds might be expected. He explained that many of the volunteer companies had given notes for their apparatus and these notes come due this month.

The board approved a change in zoning to permit a gas station at the corner of Riggs and Ager road, in spite of one protest. The change was asked by E. Francis Riggs, owner of the property, and had been approved by the Park and Planning Commission.

A delegation of about 40 patrons of the Silver Hill School appeared before the commissioners to ask for a bus line to the Surrattsville High School, but were referred to the school board. F. A. Hurd headed a delegation which asked the paving of Addison Chapel road from Carmody road to Hill road. The petitioners were told that the work could not be done by the State until next March, but the commissioners promised to have the district road committee make immediate repairs.

R. Lee Van Horn, Milton Brickered and Turner Perkins were appointed a committee to report on the need for extending Northern avenue in Bowie from the school to Telegraph road. John Roberts asked the commissioners to improve the road from Silver Hill to Wheeler road, a distance of nearly 2 miles. His request was referred to the district road committee.

U.S. Commerce Building Plumbing Basis of Suit

Wilmington, Del., Sept. 13 (A.P.).—Suit for recovery of a balance of $116,943.45 on contracts for installing the plumbing in the new Department of Commerce Building at Washington, D. C., has been filed against the Consolidated Engineering Corporation, a Delaware corporation, in the United States District Court by the Fulton National Bank, of Atlanta, Ga.

The plaintiff was represented in the papers as the banker for the Loftis Plumbing & Heating Co., of Atlanta, subcontractor for the defendant corporation.

TELEGRAPHIC DISPATCHES

Poteau, Okla., Sept. 13 (A.P.).—Eight escaped prisoners, including an accused murderer and a bank robbery suspect, were hunted in eastern Oklahoma hills tonight. They escaped from the Poteau County Jail last night after overpowering Jailer L. H. Gassaway. Among the fugitives were Ezkew Sikes, of Spiro, charged with murder, and R. E. Sutton, charged with robbery of the Central Bank here, December 26.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 13 (A.P.).—Dr. Russell W. Bunding, of Ann Arbor, Mich., today was elected Supreme Grand Master of Delta Sigma Delta, dental fraternity, at the one-day convention being held here in connection with the American Dental Association's annual meeting.

Knoxville, Tenn., Sept. 13 (A.P.).—A suit to test the constitutionality of Tennessee's congressional redistricting act passed by the 1931 Legislature was filed in Federal Court today by John R. Neal, Knoxville attorney.

New York, Sept. 13 (A.P.).—Recovery of eleven additional bodies from the East River today brought to 57 the total known dead from the explosion of the labor ferry Observation last Friday.

Los Angeles, Sept. 13 (A.P.).—A $2,000,000 damage action was filed today against Samuel Goldwyn, Inc., motion picture concern, by Ronald C. Colman, film actor, who charged the company with issuing written statements which he construed as reflecting on his character and ability as an actor. Colman asserted the statements pictured him as being "drunk and dissipated." The suit alleged the film company had been endeavoring to obtain agreements from Colman to perform acts which he said he was not obligated to perform.

New York, Sept. 13 (A.P.).—Directors of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad Co. today appointed W. K. Etter vice president in charge of operations, succeeding the late A. G. Wells. Etter was formerly general manager of the Santa Fe's coast lines with headquarters in Los Angeles. He will henceforth be located in Chicago.

New York, Sept. 13 (A.P.).—Gene Tunney, accompanied by his son, and the child's nurse, will sail on the liner Ile de France tomorrow noon for Paris, where Mrs. Tunney is to undergo a mastoid operation.

Phoenix, Ariz., Sept. 13 (A.P.).—The Southern Pacific Railroad of Mexico will be ordered to incorporate under the laws of Arizona, Amos A Betts, chairman of the Arizona Corporation Commission, said today upon return from a hearing in Nogales, if it continues to bring trains across the international line manned by Mexicans.

New York, Sept. 13 (A.P.).—Police suspect a firebug started a tenement house blaze which killed Mrs. Rose La Baraba, 43, and Charles Da Gavonni, 5, early this morning. Five others were injured. A half-filled gasoline can was found in a hallway of the house.

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

Miladi literally laces herself into a black velvet Sunday night frock with tightly wrapped-around skirt. (A Dah-ray Design).

I TELL YOU, it was a problem! Here he was a beeeeeg moving picture "maggot" and here I was the wor-r-r-rld's greatest fashun cricket, and here we were in Hollywood, the worst-dressed city in the world, if I may be allowed to say so. And I was invited to dine at his home, to meet some other moving picture people, no stars, but people in the business end of pictures.

What to wear? Wear what I know I should, and risk offending my host and the other guests by being properly dressed when the chances were exactly that they themselves would n't be? Or dress informally and risk being considered gauche, since I was expected to know better!

Ha, an inspiration! I up and phoned his wife, and said, oh, most gracefully, "What do people wear to such a dinner here in Hollywood, Madame?"

Answer: "Oh, just wear anything at all, no fuss!" Business of geenashing of teeth and chewing up of telephone receiver on the part of one Dah-ray.

I know you feel for me, so what do you think I did? Well, there it is, sketched today! Yes, I fooled them by just having a dress made that was in between anything formal or anything informal that any one there would be wearing—one that was something like I am sure they would expect me to wear, being just a bit picturesque, but not so much so that it was eccentric or theatrical.

The skirt was neither long nor short, and tightly wrapped around. The bodice unusually flattering, wrapped and tied on one shoulder, with a silver cord which continued on down the one sleeve. And the turban, a skull cap effect worn on one side, was of tulle that exactly matched my hair—and looked as though only a rolled brim of the cord was around my head!

Ha, says I to myself, I have 'em here! And so I did—my hostess, as I suspected, greeting me in a formal Paris gown that would have done for a presentation at court, and the other guests wearing everything from the famous Garbo turtle neck sweater and diamond bracelets to organdy party frocks. Whilst I, the—well, I told you all about myself before—wore something that no one could either pigeonhole or criticize.

One of the smartest hat modes for this season is the beret—or something inspired by beret lines. And then ribbons—well, you have all heard about ribbons! So I just thought I would make a leaflet telling you how to make some ribbon berets, or berets out of ribbon, really. And I did, and you can make yourself a whole bunch of new and smart ribbon berets for your hat box by just sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for this week's illustrated leaflet which tells you how to go about it. New hats in your spare finger time! Hurry and send for that leaflet now, before you forget it.

* * * *

Got monograms on the brain again—yes, you've guessed, those are his initials in the corner! And a good monogram must have, oh, perfect harmony and balance, composition, symmetry and so many more things that strike the eye. But strike the brain they certainly do, with worse than a blow, if they don't have all these. And that's why it takes about a hundred and fifty discarded monogram designs to produce this one—then you look at it and scre-e-e-e-e-am, oh-why-oh-why-oh-why didn't I do that in the first place? But you never do, so that is that.

Au revoir.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

A BOY SCOUT'S SCORE CARD.

ONE group of Boy Scouts has adopted a scoring plan for promotion of skin tanning as a part of the program for a Boy Scout camp. The procedure was worked out by Dr. W. H. Merrill. The camp is provided with score cards for individual records. When a boy enters camp he is given a tan record card. On this is entered his name, age, type of complexion, color of hair and color of lashes. For the purposes of scoring the skin is divided into four regions, viz: Head and neck, arms, torso or trunk and legs. The names of these sections are printed on the card. Under each major head, such as arms, there are subheads and blank spaces in which ratings are entered.

The factor for normal is zero; that for light tan, 30; tan, 60; dark tan is 100. A specimen score might read as follows:

John Jones, 11 years old, dark complexion, dark brown hair, dark eye lashes, scored as follows on June 1:

Head an neck—20 per cent of area was normal, zero; 80 per cent had a light tan (80x30)—24.

Arms—50 per cent of skin normal—50.

JUNE 8.

Competitive classes must have ten or more members. Winners are suitably designated or rewarded. Any competitor who blisters his skin or causes the skin to become edematous or markedly inflamed, or who has a fever due to a burn is ruled out of the competition and, of course, becomes ineligible for an award.

At the beginning of the contest the scout master explains to the group not only the rules of the game, but also the effects of light on the skin. He tells them that certain types of skin tan readily, other types poorly and that, as a rule, skins that burn easily tan poorly. The group is told that persons who tan poorly and burn readily must expose their skins with great caution—limited areas at a time and short exposures; whereas those in the other groups can proceed with less caution. The explanations include the physiological effects of light.

ANGINA PECTORIS.

Mrs. W. C. A. writes: I wish to thank you for letting us know about moleskin adhesive plaster for bunions and all foot troubles. It has been wonderful for four members of our family, especially for callluses of years standing and a corn on each little toe of an old lady.

1. What is angina pectoris?
2. What are the symptoms?
3. What causes it?
4. Can it be cured?
5. Is it an illness of long duration?
6. Is rigor mortis absolute proof of death?

REPLY.

1. A pain or sense of uneasiness and oppression which is felt back of the upper part of the breast bone. It is apt to shoot from that location to the left in the chest and sometimes down the left arm.
2. It is a symptom, as given above.
3. Most persons think it is caused by a disease in the heart wall and in the blood vessels that supply it. One authority thinks it is caused by stretching of the fibers of the aorta. That question is one for physicians to work over.
4. Each attack is apt to be self-limited, but the attacks recur. Angina pectoris is a serious symptom and calls for attention immediately and for good care of the heart between attacks. It is usually advisable to change some habits.
5. As a rule, attacks occur for two or more years. There are many exceptions.
6. Yes. It is a late sign. There are some reasonably good earlier ones.

CHILD AT MIDDLE AGE.

A. E. writes: If a woman bears a child when she is about 45 years old, would the child be a weakling?

REPLY.

If this were the woman's only child, or if she had had but few children, the chances that this one would be rigorous are good, average or above. Some hold that a child borne by a middle-aged woman who had borne many children and who was worn down, would be likely to be a Mongolian idiot. However, the evidence in support of this opinion is not convincing.

What Today Means to You

"VIRGO."

IF September 14 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9 a. m. to 10:45 a. m., from 2 p. m. to 4 p. m., and from 8 p. m. to 10 p. m. The danger periods are from 11 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. and from 4:45 p. m. to 6:50 p. m.

The stellar configurations of September 14 do not hold much hope of a successful day, although there are no signs of irremediable disaster. Nothing out of the ordinary should be essayed; safety lies in routine. The signs are distinctly unfavorable for speculation; rather do they counsel the cutting of losses. Health conditions need careful watching.

A child born on this September 14 will be more than usually inquisitive and will refuse to be put off with foolish inadequacies. It will always be a seeker after knowledge and will acquire a vast store of information, which, aided by a retentive memory and industrious habits, will enable it, later on in life, to secure its place in the sun.

You, if born on September 14, are guided in both speech and action too much by your emotions and too little by hard facts and logic. You allow your feelings to run away, ahead of your judgment, and, as a natural result, frequently find yourself in a tight corner. Your impulses, however, are good, and though they do your heart credit, they cause you many a headache. Your keen sympathies are easily aroused by any sob story, and your interest is awakened by any hard luck tale.

Although intelligent and painstaking, you, in your duties, often drop the substance and pursue the shadow. You are the victim of day dreams, and and on many occasions, and with an honest desire to better your condition, throw away dirty water before you have an ample supply of clean on hand. You are too fond of change and can never stay "put." You distribute your efforts among a variety of interests, instead of concentrating on one. You generalize, whereas you should specialize.

In the home you are always willing to help, in season and out of season. This means that you are imposed upon by those who are not ashamed to take advantage of your unselfishness, and these are in the majority. A selfish life is never a happy one; on the other hand, exaggerated kindness and permanent self-sacrificing service breeds in others a spirit of helplessness and dependence. You should seek the happy medium.

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

MANY months ago, when the majority of women had adopted the longer coiffure, with the below the neckline roll, some one asked me if I thought the "long and short of it" argument was settled. My reply was, "Not by a long shot, nor for a long time."

Shortly after that I reached Hollywood, and "sho' 'nuf," in one of the smartest beauty salons there I found a bevy of beautiful screen stars calling for snipping. Sylvia Sydney, Miriam Hopkins and a score of other Paramount film makers. Then Janet Gaynor's new short bob caused nothing short of a sensation.

Up in Back, Down in Front.

The screen stars started the up in the back and down in the front movement, snipping off the back roll, making the neckline much neater, but none the less feminine and lovely, and doing all sorts of cutting up with bangs and whatnots. Of course, comparatively few women are willing to adopt the "bang" fad, but at least the style has given inspiration to a delightful extra piece that can be tied on or pinned on at will, and certainly gives one a piquant and "youngish" air.

Came summer, and the shorter bob was adopted as successor to the shoulder or modern length. And now that fall is fast approaching, there's much speculation, even in expert circles, as to whether the short bob will survive. If I may be permitted to do a little personal predicting, I think it will. It is far more comfortable and simpler to keep looking lovely. Constant care and very frequent trips to the hairdresser were necessary to keep the longer length presentable.

If you want a little more "gossip" about the screen stars, many of them have their hairdressers sitting right on the set, ready to iron and press and coax every little hair into place, or change the hairdress, if necessary. But it would surprise you to know how many of them can do their own, know just how to set it, how to press the waves into place and "play" with their hair.

The new length of scarcely an inch below the neckline is easy to play with. The last inch is molded into perfectly flat curls, pinned down with hairpins. These follow the direction of the last wave at the back of the head so that when combed out it is all one neat, soft, flattering sweep. It really does present a much more pleasing hairline, neckline, and general view from the back at least, this new hair length.

Whatever length you adopt, one thing is certain. Your coiffure can only be flattering if it fits you, your contour, your features. I have a bulletin on coiffure secrets which every woman should know, and a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request will bring it to you.

Elsie Pierce, famous beauty lecturer, will answer any questions on beauty you wish to ask her. Address Miss Pierce, in care of The Washington Post, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Uncle Sam's Home Hints

(Bureau of Home Economics.)

Peach Dainty.

1 quart sliced peaches
1 cup sugar
2 egg yolks
2 tablespoons butter
1 pint whipping cream
A few grains salt

Cream the sugar, butter and yolks together. Add the whipped cream and sliced peaches. Serve over angel or sponge cake.

Apricot Whip.

½ pound dried apricots
1 cup water
¾ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
3 egg whites

Wash the apricots through several waters until thoroughly clean. Place in a bowl with the water to soak overnight. In the morning cook the apricots in the water in which they have been soaked for fifteen minutes or until soft. Press the cooked apricots through a colander and measure the pulp. There should be a cupful or a little over. Heat the pulp with the sugar until the sugar is dissolved, stirring all the time to prevent scorching. Whip the whites of the eggs until very light.

Add the salt and the hot apricot pulp in small quantities until all of it is mixed with the whites of the eggs, whipping always in the same way. Place the mixture in a greased baking dish in a pan surrounded by water. Bake at a very low temperature (from 250 to 275 degrees Fahrenheit) for 50 to 60 minutes. When baked at this low temperature for this length of time the pudding should not fall after cooling or when served. Serve with a custard sauce made from the yolks of the eggs.

Prune Whip.

1 cup water
½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon lemon juice or more
3 egg whites

Wash the prunes through several waters until thoroughly clean. Place in a bowl with the water to soak overnight. In the morning cook the prunes in the water in which they have been soaked for fifteen minutes or until tender. Press through a colander. Measure the pulp and juice. There should be one cupful. Place the pulp with the sugar over the heat and stir until the sugar is dissolved. Cool. Whip the whites of the eggs until very light.

Add the salt and the prune pulp in small quantities until all of it has been mixed with the whites of eggs, whipping always in the same way. Pile the mixture lightly in a greased baking dish surrounded by water and place in the oven. Bake at a temperature from 250 to 275 degrees, Fahrenheit, for 50 to 60 minutes. When baked at this low temperature for this length of time the pudding should not fall after cooling. Serve with custard sauce made from the yolks of the eggs.

Fifth Avenue Fashions

THERE is something unusually smart about this youthful model with its wrapped closing, so slimming. And isn't the skirt youthful with stitched front plaits? They kick out attractively in motion.

You can wear the belt where you please. The bodice cuts in one until it joins the skirt.

It's so simple to fashion it.

The button trim gives emphasis to the snug hips.

SWINGS IN DUPLICATE.

DUPLICATE Contract is extremely interesting for one reason, in that it affords an immediate and direct contrast to the swings which are sometimes produced in Contract play by freak holdings, the type of hands upon which the most heated postmortems are held when players learn that if the bidding had taken another course, the losers might have been the winners and the winners the losers.

A hand of this especial type occurred in a recent Duplicate game at the Tower Bridge Club, which was participated in by many of the strongest Contract players in New York City.

West—Dealer.
North and South vulnerable.

(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South	West	North	East
	Pass	1♣	Dble.
Redble.	1♡	Pass	3◇
3♠(1)	Pass	4♠(2)	5◇(3)
5♠(4)	Dble.(5)	Pass	Pass
Redble(6)	Pass	Pass	Pass

(1) This bid is justified because South knows that the hands fit perfectly in clubs.
(2) North is somewhat at sea in regard to his partner's bid on the hand, but in view of the vulnerability, considers Ace-8 adequate support to raise to game.
(3) This bid would not be severely penalized.
(4) A questionable bid, the Double probably being preferable, but South reasons that his opponents know nothing of the fact that he has no losing heart tricks.
(5) A bad Double. West's only prospect of taking a trick is in trumps and there is no certainty whatever of this.
(6) The Redouble is a matter of course in a game of this type. If five spades can not be made, North and South have bid too much anyhow. If five spades can be made, the Redouble may assure a top-score.

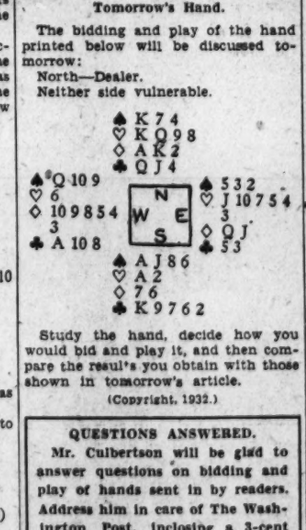
The result was that South, through a Comedy of Errors, made his contract. A diamond was opened, and East, thinking that he also held the Queen of diamonds, played the 9, which South won with the Queen. Another diamond was returned to the Dummy, which was won by East, who then gave his partner a ruff by leading a club. However, this was the last trick for East and West, and South was enabled to score a total of 1,300 points by Duplicate scoring for his daring contract.

At another table, West opened with the entirely unsound bid of four hearts. This North doubled, holding, as he believed, a minimum of 2 heart tricks. East redoubled, and the contract, of course, was made laid down. Thus, through contrasting bidding reactions to the cards, a swing of 2,180 points occurred on a single hand.

Tomorrow's Hand.

The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow:

North—Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.



Study the hand, decide how you would bid and play it, and then compare the result's you obtain with those shown in tomorrow's article.

Royal Baptism Handling By Queen Marie Rapped

Bucharest, Roumania, Sept. 13 (A.P.).—There is much excitement here over an article in the Transylvanian newspaper Patria bitterly criticizing Dowager Queen Marie, the Princess Ileana and the Roumanian Minister to Austria for their management of the christening of Ileana's child, the Archduke Stephan.

The newspaper, which is the official mouthpiece of the Vaidavoevod government in Transylvania, complained that the christening at Moedling, Austria, was handled in a manner tending to establish close relationship between the ruling dynasty of Roumania and the deposed Hapsburg dynasty of Austria.

WEATHER BUREAU EMPLOYES ELECT

W. F. McDonald President of Newly Formed Lodge in Federation.

Officers were elected yesterday by the newly organized United States Weather Bureau Lodge, No. 23, of the American Federation of Government Employes, and committee chairmen were named by the Tariff Commission Lodge, No. 34, of the American Federation of Government Employes.

W. F. McDonald was elected president of the Weather Bureau Lodge. Other officers elected are: Miss Genevra Diehl, first vice president; B. Frances Dashiell, second vice president; Willis E. Hurd, secretary-treasurer; Mr. McDonald, delegate to national convention; Gordon E. Dunn, delegate to the District federation, and Lloyd A. Stevens, Allen R. Stickey and Herbert C. Hunter, alternate delegates and members of the executive committee.

George Parater was appointed chairman of the civic affairs committee of the Tariff Commission lodge; Ernest S. Shipley was appointed chairman of a committee to draft a constitution and by-laws and A. A. Tennant was chosen a delegate to the Central Labor Union.

Fred A. Coolidge urged the membership to give careful consideration to legislative problems and be prepared to suggest remedial measures for their own welfare. Mrs. Sophie J. Bergner, second vice president of the American Federation and a member of the Tariff Commission Lodge, made a detailed report on the organization of the District department which comprises all lodges of the federation in Washington.

Action on Wage Scales At Sanitarium Refused

The District Commissioners yesterday refused to make any effort to force contractors building the District tuberculosis sanitarium at Glendale, Md., to pay the prevailing wage scale in the District.

A delegation, headed by John B. Colpoys, complained the contractors were not paying the wage scales prevailing here. The work was being done in Maryland, the Commissioners said, and they couldn't see how they could enforce the prevailing wage law. They suggested that the complainants go to the Secretary of Labor.

PLANE IS SIGHTED ON FLIGHT TO ROME

The Americaon Nurse, en route from New York to Rome, was first sighted far from shore by the master of the S. S. Dartford.

He reported to the Associated Press he had sighted the American Nurse at 6:05 p. m. Greenwich mean time (1:05 p. m. Eastern standard time.) His position at that time was 42:10 north latitude and 62:31 west longitude, or 400 miles east of Boston, also on the southern steamship lane.

The S. S. Dartford's master said the plane was flying low and traveling northeastward. He said the weather was "light, northerly breeze, and clear."

From Cape Cod Ulbrich planned to fly 1,000 miles due east along the forty-second parallel and then veer slightly south so as to strike the Spanish coast in the vicinity.

Although Dr. Pisculli, commander of the flight, hoped they could set the plane down at Rome, he announced that Miss Newcomer would step out of the plane and descend by parachute at Florence, Italy, as a tribute to Florence Nightingale.

So many tests were planned aboard the American Nurse that it was nicknamed "The Flying Laboratory." Dr. Pisculli had watched for several weeks over the diet of Ulbrich and Miss Newcomer, who is copilot. He planned to continue his observations and to make a report on the effect of long-distance flying on the human body.

As a mascot and also as a part of an experiment, Dr. Pisculli carried a woodchuck. He said he had a theory that many flights failed because the cabins filled with gas and that the woodchuck would feel the effects of such gas before the other occupants did.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

IT is being bruited about in circles usually well informed that this deep-throated Mr. "Whispering" Jack Smith, announced as headliner of the vaudeville bill at the Earle, come Friday, is, as a matter of fact, the daddy of all the crooners. This may be either a knock or a boost, depending upon whether you like your songs thrown at you or just sneaked over barely this side of audibility, but whatever your personal feeling in the premises, the charge is true.

You have to go back a bit to get at the innards of this business.

It seems that 'way back yonder in the early days of radio—I mean really B. C. (Before Crooners)—Jack Smith was a ditty demonstrator, song-plugger to you, fella, for the Irving Berlin melody manufactory and ranked high in the estimation of the gentlemen presiding over the microphones in the best broadcasting stations. Indeed, he was so good that they gave him the air many a time when he would rather have been given the air—if you know what I mean, and that's expecting a good deal!

On one of these latter occasions, Jack showed up at WJZ in New York with such a swelegant cold in what so many quaintly term the "bronical" tubes, that he could scarcely squawk above a whisper. However, studio managers are studio managers, and in entertaining over the ether, precisely as upon the stage, the show must go on. Accordingly they told Jack to snuggle right up into the mike and do his best and they would have the boys in the control room do the rest.

So the boys in the control room turned on all the juice they had in the place and blew Jack's voice up as big as they could under the circumstances. The effect was marvelous! His soft, purring tones, with their exquisite catarrhal cadences, trickled into the loud speakers as smooth as oil and came out as soft as velvet.

Something new under the sun had happened in radio and "Whispering" Jack Smith was that moment a man catapulted to fame by catastrophe. He has spent his life going around catching colds ever since! And that's how crooners were born.

But there is more to this Earle booking than that—or ought to be.

When Jack was first presented in Washington at Crandall's Metropolitan Theater it was because Johnny Payette, in charge of all Crandall programs at the time, had been tipped off to what a drawing card Master Smith was proving at the Rivoli Theater in Baltimore, then under the managing directorship of Guy Wonders, and drove the 40 miles in nothing, flat, to find out for himself. He found out. So what?

So Mr. Payette now is general manager of the Warner Brothers' interests in the Washington territory and Mr. Wonders is intrusted with the task of booking the stage bills at the Earle and other Warner houses.

You'll have to hook the whole business up for yourself and even then it may all have nothing whatever to do with why Mr. Smith will be among those present next week. Perhaps that will be merely because he is a sure-fire audience pleaser—or always has been.

Byzantine color and boldness of line; pointed arches, gilded walls and pale amber sunshine lighting heighten its resemblance to a gorgeous Eastern palace; wall and pillar decorations feature old Arabic designs, while the indirect lighting is reflected upon plaques in bold Arabic stripes of bright blue and silver, the striped motif being found also in the upholsteries of enameled divans and easy chairs. The orchestra stand——

But before we go any further with the transcript of the rhapsody that has appeared suddenly out of the nowhere into the here upon the dramatic desk, it might be just as well to explain that we are talking about the new dance resort, "Arabian Nights," to be thrown open to Washington's children of Terpsichore tonight.

The "Arabian Nights" is located under the Earle Theater and is the creation of William St. Cyr Barrington, known as the architect and decorator of many smart salons and supper clubs. Meyer Davis is sponsor of the new gathering place for the Capital's dancers and, naturally, one of the Davis orchestras will furnish the music and special entertainment, features, under the musical direction of Phil O'Brien and the general management of J. W. Wood. So if you are out for hey, nonny, nonny!

Lee Tracy and Mary Brian, as they appear in "Blessed Event," Warner Brothers' picturization of the first of the gossip columnist plays, opening tomorrow midnight at the Metropolitan Theater.

And in that other envelope, with the New York postmark and the unaccustomed look, was formal word to the effect that the original directors of the Mona Lisa Club will be glad to see their old friends and former patrons—if any—at their new Cote D'Azure Club at 64 West Fifty-fifth street—which, understandably, meant nothing until the name of Les Stevens bobbed up down in the corner in all its Spencerian elegance.

It seems that Les and the Diplomats, such a hit at the Fox not so long ago, are at the Cote D'Azure, following engagements in Miami and Detroit, and that he must have written my name down in the little red book.

Now, I wonder if the inclosed card, with its trick identification number, really will get you by Tony and the grilled door? On second thought, why worry? You first have to get to New York!

Speaking of such, the celebration of "A Night in Old Russia," on the Shoreham Terrace tonight, will mark a highly interesting duplication of the glamorous atmosphere of one of the famous gypsy cafes that flourished in St. Petersburg in the days of the Romanoffs. Maxim Lowe's Riviera Orchestra, directed by Barnee and costumed as Cossacks, will specialize in the older Russian music and a group of Russian dancers will appear in the entertainment interlude.

The same note will doubtless be carried out in the menu, with imported buckshot, in oil, on Russian pumpernickel, and everything. That is, everything except you will have to b. y. o. vodka!

And if that is the way such things affect you, you can, of course, just go home and curl up on the Steppes with the milk!

U. S. Office Assisting Laborer Toward Pension

In an attempt to help a colored laborer become eligible for a pension, a group of employes in the general accounting office have formed a retirement association titled with the man's name, John W. Dyson, it was learned yesterday.

In order for Dyson to become eligible for a pension it is necessary for him to pay $475.42 into the retirement fund. He was retired July 1, under the provisions of the economy bill. From 1920 to 1930 he was a per diem employe of the District government and did not begin paying into the fund until January, 1931.

THE universal joints of a car might well be compared to the ball and socket joints of the human body. Nature takes care of the latter, but only specialized lubrication can look after these vital mechanical joints of your car properly.

In the picture, Amoco Universal Joint Grease is being applied with the proper gun. Only this heavy, fibrous grease with its high melting point is tough enough to withstand the constant crushing action of the universal joint.

Keep your car healthy. You only need drive into one of our stations and say "Amoco Approved Lubrication." It's not a penny extra. You pay no more than for the old fashioned "Grease Job".

You'll find it's only one of the smiling "extras" in free service that goes hand in hand with our station operation. They join with our products in giving you more for your motoring dollars. And the products are the famous Amoco-Gas—Orange American Gas—and Amoco Motor Oil and Lubricants.

IN Amoco Approved Lubrication Service, there's a specialized Amoco lubricant for every part requiring lubrication—a specialized gun for its application, and a trained man for the job.

U.S. RED MEN'S HEAD IS MARYLAND MAN

W. P. Wachter Is Successor to E. R. Connor, of Washington.

Asheville, N. C., Sept. 13 (A.P.).—Great Senior Sagamore Worthington P. Wachter, of Maryland, became great incohonee of the Improved Order of Red Men at the conclusion of the second day of their biennial national convention in session here today.

Wachter received the supreme tomahawk of authority from the hands of Great Incohonee Edward R. Connor, of Washington, who now becomes one of the past great incohonees.

Arthur J. Ruland, of New York, great junior sagamore, succeeds Wachter as great senior sagamore. These changes were made by the law of succession prevailing within the order.

J. A. Kapps, great sachem from Chicago, was elected great junior sagamore by acclamation. Past Great Incohonee Connor was elected to the post of great prophet of the great council, succeeding Judge Harry Cutrill, of Portsmouth, Va.

Great Keeper of Records H. T. Stetser, of Pennsylvania, was reelected to that office. W. P. Lightholders, of Missouri, was reelected great keeper of wampum, which is the Red Men's treasurer.

Tomorrow the council will act on the proposal of the Indians Red Men to donate to the order a plant to be used as a home for aged members.

Father Claims Body Of Airplane Suicide

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Sept. 13.—After an official verdict of "suicide by jumping from an airplane" was given by Police Justice John W. Anderson, of Annapolis, acting coroner, the remains of Miss Marjorie Fletcher, former school teacher, were sent to the home of her father, Creg Fletcher, at Forestville, N. Y., at the request of the parent.

The skeleton of Miss Fletcher was found late yesterday by Henry F. Moreland on his farm near Camp Parole, 2 miles from Annapolis. Identification was established by clothing worn by Miss Fletcher when she went aloft in the plane at Hoover Airport, Washington, August 23, for a sightseeing expedition to Annapolis, which she had planned as a death trip. She leaped from the plane while it was soaring at an altitude of 1,800 feet.

Lost Child Found; Kidnap Scare Ends

Girl, 2, Wandered Alone in Woods 24 Hours Near Martinsville.

Martinsville, Va., Sept. 13 (A.P.).—After wandering about alone for more than 24 hours, Betty Jean Tippett, 2-year-old daughter of A. D. Tippett, was found late yesterday about 2 miles from the place where she disappeared from her parents' car Sunday.

The farmer reported to Martinsville police that he and his wife parked their car on a lonely road and left the child inside while they went for a walk. When they returned, within 20 minutes, she was gone. It was believed she had been kidnaped.

When found, Betty Jean was much the worse for wear. Her clothing was torn to shreds and her face, hands and legs were cut and scratched as if she had torn her way through dense undergrowth. She could give no account of where she had spent Sunday night.

Hyde Advised to 'Forget' Seed Loan Collections

Cheyenne, Wyo., Sept. 13 (A.P.).—L. T. Oldroyd, Wyoming commissioner of agriculture, suggested in a letter to Secertary of Agriculture Hyde today that the Federal Government "forget about collecting seed and feed loans until the farmers can pay."

Only 1.16 per cent of $650,939 in Federal loans to Wyoming farmers during the last year has been collected to date, Oldroyd said. He said the failure of agricultural conditions to improve materially since the loans were made prevented the farmers from accumulating enough cash to make the payments.

Grade Crossing Fatal To Three Young People

Fayetteville, N. C., Sept. 13 (A.P.).—An early morning grade crossing crash here today resulted in death for three young people and a fourth was not expected to live.

Euland Canady, 22, and Miss Margaret Poteat, 21, were killed instantly when the car in which they were returning home from a dance struck a shifting engine of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad. Parker Armstrong, 24, died a few hours later in a hospital, where physicians said Miss Orin Olive, 21, had little chance to live. All were from Fayetteville.

Salvador's Consul Sued by Wife.

San Francisco, Sept. 13 (A.P.).—Henry Lindo, consul general here for the Republic of Salvador, was sued today for divorce by Mrs. Elitha Lindo, who charged cruelty. Mrs. Lindo declared Lindo beat her, called her names and threatened to kill her if she sought divorce. She asked custody of their daughter, Elitha, 5, and $250 a month alimony.

Stocks Continue to Decline In Spite of Vigorous Rally

Loss Averages 2.8 Points in Day's Turnover of 5,102,490 Shares.

Shares lurched heavily in the forenoon, but the 2-to-3-point declines suffered on that break—the year's severest and most active—found shorts ready to cover and a spirited afternoon rally ensued.

That rise lost steam just before closing time, leaving a general range of 1-to-3-point net losses. Sales aggregated 5,102,490 shares, a robust turnover even for these days of rejuvenated activity.

Maine Election Discussed.

The Maine election result had become apparent by opening time and was the subject of wide comment in Wall street throughout the day. Yesterday's severe reaction uncovered further stop-loss orders; also it doubtless encouraged considerable short selling, and with the market still vulnerable from the technical standpoint the retreat from Monday's final quotations was rapid. A harder tone made its appearance just before noon and from then on leading issues ruled above their morning lows.

United States Steel, which had dropped to 41, or 4⅝ lower, reduced its loss to 3¼ net. Union Pacific cut a 6-point decline to 1½. American Telephone a 4-point break to 1⅜; American Can a 5-point reaction to 2½, and Santa Fe a 6¼ loss to 1⅜.

Auburn slightly more than halved a dip of 13½. Many leaders, including Du Pont, Allied Chemical, Westinghouse, American Smelting, Harvester, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Consolidated Gas, New York Central and Southern Pacific were off 1 to 3 net, the average decline of 90 issues being 2.8 compared with yesterday's 5-point slump.

Profits Cut One-third.

Shares have given up roughly one-third of what they gained during the summer. Thus they have at last met the setback which most sections of Wall street opinion regarded as inevitable; they could, indeed, retrace still further ground without violating the proportions of a normal technical reaction. Some brokers had been frankly surprised by the market's persistence in advancing, until last week, without experiencing a sizable correction.

Firmness of leading foreign exchanges suggested that Europeans were selling in this market, presumably to take profits. Buying from abroad helped launch our securities on their summer boom, and astute purchasers who inveated around the lows have been rewarded handsomely.

BONDS' LOSS RATE HIGHEST THIS YEAR

Drop of One Point Added to Former Declines in $12,779,000 Sale.

Before prices were able to regain a portion of their equilibrium in a last-hour rally, losses of 1 to 10, or more, points were scattered throughout the list. Declines were reduced about 50 per cent in the late recovery.

Trading was the most active in several weeks, sales totaling $12,779,000. The average for 60 corporate loans showed a loss of 1 point, the largest since December 15, last year.

Speculative issues in all categories bore the brunt of liquidation, with the rails taking the worst truncing. The average for 20 selected carriers dropped 2 points. The utilities and industrials, while suffering numerous casualties, made a much better showing. Best quality bonds of various classes exhibited considerable resistance.

There was no particular reason given for the relapse. Some dealers attributed it to a "long-expected reaction" which they thought was "healthily corrective."

Nickel Plate 6s, after an early sinking spell, emerged with a gain of more than a point. The other bonds of this road were off around four points, however. Missouri Pacific issues lost from 1 to 7 points and most of the other low-priced loans recorded net declines of 1 to around 4 points.

American Telephones held steady, but bonds of International Telephone were off as much as 8 points at one time.

Studebaker and White Autos Agree Upon Merger Terms

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 13 (A.P.).—A. R. Erskine, president of the Studebaker Corporation, in a statement issued jointly with R. W. Woodruff, chairman of the board of directors of the White Motor Co., today announced that a merger of the two companies had been agreed upon subject to ratification by stockholders.

The terms of the plan call for payment by Studebaker of $5 in cash, $25 in two-year 6 per cent notes, and one share of Studebaker common stock, for each share of stock of White Motors, it was explained. The plan is subject to approval of three-fourths of the outstanding stock of White Motor, which must be deposited under the plan on or before October 13.

CURB PRICES SLUMP TEMPERED BY RALLY

New York, Sept. 13 (A.P.).—The curb market dropped precipitantly in the early trading today, but touched bottom by midday and in most active issues rebounded at least half way during the afternoon.

Trading was in huge volume, the turnover of 750,000 shares exceeding yesterday's by 150,000, and surpassing any day's business in this market since last December.

Traders found many excuses for the break, but the most general theory was that the market had gone ahead too fast. Utility shares were sold in large volume for a time.

Electric Bond & Share, the outstanding professional trading favorite of this market, tumbled about 9 points to 25⅝, then recovered to 30¾.

The oils held up relatively well. Gulf dropped a couple of points, then recovered all but a small fraction.

Tobacco Prices Higher Than Last August Sale

Columbia, S. C., Sept. 13 (A.P.).—A total of $1,689,433 was paid for 14,367,177 pounds of tobacco sold at 29 warehouses in nine South Carolina cities and towns last month, J. W. Shealy, commissioner of Carolina agriculture, reported today.

The price average of $11.80 a hundred was $1.18 above the $10.62 average of August, 1931, but the volume of sales was only a little more than half of the 28,347,829 pounds sold then.

WHEAT VALUES GAIN AFTER EARLY LOSS

Chicago, Sept. 13 (A.P.).—Wheat regained poise late today, and helped by rallies in stocks and cotton recovered in full from sharp early downturns.

Reports that a European cartel was negotiating for the purchase of 50,000,000 bushels of wheat from the United States Farm Board were a late bullish factor. There was a noticeable increase of buying toward the last on the part of houses with connections East.

Wheat closed unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to ¼ higher; corn, unchanged to ¼ down; oats, ½ off to ⅛ advance, and provisions varying from 12 cents decline to a rise of 10 cents.

There was a general disposition toward the close to look for price upturns owing to several days of successive setbacks. Earlier, the market was largely dominated by breaks in securities and cotton and by Liverpool reports of unusual pressure to dispose of Canadian wheat abroad.

Big rural deliveries of wheat in Canada, 6,351,000 bushels, reported today against 2,925,000 a year ago, gave emphasis to talk that Canada was the big stumbling block in the way of price gains.

Corn and oats established new low price records for the season, but rallied with wheat. There were corn export bids at the seaboard and some overseas business in oats.

Provisions averaged firmer, responsive to hog values.

INSURANCE LEADERS TO ADDRESS AGENTS

New York Life Group Plans Meeting at Mayflower on Saturday.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Prominent life insurance men will be guest speakers at the first luncheon meeting of the New York Life Agents Club for the fall and winter season, to be held Saturday afternoon, beginning at 1:15 o'clock, at the Mayflower Hotel.

The principal speaker will be Eugene E. Andrews, agents' counselor at large of the New York Life Insurance Co., with offices in Chicago. Among other speakers will be L. Seton Lindsay, a vice president of the company; William H. Danforth, chairman of the board of the Ralston-Purina Co., and Willard V. King, both directors of the New York Life Insurance Co.; F. S. Munsell, inspector of agencies for the company in its Atlantic department; Harry J. Kirke, agency director for the company in Baltimore; D. J. Lynch, agency director in Poughkeepsie, N. Y.; W. H. Ridgeway, agency organizer in Baltimore; Earl D. Krewson, agency director in Washington; George W. Rothkopf, local agency cashier, and F. Turner Munsell, agency organizer in Washington.

The committee in charge of arrangements is composed of David Samakow, chairman; Ralph Cipriano, Loren L. Cluster, Frank J. Sobotka and Sidney Simon.

Members of the Washington Association of Credit Men have been informed by headquarters of the national association of a slight betterment in collection and sales conditions throughout the Nation. Continuation of the August pickup is noted in reports to the national association from its correspondents in 106 major markets of the country.

In contrast to a month ago when no city in the country reported good collections or sales, the present month finds two cities in this classification, Waterloo, Iowa, notes sales as worthy of a good classification while Boise, Idaho, comes through with a report of good in both collections and sales.

Crude Oil Prices Cut.

Pittsburgh, Sept. 13 (A.P.).—A reduction of 15 cents a barrel in Pennsylvania grade crude oil was announced today by leading purchasing agents. The new prices are: Pennsylvania grade in Southwest lines, $1.57; Eureka lines, $1.52, and Buckeye lines, $1.37. Other grades are unchanged.

Silver Off One-Half Cent.

New York, Sept. 13 (A.P.).—The price of bar silver was off half a cent to 27¾ cents an ounce in the New York market today. Futures quotations were also lower.

Store Sales Increase.

New York, Sept. 13 (A.P.).—Department store sales in New York increased substantially last week with the advent of cooler weather, it is reported in merchandising circles.

COTTON DIPS LOWER ON SELLING DRIVES

Rally Fails to Avoid Drop of 28 to 31 Points, or $1.50 Per Sale.

New York, Sept. 13 (A.P.).—Cotton declined further today, losing about $1.50 per bale from the previous close, which carried the list down more than $10 a bale from the extreme high of the season, made during late in August.

Price changes were feverish at times, the market early in the afternoon rallying about $1 a bale from the early low point. Sentiment seemed influenced by the action of the stock market.

December sold down to 7½ cents during the morning, rallied to 7.69 and again eased, closing at 7.51, a net decline of 29 points. The general market closed 28 to 31 points net lower.

Selling orders also appeared from the South at various times during the day, although on the whole volume of offerings was not as heavy as some had expected.

Liverpool cabled that the market there had been influenced by general liquidation, favorable weather and hedging and that cloth buyers were awaiting developments in the labor situation. Exports today, 22,058, making 754,339 so far this season.

MINORITY BATTLES IN REFINANCING HIT

Expert Sees Revival Held in Check by Disgruntled Security Owners.

New York, Sept. 13 (A.P.).—Federal legislation to prevent a small minority of stockholders from upsetting majority plans for voluntary readjustment of weak corporate financial structures is urged by Dean John T. Madden of the New York University School of Commerce, Accounts and Finance.

"Despite the current improvement in security prices, and an anticipated upturn during the next few months in industrial and commercial activity, our economic structure remains in a weakened condition owing to the existence of a number of corporations staggering under an excessive load of bank, bond and trade indebtedness," Mr. Madden said.

"Business revival would be enormously aided by the immediate strengthening of these weak links in the corporate chain. If minorities are permitted to put themselves in the road of legitimate attempts to avoid bankruptcy and receivership, a further wave of such expensive reorganizations may occur."

"Congress," Dean Madden said, "can hasten the process of adjustment to new conditions now prevailing by providing that a plan of readjustment of capitalization, when approved by say 85 or 90 per cent of the creditors or security holders of an enterprise, may be presented to the courts for approval.

"After a hearing the court may declare the plan in effect, and dissenting holders would automatically be compelled to accept the new arrangement. If the plan is unfair the court can refuse to promulgate it."

Wall Street Briefs

New York, Sept. 13 (A.P.).—The American Metal Market says the steel industry "readily maintains" last week's ingot producing rate, although predictions of further improvement "indicate only a few points rise for any time in the next couple of months" due to slowness of demand from building lines and the railroads.

Freight loadings of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad in the four weeks ended September 3, totaled 134,693 cars, an increase of 7,399 cars over the preceding month.

A seat on the national raw silk exchange sold today for $950, unchanged from the previous transaction.

Members of the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange will vote on October 5 on the question of adapting a new coffee contract to cover trading and deliveries in Colombian coffee. It is said that considerable interest has been shown in the new contract not only in the Republic of Colombia, but in the world coffee trade. Colombia produces approximately 3,000,000 bags of coffee a year, or 10 per cent of the world's production.

Consumption of sugar in the United States for the first seven months of 1932 amounted to 3,337,962 long tons, raw sugar value, according to B. W. Dyer & Co., sugar economists. This is a decrease of 112,072 tons, or 3.25 per cent, compared with the corresponding period in 1931. Distribution during July amounted to 633,324 tons, compared with 698,498 tons in July, 1931, it is estimated.

Special to The Washington Post.

FIVE FARMS, Baltimore, Md., Sept. 13.—Johnny Brawner, of Columbia Country Club, playing the last nine in sub-par fashion, today carded a brilliant 73 to carry the hopes of the District of Columbia into the third day of the national amateur golf championship.

Shooting a 39 on the first half and blazing home with a sensational 34, Brawner finished with a 152 total to tie for thirty-second place with William Turnesa, of Elmsford, N. Y., who had 74—78. At 8 o'clock tomorrow morning they will battle hole for hole until one is eliminated. The victor will earn the right to clash with Ross Sommerville, Canadian champion, in the first round of match play.

Brawner Two Better Than Peacock.

Brawner's 79—73 was two strokes better than Roger Peacock, District champion, who added a 75 to his 79 of the opening round. Both played much better golf than on the first day.

Maurice Nee, of Manor, who paced the District players with a 76 yesterday, fell into a streak of three-putt greens and required 80 strokes. His 156, four strokes out of the match play division, was five ahead of Harry Pitt, of Manor, who came through with 78 on his second round.

In trouble from start to finish, Billy Dettweiler, 14-year-old Manor boy, who secured a fine 78 on Monday, went to pieces, and before his round was over had a string of sixes and fixes to collect an 87 for 165. Miller Stevinson, of Columbia, attempting to overcome his 86 of the initial day, performed well on the last nine, and had a total of 168.

Martin F. McCarthy, of Beaver Dam, blew up on the incoming route for a 44 after going out in 39. His total of 169 was three strokes ahead of Franklin Parks, of Congressional, who posted an 84 today. Parks, too, had a nice first nine, a 39, but a 7 and 6 and four straight fives gave him a 45 on the stretch.

Brawner Matches Par Until Fifth.

Brawner was even par going to the fifth where he had a bad approach. In the sand trap on the sixth, he took a six and then went one over on the next two for fives. Starting back he parred the tenth, eleventh and twelfth with fours, was trapped on the thirteenth for a four, and canned a 40-foot putt on the fourteenth for a birdie. On the seventeenth he rammed in a 30-footer for a birdie two, and holed out a chip shot for a birdie three from the edge of the eighteenth green. His 34 was topped only by Don Moe's 33.

It was a great battle against par, the man who won his first national amateur crown in 1914 waged. Ouimet played perfect golf on eight of the first nine holes, a 6 on the eighth where he was trapped causing him to go 2 over for a 37. Then he started back with a brace of 5s, banged in a birdie on the twelfth and shot the remainder of the journey in true par fashion. He missed a short putt for a birdie on the fifteenth, exploded beautifully from a trap on the eighteenth and ran down his putt for a 4.

Three former champions failed to make the grade. The 1923 titleholder, Jesse Sweetser, passed out with 154 after duplicating his 77 of the first day. Harrison R. (Jimmy) Johnston, victor in 1929, had 155, and Max R. Marston, who beat out Sweetser for the crown in 1923, fell by the wayside with 157.

Five Walker Cup Stars Fail.

So tricky were the greens and so tough the traps that only six of the eleven American Walker Cup players survived the crisis. Jack Westland, of Chicago, 1931 finalist, with 71—75—146; Charles Seaver, youthful star from Los Angeles, who blasted out a 72 today for 147; George Voigt, of New York, with 72—76—148; Maurice McCarthy, former Georgetown University ace, with 77—73—150; Gus Moreland, of Texas, recent Western amateur victor, with 76—73—149, joined their leader, Ouimet, in match play.

The five Walker Cup stars who saw the strong hand of Old Man Par reach out and victimize them were George Dunlap, of Garden City, N. Y., who was one stroke out of the battle; Billy, Howell, 1931 semifinalist, from Richmond, Va., who recorded a 161; Don Moe, of Oregon, with 157; Harrison Johnston and Jesse Sweetser.

H. Chandler Egan, the California veteran, finished with 77, 73—150. Charles ("Chick") Evans, of Chicago, wound up with 149 after shooting a 75. Jesse Guilford, of Massachusetts, soaring for a 77 after a 74 the initial round, squeezed into the qualifying list. Each is a former national amateur champion.

McRunie Is Lone Briton to Qualify.

The British Lion was tame today. Eric McRuvie, of the Leven Golf Club, Scotland, saved the invaders from complete rout by playing subpar golf on the first nine and coming home in 38 for a 72 to finish with 151. Tony Torrence, British Walker Cup star, blew up with 157. Cyril Tolley skyrocketed to 84 for 158, and Johnny De Forrest, British amateur champion, passed out with 160.

W. C. Chapin, of Rochester, N. Y., shot the best round of the day, a 35—36, to qualify with 147.

The District of Columbia tonight had hopes of having a qualifier in the person of Johnny Brawner, of the Congressional Club, who dropped in birdies on the seventeenth and eighteenth to finish 73 for 152. Tomorrow morning via the elimination hole process he will play off with William Turnesa, of Elmsford, N. Y., for the thirty-second position. Turnesa shot a 74—78.

Johnny Fischer tonight was the big talk of the tournament. Johnny, who plays his shots in a businesslike manner, ran through the first nine with eight straight pars until he found a trap and overran the cup to take a 4 on the short ninth. Out in 36, he came back 4—4—4 until a trap and two putts cost him a 4 on the 141-yard fourteenth. He rammed in a 10-footer for a birdie 4 on the fourteenth, missed his putt on the fifteenth for a 5, parred the sixteenth after being short to the green with his second and was on the side of the trap near the seventeenth green and missed his putt for a 4.

Misses 2-Foot Putt And New Record.

The home hole furnished the real drama. Here the largest gallery of the day collected along the side lines prepared to watch the college sensation birdie the hole and establish a new medal record. Johnny's drive was good for 290 yards. He approached to within 8 feet of the cup, and as a death-like silence swept over the crowd, Fischer putted calmly, the ball started straight for the cup and curved to the left, missing the hole by inches.

Match play starts tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock.

D. C. Police Shut Out By Pilot Nine, 3 to 0

The Washington Pilots defeated the Police Nine at Griffith Stadium last night in the second of a three-game series, 3-0. The Police threatened in the eighth and ninth, but were unable to produce the punch with which to count.

Pennant Talk Frowned on By Grimm

Gives Credit to Team for Late Season Drive to Flag.

By EDWARD J. NEIL.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13 (A.P.).—The conviction is growing on Charlie Grimm that his Chicago Cubs are about to get themselves into a world series with the New York Yankees.

Officially he won't admit it yet.

"Gosh, don't talk like that," he begs when it's taken for granted that the Cubs, leading the Pirates by several games, are making plans, devising complicated strategic maneuvers to circumvent fellows like Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig, and in general visioning the glory and gold and stirring conflict that come with world series play.

Is Getting Dope on Yankees.

He can't hold out forever. He expects the Cubs will stave off the Pirates. He's getting all the dope he can on the Yankees from former American League ball players. He's working his pitchers with a calculating eye. Down deep in his heart there's not much in question.

"When I started to manage this club," he said, going back over the months to the day he succeeded Rogers Hornsby and launched the upward drive that today is close to the pennant goal, "I told the fellows it was their team as much as mine. If they fall out there they're hurting themselves more than any one else. If they come through, the rewards are theirs.

"Well, you see how it has worked out. We're playing great ball and the spirit of the team is marvelous. They're hot and we'll give those Yanks plenty of trouble."

Incidentally, Grimm has never seen the Yankees play, except in exhibition games. He doesn't go in heavily for scouting, nor does he place much faith in weaknesses of major league ball players as explained to him by others.

"We got up a lot of dope on the Athletics in 1929," he said, "and look what happened. It took just one game to show us that everything they'd told us about the A's was exactly opposite. We never did get untangled."

Lack of Southpaw Not Worrying Grimm.

"When a pitcher is right," he insisted, "it doesn't matter which side he's throwing from. Burleigh Grimes threw at them from the right side last year and Bill Hallahan from the left for the Cardinals. It made no difference. The A's didn't hit either one of them."

Grimm is banking heavily on Lon Warneke, his sensational young right-hander; Charley Root, Pat Malone and Guy Bush, the lanky Southerner who pitched the only winning game for the Cubs in the A's 1929 conquest. Embattled Burleigh Grimes will be in there, perhaps finishing games if he's needed, perhaps starting one. But Charlie, talking like this against his better judgment, isn't challenging the fates to the point of discussing his starting pitchers for the series.

"Whoa," he says, squinting out of the dugout. "Don't forget we've got four games with the Pirates."

Yankees Win 7th Pennant With 9-3 Defeat of Tribe

McCarthy Only Pilot to Gain Flag in Both Leagues.

JOE McCARTHY.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 13 (A.P.).—The New York Yankees reached the end of their long march toward the 1932 American League championship today when they defeated the Indians, 9 to 3, to make their triumph a mathematical certainty.

The victory gave the Yankees a record of 100 games won and only 43 lost so far this season while neither the second-place Philadelphia Athletics, who were idle today, nor the third-place Washington team can win more than 99 games if they take all their remaining contests.

Yankees' Victory Long Conceded.

For some time the Yankee victory had been conceded as they piled up a lead that frequently was above twelve games. They took the lead early in the season and marched steadily through the campaign, increasing their margin almost without a serious setback.

Some steady pitching by George Pipgras, who allowed only eight hits, and a sixteen-hit assault on Clint Brown and Sarge Connally brought the final victory today. The Yanks clinched the game in the sixth inning when they drove Brown from the hill with a five-hit attack that netted four runs.

The 1932 triumph makes the

ROSENBLOOM AT LAUREL TONIGHT

Faces Hardest Local Test in Bout With Natie Brown.

NATIE BROWN, confident young slugger, gets his big chance to prove that he is as good as he says he is tonight at the Laurel Arena when he is pitted against one of the master boxers of his day, light-heavyweight champion, Maxie Rosenbloom.

Brown has some good fights under his belt. A draw with Max Baer, several years ago, and victories over Leo Lomski, Tony Galento and another draw with Billy Jones, are part of his record. Around Washington he has beaten Martie Gallagher, Reds Barry and Herman Weiner.

Brown Boasts Both Skill and Punch.

Rosenbloom will find more leather in his face tonight than upon his two former appearances at the emporium of Promoter Cornell. Against Godwin and Barry, Rosenbloom met two men who are fundamentally boxers. Brown combines a measure of boxing skill with outright slugging.

According to word received from Rosenbloom's voluble manager, Frank Bachman, Rosenbloom is at his best against a slugger. Bachman promises that his famous meal ticket will do no sidestepping and the end of the fight will find him carrying the battle to Brown. They are scheduled to go ten rounds.

Promoter Cornell has waived the admission fee for women accompanied by escorts.

Nats Buy Phelps From Youngstown

Catcher Gordon Phelps, former Bowie sandlotter, has been hitting so hard and often with the Youngstown Club, of the Central League, that President Clark Griffith yesterday bought him for the Nationals.

All Phelps did during the season just closed was to lead the league in batting, with a .379 average; to top it in runs scored, with 118; in hits, with 189; in total bases, with 321; in doubles, with 47; and in homers, with 25.

"Naturally," said Griffith, "I just had to go after this fellow and take a look at him at our training camp next spring."

Western Handicapped By Lack of Grid Talent

Handicapped by a lack of material, Coach Dan Ahern has a real task on his hands in putting a winning team on the field for Western this season. Both ends, several back field men, a regular guard and a tackle were lost through graduation and plugging the gaps left vacant is going to be difficult.

Ahern has a quartet of dependable ball carriers in Hilleary, Lynham, Keehan and Reynolds, but aside from this group little back field material is at hand. Of the linemen, Wynn, center; Huff and Gamage, tackles, and Nye, a guard, have shown the most promise, but all seven positions in the line are wide open, according to the coach.

Western opens its season September 30, in a game with St. Albans.

CUBS DIVIDE PAIR WITH GIANTS

Warneke Bows in 11 Innings, 3-2, After 3-to-1 Victory.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13 (A.P.).—The league-leading Chicago Cubs got only an even break with the Giants in today's double-header, but they improved their position by a half game as Pittsburgh lost a single contest to Boston. The Cubs won the opener 3 to 1, but lost the eleven-inning nightcap, 3 to 2.

Young Hal Schumacher shaded the brilliant Lonnie Warneke in the long second duel to give the Chicago ace his sixth defeat in 27 decisions this season.

Gervez' Double Is Decisive.

The winning run came after one was out in the eleventh. Gilbert English hit a single and John Gervez brought him home with a two bagger.

The opener also was a pitching duel but two Chicago homers and Charley Root's four hit hurling was a bit too much for the Giants and Herman Bell.

SILENT SHOT WINS AT LINCOLN FIELDS IN ROUSING FINISH

11-1 Shot Up To Triumph By Neck

North Mill Is Beaten in Duel Down the Home Stretch

Esseff, Odds-on Favorite, Gets no Better Than Third.

LINCOLD FIELDS, Ill., Sept. 13 A.P.).—Coming from far back, J. E. Hughes' Silent Shot fought his way to a neck victory over North Mill in the Manos Purse, a 5½ furlong test for 2-year-olds today at Lincoln Fields.

Isaiah and Absolution cut out the early pace, but faded and North Mill went into the lead and held it into the stretch, where Charley Corbett made his bid with Silent Shot. They battled it out all the way past the judges' stand, with Silent Shot winning by a neck. Esseff, the odds-on favorite, finished third.

Almost ignored in the betting, Silent Shot paid $21.36 straight, $10.80 to place, and $3.26 to show. The time over a heavy track was 1:09.

Barn Swallow Again Beats Iseult at Belmont.

Belmont Park Race Track, Sept. 13 (A.P.).—E. R. Bradley's Barn Swallow, which scored a driving victory over the Wheatley Stable's Iseult in the Matron Stakes here a few days ago, repeated that feat today when she led her rival home by a length in the Tom Boy Handicap, a dash of 5½ furlongs which headed the program. On the former occasion Mills claimed that Jones, on the winner, had grabbed his saddle cloth late in the race. The only complaint Mills could have today was that his mount was slow to get into her stride.

The Greentree Stable's St. Brideaux finished first in the fourth race, but was set back for fouling Mad Frump all through the stretch. The official placing was: Mad Frump, first; Pari Mutuel, second, and Valenciennes third. St. Brideaux cut out the early running, but around the turn Mad Frump moved up to win and appeared as if he could have gone to the lead. However, Coucci, on St. Brideaux, carried Mad Frump out and in the final furlong kept swinging his whip in front of Mad Frump, for which he was set back.

JOE AND ASBESTOS

(Watch Sunday's Post for New Secret Code)

—By Ken Kling

Yesterday's horse was scratched due to the mud. Today Asbestos wants to plunge on one that was scratched eight times awaiting mud, but he won't risk the dough, so Joe is doing his betting. The bank rolls remain, Asbestos, $24.68; Joe, $133.47

Joe bets $5 first and $5 third Seths Ballot at Lincoln Fields.

AT THE POST

with Bill Bennings

DEAR AL: LINCOLN FIELDS, CHICAGO, SEPTEMBER 13.

Mud and scratches played havoc with the card today. It is cloudy here tonight and we may have more rain.

No way to figure whose turn it is to win. The safest way seems to be to dodge the horses that seemingly stand out. "Cinches" have a hard time winning.

They have been trying for a month of Sundays to put old SETH'S BALLOT over. Scratched eight straight times, he may at least start tomorrow. He eats mud. Good luck, BILL.

FIRST RACE—Well, they are tired of trying to make these maiden 2-year-olds run 6 furlongs. The opener is 5½ for a change. CYNARA has the rail and should win. ALMA S. and STATELY LADY for the balance.

SECOND RACE—TADCASTER loves the mud and should lead SIS AGNES and PANCHIO. It is a wide open race.

THIRD RACE—Wouldn't give a thin dime for BIANOZ, but if he is ever to go 6 furlongs, tomorrow seems to be the day. SWEEPMORE and OLD JUDGE are the contenders.

FOURTH RACE—UNCLE MATT, ST. JIM and PETABIT may be the best of a bad lot.

FIFTH RACE—There's a six-horse race any one of which could win without a form reversal. I like WHIPPERCRACKER and JUDGE LEUDERS, with BATTY to show.

SIXTH RACE — MADELON and BLACK PATRICIA should fight it out. DIXIE LAD may spill the beans.

SEVENTH RACE—BRIGHT KNOT, CLASBY'S CHOICE and DAD MEINERS seem to have as good a chance as any.

EIGHTH RACE—Every one and his brother will be down on SETH'S BALLOT and if the load is not too great he may get home. QUIBBLER and TOMMY TICKLE both love the mud and RIFF RAFF is not out of the picture by any means.

MARYLAND U. TURNS TO SPEED

Shiftiness, Craft to Make Up for Lack of Heft, Power.

A CHANGE in the general system of Maryland's football technique, with more emphasis paid to shiftiness and deceptive maneuvering and passing behind the line of scrimmage, probably will be in order this year.

Curley Byrd, veteran coach of the Old Liners, sent the squad through a long afternoon of new plays yesterday, with a view to making up a shiftier, speedier and more crafty team than the great 1931 machine, which had the weight, power and leg drive to send constant streams of power plays against the enemy.

The 1932 team will be the lightest team to represent Maryland in twenty years. Its line is not expected to weigh over 180 and its backfield, best exemplified by the whippet-like Earl Widmyer, probably will be close around 165 per man.

Fake forwards, changing to laterals, and vice versa triple passes—even the venerable old "Statute of Liberty" play—probably will be part and parcel of the Maryland offense this year, whose light backs are faced with a line which will have to improve in cleverness and even weight to be able to withstand some of the opposing lines which the Terps will find against them this season.

Robinsons Winners In Independent Series

Squelching a determined rally by its opponent in the last inning, the Robinson A. C. yesterday won a 3-2 victory over the International Brotherhood of Bookbinders nine in the second game of the Independent League championship series. The two battled to a 5-5 tie in the inaugural tilt.

Yesterday's game went only four and a half innings, but it was a real battle while it lasted. The eventual winners scored two runs in the first inning, errors aiding, and added the winning marker in the last half of the fourth.

Dumford, Bookbinder moundsman, held the winners to two hits while the losers collected five off C. Wahler. The third game will be played Friday at 5 p. m. on the South Ellipse.

CUP REGATTA FUNDS ARE RAISED

Bicentennial Body Gives $500; Will Sponsor Event.

THE last impediment in the way of a successful President's Cup regatta was removed yesterday when the District Bicentennial Commission announced sponsorship of the famous motor boat racing event, and what is infinitely more important, advanced $500 toward the regatta fund.

The transfer of funds from the Bicentennial treasury to the regatta fund, arranged by Dr. George C. Havenner, executive vice president of the District Commission, brought the regatta funds to $1,500, virtually enough to present the annual speedboat classic in a manner in keeping with the precedent set in past years.

Plans went forward rapidly yesterday as the financial success of the regatta became assured. Final arrangements for the shipping and housing of the famous Gold Cup racing boats was made and the expensive craft are expected late today or tomorrow.

Scientific Course Planned.

The regatta will be held Friday and Saturday over a course marked off in the Georgetown Channel adjoining the western side of the Speedway. It will be one of the most scientifically laid out water courses ever seen here, with gradually rounded turns, which will enable the boats to take the corners at full speed.

Scores of outboard motor boats and other racing craft will compete in the regatta and lend a fine setting to the big event of the boat conclave—the race for the President's Cup, placed in competition by President Coolidge.

Columbia Jr. Golf Title to B. Shannon

Medalist Beats Garrett in First Flight Final by 3 and 2.

Billy Shannon, the medalist, yesterday added to his honors in the Columbia Country Club's junior championship tournament when he defeated Wilbur Garrett, 3 and 2, in the final round of the first eight. F. C. Watkins won the second flight, with the third going to Karl Corby, jr.

All of the matches were close, with the best of the day coming in the third flight semifinal between Corby and Sam Miller. The latter was 3 up and 4 to go when Corby suddenly rallied, squared the match on the home hole, and then took the extra one.

Summaries:

Battle Promised Londos Tomorrow

Garibaldi Figures to Extend Mat Champion to the Limit.

The most ambitious mat card of the year will be staged tomorrow night at Griffith Stadium when Jim Londos, generally looked upon as champion of the industry, meets Gino Garibaldi for what the management is pleased to call the world's championship.

Garibaldi marks by far the severest test Londos has had here. Admittedly a better wrestler than Rudy Dusek, who waged three prosperous bouts with Londos last year. Garibaldi has built himself up to the match with the Greek titleholder by victories over Jim McMillen, Rudy Dusek, Fred Grobmeier, George Zaharias, Pat O'Shocker and Frank Brunowicz.

It will be Londos' first appearance here in months. Others on the bill are Rudy Dusek vs. Herman Hickman, Dick Stahl vs Pat O'Shocker, Fred Grobmeier vs. Milo Steinborn, and Son Jennings meets Nino Dinaldi.

AMERICAN U. GRID HOPES ARE HIGH

13 Lettermen, Several Other Good Prospects on Hand.

UNABLE to score one victory on the gridiron last season, American University opens its 1932 warming up season today when Coach Walter Young assembles the advance guard and dispenses uniforms and preliminary instruction.

Actual practicing will not start until tomorrow, with the prospects of an infinitely more successful season than was the school's football fate in 1931. By Saturday, it is expected that a squad of 35 will be on hand, one of the largest in recent A. U. grid history. In the squad will be thirteen lettermen from last season and five men who saw considerable service but did not earn insignias.

Thirteen Lettermen Return.

The returning lettermen are Ed Parke, Wayne Larsen, and Al Buffington, ends; George Borsari, Chester Bowers, Phil Chates, Scott Crampton and Lionel Dick, backs; Lee Coper and Harlan Hendrick, guards; Scott Crampton and Harry Weeks, tackles, and John Mohr and Al Johnson, centers.

Most interesting of the newcomers is expected to be Oscar Sells, A. U.'s first-class basket ball center, who, though over 6 feet tall and very sturdy, has never played football. Another interesting newcomer is expected to be Milton Folston, 300-pound lineman.

The team will play six games, Hampden-Sidney, Bridgewater, Bluefield, Shepherd, Gallaudet and Randolph-Macon.

BOWLERS MEET AT HALL.

Numerous bowling leagues will meet at Convention Hall this week. The Sanico Bakers are to discuss plans tonight at 8 o'clock; Thursday, the Daylight League convenes at 2 o'clock, and on Saturday the Saturday Night loop will gather at 8 o'clock. Two franchises are open in the last named. A meeting of the Commercial League also will be held at the hall the latter part of the week.

Shortage of Backs Handicaps Gonzaga

Gonzaga's perspiring grid warriors indulged in a light scrimmage on the Tidal Basin field yesterday. The squad is in good physical condition and Coach Orrel Mitchell is bringing it along slowly to prevent injuries.

Mitchell was heartened by the work of Larry Moore and Jack Connors, ends, whom he is counting on to fill the shoes of Tom Nolan and Eddie Benjamin, regular occupants of the wing positions last season. Moore, a rangy 165-pounder, showed especially well in defensive work.

A dearth of back-field material has Bill Carr alternating between center, his regular position, and the back field. Carr, although bothered with an ailing leg, fits in nicely with Mitchell's offensive plans and may start as a ball carrier.

The Purple open the season with Eastern, October 7. One week later Roosevelt will be met.

MISS KEYSER WINS NET UPSET

Defeats Miss Moore in Wardman Play; Hunt Beaten.

SURPRISES continued to hold the center of the stage at Wardman Park Hotel yesterday as play advanced into the quarter and semifinal rounds of the annual invitation tennis tournament.

A rousing upset was scored in the women's singles when Peggy Keyser ousted Sara Moore from the draw in straight sets, 6—4, 6—2. Miss Keyser, who was hailed as a promising netwoman several years back but lately has not gained much notice, turned in a fine exhibition of tennis to defeat the girl who was runner-up in both the District and the public parks tournaments this year.

Dooly Mitchell, top seeded netman in the list, won sensationally yesterday, blasting Gilbert Hunt, rated the best young prospect here, off the courts by the runaway scores of 6—1, 6—0. Mitchell was unstoppable, pouncing on Hunt's short drives and stowing them away for points at express train speed.

Rickey Willis, who put out Billy Jacobs in the first round, made good yesterday in two matches, beating Youngson Yen, crafty Chinese player, in three sets, and then beating Lieut. Roy Graham, Navy Leech Cup player, without trouble.

For real competition, the palm was jointly presented to Anthony Latona, who put out Barney Welsh in a socking three-set match (in which Welsh won one more game than Latona, 6—4, 1—6, 6—4), and to Upshur Moorhead, dark horse of the lower half of the draw, who ousted Gene Hermann, 6—8, 6—3, 7—5.

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS.

MEN'S SINGLES.

Second round—Rickey Willis defeated Youngson Yen, 6—4, 3—6, 6—2.

43 EPISCOPAL GRIDDERS REPORT

Team Preps for Oct. 1st Opener With Eastern High.

Special to The Washington Post.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Sept. 13.—Forty-three players have reported to the football coaches at Episcopal High School for positions on the varsity eleven. The squad for the past week has held daily drills on Hoxton Field and will be in good condition for the opening game with Eastern High, of Washington, on October 1.

Bick Cardwell, erstwhile football captain at the University of Virginia, who has been coach at Episcopal for several seasons, again will direct the Cherry and Black. He will be assisted by Gus Kaminer, former University of Virginia back, and John McConnell, star at Davidson last year.

McConnell Succeeds Lawson.

The latter succeeds Bob Lawson as coach of ends and centers, as Lawson has entered the Virginia Law School this fall.

Seven lettermtn have returned from the 1931 team. They are Dubie Brookings, half back; Billy Gooch, quarter back; Cotton Wiley, Don Fitzhugh and Weir Tucker, ends; Springs Sands and Conway Moncure, guards. A number of last year's reserve men have also returned for the campaign.

Johnny Janney, all-District guard with the championship Alexandria High School team in 1931, is also a candidate. Janney is very fast and has the support of the local populace. He is expected to make a valuable addition to the Episcopal eleven.

Nine Games Listed This Season.

The Episcopal schedule is the same this year as it was last season with the exception that Staunton is being played instead of Fishburn.

The schedule follows:

September 24, Eastern, of Washington. October 4, Technical, of Washington; 8, Augusta M. A. away; 15, Staunton M. A.; 22, Swavely, of Manassas; 29, Gilman, of Baltimore, away.

November 5, Virginia Episcopal School; 12, Shenandoah Valley Academy; 19, Woodberry Forest School.

35 Huskies Report For St. John's Grid

Dunn, New Coach, Pleased With Heft, Willingness of Charges.

Thirty-five huskies reported to Coach Jack Dunn for the first football practice of the season at St. John's yesterday and were put through a light workout consisting of calisthenics, kicking and passing the ball. The squad represents one of the largest turnouts for football ever known at the Vermont avenue institution.

Coach Dunn was highly enthused over his prospects for a winning team his first year in this city. The heft and willingness of the lads visibly impressed him and dispelled any gloomy forebodings he may have entertained regarding the impending campaign.

A heartening note was the size of the candidates. Led by Capt. "Turk" Daly, the forward wall is expected to be one of the largest in schoolboy ranks.

Dunn intimated that he will lose no time in getting the boys down to hard work in preparation for the opening game October 7 with Central. The Cadets are anticipating their first victory over the Mount Pleasant eleven in several years.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

AN Englisman, James Brooke, greatuncle of the present Rajah of Sarawak, was first holder of that title in 1841, when he was ceded Sarawak by the Rajah of Brunei for having helped him in putting down a rebellion. Sarawak was formerly a part of Brunei, in Borneo. His right to the throne was recognized in 1842 by the sultan.

The original rajah was succeeded by his nephew in 1868 and he, in turn, was followed by Sir Charles, present rajah and son of the second ruler. England established a protectorate over Sarawak in 1888 and in 1904 King Edward recognized Sir Charles' title.

The black snake's eggs, laid in a damp place, absorb moisture during incubation. As the young snake develops, the egg increases in size until, just before the young emerges, it is about one-third greater in diameter. The leathery covering of the egg, rather than a shell, permits this expansion.

Cloudburst is a misnomer for a sudden, heavy rain. The cloud does not burst, or even suddenly open up; the phenomenon is caused by wind. When such a rain occurs, it has been raining for some time, but an ascending column of air has prevented the drops from falling to the ground. When the collected rain overcomes the upward movement of the air all the water falls at once, resulting in what we call a cloudburst.

WEATHER OBSERVER SEES INDICATION OF MODERATE WINTER

Mildness Is Likely Unless Mercury Takes Unprecedented Sharp Drop.

The heavy overcoats will need little service this winter unless there is an unprecedentedly sharp drop in the temperature, but, all things considered, there is another moderate winter in store. Take this from the weather man.

Joseph M. Kinger, chief of the agricultural meteorology division of the Weather Bureau, said this is the normal expectancy, as a result of the upward swing of the thermometer beginning in 1926.

The chart in the Weather Bureau, where the behavior of the elements is recorded like a physician's report on a patient, shows that weather moves in cycles of a few cold years and then a few warm years.

Mildness Is Indicated.

In the past, a change from one cycle to another has come gradually and while Mr. Kinger does not definitely forecast a mild winter, he said indications point that way, since there is no evidence yet that a change to abnormal temperatures has begun.

Since 1926 the abnormally mild winters have been dominant. The upward trend really began after the bitter winter of 1918, he said.

"All year," he said, "there have been abnormally high temperatures. Although the heat has been blistering, crop damage throughout the country has been at a minimum. Precipitation was fairly well distributed, with sufficient for the need of vegetation in most places."

Suffering From Drought.

One of the sections suffering principally from lack of moisture was that on the Atlantic Coast between New York and North Carolina, with the Eastern seaboard suffering a drought almost as severe as that of 1930.

"However, in 1930 the dry summer followed a winter and spring of subnormal precipitation and the creeks and underground streams were drying up early in the summer. Good spring rains this year have offset the lack of summer precipitation and kept damage lower," Mr. Kinger said.

Man Held in Attempt To Attack Girl of 8

Lealand York, 54, of 904 K street northwest, was arrested by First Precinct police last night and charged with investigation in connection with an attempted criminal assault upon an 8-year-old girl.

The child was taken to Emergency Hospital where her condition was said to be undetermined. She was later transferred to Gallinger Hospital for further treatment and observation.

BOY, RIDING BICYCLE CRITICALLY INJURED

Motorist Is Arrested After Conduit Road Collision; Bus Is Involved.

Critically injured when struck by an automobile and knocked from the bicycle he was riding on Conduit road near Macomb street northwest, late yesterday, Arthur Latterner, 18 years old, of 3828 Garfield street northwest, was taken to Georgetown Hospital in an unconscious condition.

Police said the youth was struck by the machine of Charles L. Milholland, 36 years old, of Glen Echo, Md. Latterner suffered concussion of the brain, a possibly fractured skull, possible fractures of the right elbow and severe lacerations to both arms and left hand. His condition is serious.

According to police, Milholland attempted to pass a bus on Conduit road, and his machine careened into the boy's bicycle. Latterner was thrown several feet.

Milholland was charged with reckless driving.

Mansfield Is Promoted To Captaincy of Police

Promotion of Lieut. Richard H. Mansfield to captain of police was approved yesterday by the District Commissioners. The promotion was recommended in a report submitted by Inspector L. I. H. Edwards, assistant superintendent of police. It fills the vacancy created by the retirement of Capt. Michael L. Raedy some time ago. It was necessary to get the approval of the President for filling the vacancy because of the economy law.

Detective Sergt. Benjamin C. Kuehling was promoted to lieutenant, filling the place of Lieut. Mansfield and Private John J. Ronayne, was elevated to sergeant.

Speeding Bridegroom Must Pay Bride $10

Arrested by Policeman R. V. Sinclair for speeding, Bert E. Stone yesterday "won and lost" his case in Police Court when he was brought before Judge Isaac R. Hitt.

Stone explained that he was going to get married when he was stopped. The judge then ordered his fine remitted but directed Stone to give his bride the $10.

Arm Almost Lost In Fall on Steps

J. S. Reiff's Plunge Ends in Crashing Through Window Glass.

The right arm of Joseph S. Reiff, 59, was almost severed last night by glass in a cellar window through which he crashed after plunging down a flight of steps in the rear of his home, 2227 Hall place northwest.

Reiff was standing on his back porch and lost his balance as he tossed a cigarette over the railing. Lurching down the steps, Reiff fell and his arm went through the window.

He was taken to Georgetown Hospital, where it was found the arm was badly lacerated. His condition is undetermined.

Mother of 2 Held as Car Yields Rum

Driving an automobile in which she had her two small children, Mrs. Rose Marie Brown was arrested yesterday on the Washington boulevard, near Laurel, by Prohibition Agent Lee A. Montgomery.

Montgomery reported later that he found twenty 5-gallon cans of rye whisky in Mrs. Brown's car. He had been advised, he said, to watch for the machine and stop it when it reached Laurel.

Mrs. Brown, who is 25 years old, gave her address as 1445 Park road northwest. The agent quoted her as saying she was carrying liquor to support her children, one 8 years old and the other a year old. Her husband is in jail, she is said to have told the agent.

When Montgomery stopped the machine he found himself presented with the problem of what to do with the children. Finally he stopped a bus going to Washington and told the driver to take the children into the Capital and then to send them to the home of a relative in a taxicab.

After putting the children on the bus, Montgomery took Mrs. Brown to the southern police station, Baltimore, where she was charged with transportation and possession of liquor and released under bail of $1,000.

NATIONAL ANTHEM'S BIRTHDAY IS TODAY

These words and the ensuing stirring lines were written by Francis Scott Key on the dawn of this day 118 years ago, after he had watched the bombardment of Fort McHenry by the British.

A prisoner on a British ship, Key was inspired to pen the immortal lines when he saw the American flag unfurled above the desolation left by the attack.

All American citizens today are asked by the United States Flag Association to display American flags in homes and places of business. "The Star-Spangled Banner," reminder is made, was made the national anthem by Congress last year.

Col. James A. Moss, president general of the United States Flag Association, in a statement yesterday observed that the American flag symbolizes "the spirit necessary to encourage one to meet the present with confidence and determination and face the future with faith and courage."

Former Caterer Files Petition in Bankruptcy

Graham H. Budd, formerly engaged in catering business at 1781 Columbia road northwest, with his sister Maude H. Budd, yesterday filed a petition in voluntary bankruptcy in District Supreme Court.

He listed debts of $16,341.80 and assets of $7,100. Part of the debts are jointly owed, he said, by his sister.

New Quarters for Larger Birds at Zoo Completed

New homes for the cranes, pheasants, ostriches and birds of prey, and a large flight cage for the eagles are the latest developments recently completed at the National Zoological Park for the benefit of both public and inmates, it was learned yesterday.

However, Dr. William M. Mann, director of the park, said that the birds will not be placed in their new cages until next Tuesday. He said that work on the new constructions has been rushed through in order to have everything ready in time for the visit of the delegates to the Bicentennial Conference on Planning, Parks and Government, meeting next week, beginning Sunday.

Managing directors of America's largest zoological parks, who are attending the conference, will make an inspection tour of the Zoo next Wednesday afternoon, the day after the birds enter their new homes.

Dr. Mann said that the new flight cage for the eagles, which is located at the entrance to the bird house, is the largest and finest in America. It is 80 feet long and 40 feet high, with a width of 40 feet.

$1,061,000 U.S. WORK SET IN NEARBY AREA

Virginia and Maryland Projects Included in Total of $41,577,260 Slated.

War Department approval yesterday was given to expenditure of $41,577,260 on flood control and rivers and harbors projects in speeding up the Governments unemployment relief program.

Twenty-five thousand persons are expected to receive work as a result of the new construction activity. Only two projects in nearby States, one in Maryland and one in Virginia, were approved by the War Department. These were:

Expenditure of $600,000 for work in the James River, Virginia, and expenditure of $461,000 in the Baltimore channel and harbor.

Army engineers expect no impediments to hamper the program. Some projects have already been commenced and plans are being drawn up for the remainder.

An expenditure of $15,164,000 for Army housing construction is also expected to be released soon, it was indicated, with the probability of providing 10,000 jobless persons with work.

Bolling Field, $274,000; Walter Reed, $420,000; Fort Myer, $100,000; Fort Humphreys, $150,000; Fort George Meade, $210,000; Holabird Quartermaster Depot, Baltimore, $120,000; Fort Howard, near Baltimore, $150,000.

All of the money allotted is part of $322,000,000 authorized in the Garner-Wagner relief act passed in the closing days of the last session of Congress. President Hoover recently announced that $200,000,000 of the money was now available for the unemployment relief program.

DIVORCE CONSIDERED BY 50 U.S. WORKERS TO HOLD THEIR JOBS

National Woman's Party Is Told of Drastic Plans in Economy Act.

More than 50 Government workers have vouchsafed their consideration of severing their marriage bonds if their jobs in the Federal service are threatened under the provisions of the economy act, the National Woman's Party announced yesterday.

This statement came in the wake of the recent Civil Service Commission ruling that married couples in the Government service could not evade provisions of the economy act by maintaining separate residences.

Dates to Be Important.

It was declared at the commission that in appointments or dismissals involving this factor on which the commission might have to rule, the date and circumstaances of divorces or legal separations would probably be taken into account.

Miss Ruth Taunton, secretary of the National Woman's Party, said most of the couples who signify their consideration of divorce or legal separation actions are young.

"The National Woman's Party," said Miss Taunton, "is interested because we feel the law is striking primarily at married women. For instance, there were three men who came in from the Navy Yard. They said they were mechanics and expected to be discharged."

Engagements Broken.

Another man who came to the Woman's Party offices, said Miss Taunton, was a policeman who said he expected to be discharged because his wife also was in the Government service. Several of the men interviewed declared that the choice between the wife and the husband leaving Government service would be in favor of the female side of the twain, because the male would have a better chance of obtaining employment.

"There have been cases," continued Miss Taunton, "where girls said they would have to break their engagements because of the economy act. Also others who would have to give up their homes if either wage earner is discharged."

In recent months, it was learned at the courthouse yesterday, there has been no increase in divorce actions, but rather a tendency toward decrease.

Another handicap for couples who would seek divorce to solve their employment problems was assigned in court circles as the difficulties surrounding getting a divorce in the District. Absolute divorces are obtained only on proof of misconduct; limited divorces for drunkenness, desertion and cruelty.

Nut Growers Visit Federal Orchards

Behavior of Northern Varieties Subject of Discussion at Convention.

Delegates to the Northern Nut Growers' twenty-third annual convention now in session here spent yesterday morning visiting nearby nut orchards.

The convention party motored to Arlington Farms, Arlington, Va.; to the two Government plantations of chestnut and pecan trees at Bell, Md.; to the Government orchard at Beltsville, and to the pecan and black walnut orchards of T. P. Littlepage, Washington attorney.

"The Behavior of Northern Varieties in the Ithaca Region," was the subject of a talk at last night's meeting by Prof. L. H. MacDaniels, of Cornell University.

Caged Lion Is Lost in Park, But Found Again After Hunt

Truck Stalls and Driver Goes to Get Help, But Forgets Its Exact Location, Causing Search; The Post Entertains Kiddies.

A caged lion was lost in the mazes of Rock Creek Park yesterday while scores traversed the winding roads of the sylvan retreat in quest of the missing king of the jungle.

Big Bob, a valuable beast of the Hunt Three-Ring Circus, playing a week's stand here, was being conveyed in his cage aboard a truck from Wisconsin avenue and Yuma street northwest, Monday night's location, to Georgia avenue and Underwood street northwest, last night's stand.

The route of the circus cavalcade led through the park. As it wended its way, the motor of the truck hauling Big Bob and his cage sputtered and died. Vance Kenter, clarinet player in the circus band and also driver of the lion cage truck, pulled to the side of the road.

On went the rest of the caravan. Kenter worked for several minutes with the motor and then saw it could not be started. He looked up from his labors and saw he had been left behind with Big Bob.

Kenter looked at Big Bob, who grunted restively. Kenter then looked at the truck, scratched his head and started to walk. He walked the several miles to the news stand and told of his plight an dthat of Big Bob.

Out started rescue parties. Kenter went with them. They arrived at the spot at which he thought he had left the truck and Big Bob. But no, it must have been some other place. Finally, after more than two hours of driving around and when a possibility loomed that police would be asked to join in the search, the searchers came upon the abandoned truck. Big Bob was fast asleep, fanned by the cooling breezes of the park.

It was only a few minutes before time for his "spot" in the side show that they finally got Big Bob back to the circus. Incidentally, Dr. William A. Mann, of the Washington Zoo, has visited the show and pronounced Big Bob the possessor of one of the most magnificent leonine heads he has seen in America.

Later, more than 100 children from the Jewish Foster Home and the St. John's Orphanage shrieked their appreciation as they sat in reserved seats at the circus which they attended as guests of The Post.

The children were transported to the show in buses furnished by the Kiwanis Club, which also provided peanuts for the kiddies.

This afternoon children of St. Vincent's Home and St. Joseph's Home and School will be guests of The Post at Hunt's Show, the Kiwanis Club again transporting and providing the children with peanuts.

Yesterday morning several hundred veteran patients at Walter Reed General Army Hospital enjoyed a full performance of the show on the hospital grounds.

Tomorrow, children of the German Orphan Asylum on Good Hope road southeast, will be guests of The Post when the show takes its stand at Massachusetts avenue and Eighteenth street southeast. The Rotary Club of Washington, has volunteered to provide buses to take the German orphans to the show and also provide them with peanuts.

Tomorrow, The Post will also act as host at the circus to a large number of Post carrier boys. Friday another group of carriers will be entertained when the circus goes to Wisconsin avenue and Thirty-fourth street northwest.

Woman Asks Court For Back Alimony

Mrs. Maud H. Phillips Is Complainant in Action on Trust Fund.

Mrs. Maud H. Phillips, 801 Aspen street northwest, yesterday asked the District Supreme Court to compel her former husband, William S. Phillips, real estate operator, to pay $50,000 into a trust fund established for her benefit under an agreement made in 1923 when she divorced Mr. Phillips in Reno, Nev.

Mrs. Phillips alleged that she was to be given $250 a month for life under the agreement. The payments were kept up until last June, she said, and when she did not receive her customary monthly payment she learned that Mr. Phillips had allegedly withdrawn certain securities he had deposited to provide the money and had substituted in their stead other securities.

She wants the court to compel him to restore the securities. Attorneys H. Winship Wheatley and H. Winship Wheatley, jr., represent Mrs. Phillips.

Miss Patterson Heads Poet's Council.

Myrtle R. Patterson, of 622 Lamont street northwest, well known in poetry circles of Washington, has been named chairman of the District poet's council of the National Women's Party. Miss Patterson has announced that meetings will be sponsored by the group from time to time to create an interest in the poet members and their work.

Homing Pigeon Finds Haven In Office of Aid to Hurley

An exhausted pigeon fluttered weakly into the office of the administrative assistant, to the Secretary of War yesterday, mustering just enough strength to fly to the ceiling, where it found a convenient perch.

With considerable effort the bird was finally dislodged from its resting place and captured. It bore two tags with identification numbers. The aid of the Signal Corps was solicited, and, after a survey of their records, they reported that the bird belonged to J. R. A. Becker, of 4811 Homer avenue, Baltimore. Becker is a member of the American Racing Pigeon Association.

As the pigeon is is of the homing type it was provided with a convenient resting place on a window sill, where it can take off on its homeward journey as soon as it musters enough strength.

DISTRICT FIRE LOSS DROPS TWO-THIRDS DURING FISCAL YEAR

Fires caused an estimated loss of $307,897 in the District in the last fiscal year, Fire Chief George S. Watson told the District Commissioners in his annual report made public yesterday. This was an extraordinary reduction in losses from the preceding year, when fires caused damage estimated at $1,029,931. The reduction in loss was $722,034 or more than twice the loss suffered in the last fiscal year.

The average loss per fire, Chief Watson reported, was $91.91, which was a decrease of $145.87 over the preceding year. The per capita loss was 63 cents.

"Both the loss per fire and the loss per capita are very low according to standards established by fire control authorities," Chief Watson said.

Commends Department.

"The extremely low fire loss during the fiscal year 1932 is particularly gratifying to the department. Prime factors in this achievement have been the high order of morale which has prevailed, the progress of education at the department's training school, and zealous work along fire prevention lines. I feel that the entire service is entitled to praise for the record which has been established."

There were 3,350 fires during the year. This was a decrease of 981 compared with 1931. There were eleven fires for which more than one alarm was sounded. There were 478 false alarms. Twenty-six alarms received from points outside the District were answered. There were 20 incendiary and 34 suspicious fires in the course of the year, the fire chief said, adding that "the fire prevention division, with the cooperation of the police department, performed exceptional service with regard to these cases."

Wide Variety of Alarm Causes.

An analysis of the fire losses showed that $251,955 was covered by insurance and $55,942 was not. Total insurance carried on buildings and contents damaged by fire was $61,010,149.

Alarms were sounded for almost everything else as well as for fires, the report shows. Causes of alarms included fights, sinking boats, suicide, attempted hanging, automobile accidents, flooded bathrooms, cave-ins, flooded cellars, a child in a coal pile, elevators stuck between floors, holdups, sleeping persons thought to be dead, persons locked in and out of buildings, falling trees, leaking gas, broken refrigerators, automobiles stalled, horses in creeks and ditches, as well as many others.

Veterinary Official Gets Another Term

Dr. Buckingham Is Named Examiner Again; Drop in Business Shown.

Reappointment of Dr. David E. Buckingham for another five-year term as a member of the board of examiners in veterinary medicine of the District was approved by the District Commissioners yesterday. The reappointment was recommended by the board in a report submitted by Dr. F. W. Grenfell, secretary.

The annual report submitted by the board affords a commentary on the development of the machine age. "There were two meetings held by the board during the fiscal year," the report said. "At the second meeting one applicant appeared for examination for license to practice veterinary medicine in the District. He passed the examination and a license was issued to him." The board is composed of Drs. John Mohler, president; John Pollard Turner, vice president, and Dr. Grenfell, secretary.

Dr. Grenfell is the District veterinarian. He reported that in the fiscal year only one horse and eight mules were bought for the District. The District owns 224 horses and mules and six herds of dairy cattle and about 1,200 hogs.
